CITY MAY HAVE TO SETTLE.

The damage caused by the recent sewer overflow on South Main street is considerable and the city may have settle. A repetition of the difficulty is likely to occur at any time, as the defect is thought to be in the river bed and cannot be repaired until the water goes down in the spring. Foreman Killeen, of the street department, says he believes the pipe is broken at the Eighth avenue bridge. This structure settled enough to break an eight. inch iron pipe of the Carbondale Gas company and Mr. Killeen thinks the main sewer pipe has been similarly The flood from the sewer rises and falls with the water level of the river. For temporary relief check valves are suggested.

Antoinette," which Modjeska is to present on Monday evening at the Lyceum, is said to present a very delightful picture. It represents "Little Trianon," the rural retreat of Antoinette twelve years before the outbreak of the revolution. The queen, dressed in a costume resembling the shepherdess of the dresden china variety, surrounded by her little court, is trying to throw off the burdens of state and to enjoy a diversion in the way of private theatricals. The mutterings of the approaching revolutionary storm are heard even here, but are unheeded. Everyone is too full of the enjoyment of their country life and its incidental frivolities. The whole picture is said to bring out in the boldest relief the terrible events which the later scenes

Litigation Over Railroad Bonds Pledged Long Ago. Pittsburg, Feb. 15.-An argument wa made today in common pleas court No. 3 on the demurrer filed in the equity suit of Simon P. Kase against M. Bell administrator of the estate of Thompson Hell, who was in the banking business in Pittsburg some years ago. Th suit is to recover for $80,000 worth of railroad bonds pledged with the late Thompson Bell to secure loans made by him to the plaintiff, and the income from the bonds amounting to $85,000. Mrs. Carrie B. Killgore, of Philadel phia, made the argument for the plaintiff. The plaintiff in the case is over 80 years of age. He was in the court. He lives in Philadelphia and the cause of action arose many years ago. In one way or another it has been before the courts for a long time and this suit was brought after Kase got a favorable decision in the supremcourt in a case connected with it. Kase was a railroad contractor and while he was building a railroad from Wilkes-Barre to Danville he borrowed money from Thompson Bell. He claims that the railroad bonds he pledged were used against the interest, and though he paid back the money he borrowed he never got possession of them again. He sues to recover the value of the bonds and the income from them for a long term of years.
