CONLEY'S NECK BROKEN.

Fatal Fall from a Caboose at Hallstead Yard.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Hallstead, Feb. 12 .- John Conley was instantly killed about 6 o'clock this (Monday) morning in the Lackawanna yard here. He left his home about twenty minutes to six to go out on his run. He was switching out his caboose from the string of cabooses that were standing on the switch near the round house, where the cabooses are kept. It It customary to "kick" out a caboose from the track when about to start on a run. His foot was caught in the lever that works the automatic coupler and as the cabooses separated he was jerked from the caboose upon which he was standing and was thrown to the track, his head striking so as to break his neck. His jaw was broken and his breast slightly scratched. No one saw him fall and when he was found a few moments later his foot was still fastened in the lever and hanging downward, his breast and head hanging on the track. The body was taken to Tuttle's undertaking establishment and afterwards removed to his home on Church street. The funeral will be held Wednesday morning at 9.30 o'clock at the house and at 10 o'clock in St. Lawrence church, in Great Bend. The deceased was married last June and besides his widow he is survived by his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. John Conley. Some insurance will be left, as he was a member of the Order of Railway Trainmen. He was about 28 years of age.

TOWANDA MAGAZINE CLUB.

Distribution of Literature Lasted but One Month.

Special to the Scranton Tribune Towanda, Feb. 12 .- About December 15 last, three smoth-tongued strangers made a visit at Towarda and vicinity, claiming to introduce a plan to add to the mental equipment of the people, Their plan was the formation of a magazine club, similar on the line of a circulating library. Customers proved to be plenty, and twenty-four persons each gave the sum of $6.80 for their choice of from five to ten well bound volumes out of a large list. Each sub-scriber also had the choice of any magazine, published monthly, in this

The books were delivered, cash collected, and early last month the person who was to act as librarian for the magazine club received thirty-two periodicals. But the February instalment of magazines does not appear. Letters of inquiry have been returned to the writer marked "No such persons known," and now the Towanda subscribers have seen their finish.

Coal at Long Pond.

Special to the Scrawton Tribune. Towanda, Feb. 12 .-- A four-foot vein of coal has been proven a new discovery on the Long Valley Coal company's lands. The outcropping of the new vein is said to be about two miles from the present workings at Long Valley, toward the northwest. A civil engineer has made an investigation of the outcroppings and, with a force of workmen, will at once make a thorough investigation.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to the Scratton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, Feb. 12.-The election to be held on February 20th for the purpose of filling the borough and ward offices will create little excitement here. The borough officers have given such good satisfaction in the past, that they have in most cases been renominated and the opposite party have accepted their nomination as satisfactory and have placed no nominees in the field. This applies to the office of tax collector, where John R. Hungerford, Republican, has served for several years; to overseer of the poor, which office has been held by Draper Billings, Democrat, for ome time, and to the office of school director in both wards, the Republicans of the Second ward having renominated B. H. Shoop and the Democrats placing no candidate against him. In the First ward the Democrats on their ticket. There was but one nomination made for borough auditor.
