Members of Price Library Association Held a Mock Trial-Personal News of Interest.

The mock trial given by the members of the Price Library association in their rooms on Friday evening was an excellent treat for the members and Park street is suffering a wound on to the many visitors, among whom his forehead sustained by falling on were many young ladies. The charge was the larceny of a squirrel. The prosecutor in the case was Frank Gendall; the defendant was Evan Davis; the presecuting attorney was John Richards, the defendant autorneys were Isaac Davis and John R. Thomas, Miss Lucy Robinson, of Wyoming the judge was Richard Gendall; the court crier was John W. Thomas: the clerk of the court was Oliver M. Williams; the tapstaff was Frank Decker. The trial lasted for fully one hour and a half and was stabbornly argued in which many interesting points were advanced. Much time was spent in cross-examination, in which the witnesses, who were numerous, caused much amusement. The case was afterwards placed in the hands of the jury, composed of the following gentlemen: F. W. Winslow, M. J. Mackin, J. J. Sullivan, James Scrivens, William A. Philips, John Powell Frank Lally, D. J. Harris Thomas Jones, T. A. Evans, John Evans and Thomas Woodworth. They returned with a verdict of guilty. The judge gave the sentence as follows. Here is a proof in a citizen's statement Mr. William Allen, rear of 521 Hyde Park avenue, employed by the Scranton Traction Co., as fireman, says: "It gives me great pleasure to speak a good word for Doan's Olntment in cases of itching and bleeding homorhoids, from which I suffered for several months. I tried one preparation after another; some were worthless and others benefited for a time, but I never got a permanent benefit until preparation after another; some were worthless and others benefited for a time, but I never got a permanent benefit until I got Doan's Olintment. It was recommended to me by one of the firemen at the works who has used it with the greatest success. I went to Matthews Bros', drug store and got a box, for I was anxious to get rid of it when it was so annoying, especially at night just as I was about to retire. The first application gave me relief and I continued the treatment for it for four or five days, I did not apply it so frequently, and from that time I have been completely free from that tormenting affliction. I also found it a good remedy for burns as a fireman is liable to get a slight burn every day. One or two applications of this olintment will relieve the pain and heal it up in a short time.

THEATRICAL

Held by the Enemy.

The Klimt-Hearn company will prosent "Held by the Enemy" at the Academy Monday night. Following is from the Bethlehem, Pa., Daily News: The Klimt-Hearn Repertoire company which opened its engagement for the week in the opera house last evening. gave the large audience a genuine surprise. The play, "Held by the Enemy," was produced in a manner that proved the stage ability of the actors and actresses in the cast. It can truthfully be said that never before has such a talented repertoire company faced the footlights in this vicinity. George Klimpt as Gordon Hayne and Harry Coffin as Colored Prescott did splendid work in their respective roles during the first and second acts. Lillian Mae Crawford as Rachel Mc-Creary drew forth abundant applause. Miss Lewis in illustrated songs held the audience's closest attention. The moving pictures of Hai King's Lumere cineograph are a feature which alone is worth the price of admission.

At the Gaiety.

If you appreciate a really funny show, full of real lively comedy, don't miss the engagement of the London Galety Girls who appear next Monday afternoon at the Gaiety. Many of the newest novelties are printed in their long bill and the burlesque is one gigantic jag of joy. In the olio will be seen petite May St. Clair, the Latour Sisters, change artists; Pusey and buried Democratic party of Mayfield and charming vocalists; Gilmore and Mc-Gee, a novel comedy act, and the musical experts, Charles Colville and Henrietta McBride.

Miss May St. Clair, who is billed as the sunbeam will shine efficiently both in the olio as well as in the burlesque. The Grimes also contribute a new comedy creation. "A Night in Turkey" is the cognomen of the burlesque and its title is significant of a highly amusing skit that provokes roars of laughter and thunders of applause. 'Wine , Women and Song" will soon play a return engagement at the Gai-

Brockway Course Concert.

The Patricolo Concert company will give one of its excellent concerts in the Lyceum Tuesday night. This is of the entertainments of the Brockway course. The Parker Press says:

"The Patricolo concert given in the Presbyterian church last Monday evening was the finest of its kind that ever visited Parker, and that the people of Parker appreciate classical music and well rendered readings was shown by encores that followed nearly every piece, which were heartily and willingly responded to by the members of the company. Patricolo is certainly on artist as a planist, and the work he did showed that there has been much study and practice to accomplish it."

At Piney Ridge.

The next attraction at the Lyceum Wednesday February 14. will be David Higgins' great southern play," At Piney Ridge," with the author in the stellar role of Jack Rose. Much has been said of this natural and life-like play. and it has been named the "Shore Acres" of the south. Mr. Higgins belongs to that new school of actors and stage directors that is swiftly and surely bringing the light of intelligence and natural treatment into the presentation of modern plays. Mr. Higgins will appear in his original character of Jack Rose, the young mountaineer, a part in which he has been commended in the highest terms, and no less a fine piece of acting is done by Georgia Waldron as Cindy Lane, the mountain girl. Float Through the Air in Baskets They Have Woven. From the Chicago Inquirer.

