CASES TO BE TRIED IN COMMON PLEAS

CIVIL LIST FOR THE COMING MARCH TERM.

Suits That Were Brought as Late as Last May Appear on the List, Showing That the Business Is Within Nine Months of Being Up to Date, and the Nearest It Has Been in Years to Being Up to Date-Six Months Is About the Proper Margin.

Prothonotary Copeland has completed the making up of the common pleas trial list for the March term of court, which begins Monday, March 19. The list includes cases brought last May. This is the nearest the court has been to catching up with the civil business in many years.

It is not desirable to have the civil business brought down much closer than this. Six months is considered the proper limit. By having a reasonable time clapse between the filing and trying of suits opportunity is given for amicable settlements and the court is thus saved a large amount of work. Appended is the three weeks' list:

EISTEDDFOD IN READING.

German Singing Societies Are to Compete There on Easter Monday-Names of Adjudicators.

Wales is in a good way to lose its cense to claim the disteddfod as its national festival. On top of all that the Welsh in America have done and are doing to make it a Yankee institution, the Dutch are now beginning to pile their efforts along the same line. Reading, Berks county, Pennsylvania. announces an eisteddfod for Easter Monday and the German singing societies of that typical Teuton town are reported to be enthusiastic over the

That it is to be an elaborate event is evidenced by the prominence of the officials and the size and number of the prizes. Prof. D. Gordon Thomas, of New York, is adjudicator of vecal music and with Prof. J. F. Bellois, of Philadelphia, will adjudicate the band music. Judge H. M. Edwards is to pass upon the merits of the competitive recitations and also act as conductor. The adjudicator on essays is Prof. E. Mackey, superintendent of public schools, of Reading.

Altogether there are nineteen competitions, the principa! ones being a choral competition for no less than 100 mixed voices, prize, $100; band con-test, "William Tell." prize, $200; male chorus, not less than forty voices, prize, $200; church choir, confined to Berks, Lehigh and Lebanon counties, $100; female chorus, not less than twenty-five votces, prize, $50; quartette mixed voices; duet, tenor and bass: soprane, contralto, tenor and bass soles; piano sole, open to all; piano solo, for children under twelve years of age: English recitations for various agen, and two es-

UNITED SINGERS' FESTIVAL. Delegates Report on the Great Concert to Be Held in July.

A meeting of the delegates of the United Singers of Brooklyn was held in Arion hall yesterday to report what progress they had made toward the great festival to be held next July, It was announced by the chairman that among the societies that will compete for the Emperer William and other prizes is the Concordia Maennerebor, of Wilkes-Parre, Pa., which is known as the best singing organization of Pennsylvania. On account of its high musical standing and its alleged mania for winning nearly all the valuable prizes, its members are barred from competitive prize singing

Other societies from Pennsylvania which will participate in the festival are the Beethoven and Fidelia, of West Philadelphia, and the German Soehne Maennerchor, of Philadeiphia. -Brooklyn Standard-Union
