THAT BILL OF EXTRAS. Partially Disposed of by the School

Board Last Night. That bill of extras on the addition to the Central school building of nearly $3,000, to which attention was called by The Tribune, was taken up by the school board again last night. Architect Brown, of Scranton, had been requested to be present, but he did not appear, and, consequently, the board soon met difficulties which it could not overcome. For instance: The plans showed flag walk on one side only in front of the school and, as both sides had to be alike to make a complete job, the board argued that the plains implied what was not actually marked therein. Contractor Nolan objected to this, saying was not supposed to furnish anything not marked. In this particular item $40 were involved.

After reading the entire specifications ay contract, the board decided that it could not pass upon all the items vithout the architect's presence, but it did conclude to go over and order paid such claims as it knew to be just, namely, those for work which had been properly authorized. These amounted to a few hundred dollars.

Contractor Nolan startled the board by declaring that he had nothing to do with making out the bill; that it was done by J. J. Collins and Architect

"What had Mr. Collins to do with it?" asked Director Vannan. "He is my clerk," answered Mr. No-

WAGON TIPPED OVER.

R. W. Munn, who has charge of the Palace creamery milk route, had a narrow escape from injury, and possibly death, yesterday morning. He was inside the tightly closed wagon when he turned too short and tipped over on Park street. He succeeded in stopping the horse before much damage had been done. The result of a runaway under such conditions may easily be imagined. A window was broken in the wagon.

The enlarged water committee has obtained opinions from ex-Judge Rhone and City Solicitor Stuart regarding the contract put out, which proper and safe and the committee proposes to continue the work of getting signers which will be considerably facilitated by the restoration of confi-

THEATRICAL.

"Held by the Enemy."

Barring the singing of one of the Sisters Johnson last night's production of "Held by the Enemy" at the Academy of Music by the Kilmt-Hearn company, is deserving of the highest praise. Gillette a sterling war drama is not the king of a play that amateurish actors can toy with successfully. It requires a strong evenly balanced company and this it has n the artists who compose the Klimt-

Hearn company.

George Klimt as Gordon Hayne, Harry Coffin as Colonel Prescott, and Lillian Mae Crawford as Rachel McCreary, esrried off the honors of the performance with the leading roles, but the subordi-nate characters were almost as well por-trayed by Charles Leckins, David Conger, Bert Wesner, John Rogers and W. H. Powell. Alma Hearn, the ingenue of the company, made a fine impression.

With such a company it is small won der that popular priced dramas attract theater goers. Although last night was dismal and stormy the company played to the capacity of the house. This afternoon the company presents "A Million-aire's Daughter" and tonight "The Great Diamond Robbery." During the per-formances moving pictures and specialties are introduced.

London Gaiety Girls.

The performances given at the Galety theater yesterday by a mixed combina-tion under title of the London Galety Girls were scarcely up to the standard of the house. In fact they seemed to represent London galety after the beginning of the Transvaal war. The opening act by Gertle and Tom Grimes was very good in spite of the ancient flavor of some of the jokes introduced, but the balance of the programme was of a nature that taxed the powers of endurance on the part of the audience.

It is evident that many members o the troupe who feel that they have been especially called to interpret histrionic themes upon the stage, should have their palms read again. The "Galety Girls" are billed for the entire week, but the programme will be varied by boxing matches and other new features in which local men will take part.

Brockway Entertainment.

Another of the Brockway Course en tertainments will be held tonight Lyceum theater, when the Patricelo Grand Concert company will appear. R. Griggs, general secretary of the Young Men's Christian association, of ratis-burg, says: "The concert given in our members' course last month by the Patricolo Grand Concert company was one of the best we have ever had. Every member of the company is an arist of excellent abilities, and we take pleasure in heartily commending them other associations and the public."

At Piney Ridge.

Tomorrow evening at the Lyceum the powerful southern drama, "At Pincy Ridge," will be produced. This strong effective melo-drama will be presented with all its wealth o effects and one of the best companies the road, with the author of the play, Elias Cobb, of Main street, recently fell David Higgins, at the head, as the direct and fractured one of his arms.

Mr. Higgins is so well known as skillful stage manager that even if he did not appear in the drama in person we would be sure of a good production but this attraction has the advantage of the author in the principal role. principal figure of his play, adds to the value of the play materially. Miss Georgia Waldron, as Cindy Lane, the mountain girl, still plays her original part with all the finish and fine discrimination that has made it, from the first presentation of this drama, one of the few really fine creations of character of the

"Because She Loved Him So." What has been well termed "The Little Minister of Farce." "Because She Loved

Him So," will be presented at the Ly-ceum Friday evening. The leading role is assumed by that finished delineator of old man parts, John E. Dodson. There are particularly good parts for Miss Annie Irish, who was until three years ago a leading member of Sir Henry Irving's company, and for Miss Leonora Braham, who was the original Yum-Yum in the "Mikado" and the original Patience in the operatta of that name when these masterpieces were eriginally produced at the Savoy theater