The ordinary California buzzard and the singular ravens of Santa Catalina Island often give marvelous exhibitions of soaring or rising into the air without moving their wings, and when it is remembered that their bodies are reduced to a minimum of weight, and that even the bones are filled with air, it is almost scientifically and lit-erally true that they are living bal-As a stroller who had descended the bank by a little trail crouched low in the shadow of a wild lilac, he saw against the dark green bank of the opposite canyon a cobweb afloat; then another, drifting down the perial channel on the wind. Others followed -a procession of webs was passing; some were long and formed of a single thread of silk: others had a delicate mass of fabric attached. Presently one of them came so near that he put out his hand and caught it. It was a perfect balloon, and the aeronaut—a small spider—sat complacently on its basket, a fluffy mass of web half an inch in length, light as a feather, and supported by a long thread which reached away, undulating and curving upward. Scores of these aeronauts passed by drifting up the little canyon, borne aloft by the upward current of air. The stroller noticed a number of spiders on the leaves and branches in singular atti tudes, and then it occurred to him that there was a spider migration, and that instead of walking or crawling away, the insects were going, lik-Andree, by balloon. More on the leaves of the wild lilac were prepar-ing for the journey across the chasm, forming, building and launching their balloons. More Mayfield Troubles.

Editor of The Tribune. Sir: Since the publication of my pre-vious letter on Mayfield matters some important moves have been made, the knowledge of which, for obvious reasons, ought to be public property.

The ex-treasurer has had his opportunity to prove that the accountant's re-port on the borough finances were wrong. Unwillingly, he proved that they were right. In presenting his report the ac-countant said that he had assumed that no money had been paid out of the bo-rough treasury without orders from the council, and under these conditions there should have been $1,300.24 in the treasury at the end of the last fiscal year. The ex-treasurer showed that two tax collecters owed at that time sums aggregating $122.78, and the balance of the $1,200 he more than covered by amounts paid without orders. The present treasurer drew special attention to the redemp-tion of seven $100 bonds three months after the ex-treasurer's term had expired. These bonds were then not due were not presented for payment, and the council had given no instructions for their redemption. Nevertheless, the ex-treasurer claimed his commission on the transaction and a right to consummate the same. This has been called a "com-plete vindication." Let public opinion be he judge. But public opinion is a capricious jade The ex-treasurer's supporters know that it cannot be relied on to reinstate him and them to their former positions of power. Election day is nigh, and this is how they planned to capture the reins of government: They formulated a ticket which they called a Citizens' ticket, then another which they called Republican. Both were alike as two peas, and both were regularly filed in the county comcalled the Democratic. This, too, contained the same names, with minor exceptions, as the first two tickets. N will somebody tell me on which side the fence to look for these astute poli-

field held a caucus which had been duly called by their vigilance committee. Next day they took their ticket to Scranton to have it filed, but found themselves crowded off the ballot paper by the Re-publican-Democratic-Citizen party. It was then seen very plainly that some body had been guilty of perjury. Attor ney Edwards was employed to bring th matter before the court. The prelimin aries were well advanced and a day fixed for a hearing in court. It is said that one may as well be hung for a sheep as for a lamb; but the perpetrators of this fraud did not want to hang at all They were afraid even to face the court They hastily sent a man to have their false Republican ticket stricken off the records and the true one allowed to have its proper place. Thus for the pres-ent they escaped public discomfigure. But as the names of the guilty parties are well known, it is possible that ever yet the genial "John R." may be invited to rope them in. In olden times men who descended to perjury finished up by ascending the scaffold. In these more humane days men who descend to per-jury should at least oblige their neighoors by keeping out of polities, Thomas Boundy.

A BURNING MOUNTAIN.

It Has Been on Fire for Over a Hundred Years.

Newcastle Correspondence Kansas City World.

Mayfield, Feb. 11, 1900.

A mountain, which has been on fire for more than one hundred years, is situated just west of here. So close is it that its shadow envelops the town at 5 p. m. at this time of the year, and yet the people hereabouts think no more of it than of the beautiful Grand river which washes the feet of the huge pile where the fire has burned so long. To the tenderfoot, however, the glittering patches of deep red fire where it breaks out on the side of the mountain, and is exposed to view there is nothing in all this state quitits equal. The fire is fed by a big vein of coa which the mountain contains. Just how the coal became ignited is not known. The oldest resident says was on fire when he came here, and the Ute Indians, who once lived in this section, say it was burning many years before the first white man crossed the continental divide. The supposition is that the coal was ignited by a forest fire at an early date in the present cen-It has smoldered and steadily burned until this day. At night, when the moon is dark, is the best time to see the fire. Then it is that it resembles the regions of inferno as given us in the word-painting of Dante. The earth covering the coal is loosened by the heat and falls away, exposing the sheet of fire.

The escaping gas probably assists in stripping off the rocks and dirt, and wherever the vein of coal approaches the surface the fire can be seen. The first fire I saw was fully fifty square. It had a peculiar red tint, while the burning gas coming up at base of the coal vein added a bright blue coloring to the scene. many places the surface of the mountain has sunken, showing where the fire has burned out its course
