MORE PERMANENT MEN. Ordinances Now in the Hands of the Mayor and on Passage

Through Councils.

Ordinances providing for four additional permanent men have passed either select or common council within the past week and are now in the hands of the mayor awaiting his approval. Whether this approval will be forthcoming or not is not known, as the mayor will not discuss the question. That it will be, however, is believed, as only last week he approved an ordi-man for the Century company. The four permanent men above men-tioned are for the Excelsior, Liberty, Niagara and Columbia companies. The first three companies have only one man each, but the Columbia has three. The reason given for the appointment of this fourth man is that one of he men now on duty drives the chief. There will, however, be no appoint-ments made for some time yet, if the ordinances are approved by the mayor, is they distinctly specify that the men are not to be named until an appro-priation has been made for their salary. The ultimate fate of the ordinances is therefore in the hands of the

Whether or not it is advisable to flush culm back into old mine workings is a question which the board of trade proposes to have a tussle with. A lecture upon that subject by Civil Engineer W. R. Griffiths, which was delivered recently at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia, was scheduled to be repeated at last night's regular meeting of the board. Mr. Griffiths was unexpectedly called out of town and had to send his regrets, but the subject was, nevertheless, discussed, J. Gardner Sanderson, whose exhaustive study of the culm question has been on various occasions indicated by interesting newspaper articles and communications to the board of trade thought to forestall any hasty action by the board on any propositions which might emanate from Mr. Griffiths' lecture and sent in the following warning or protest: Scranton, Pa., Feb. 10, 1900. Mr. D. B. Atherton, Secretary Scranton Board of Trade, Board of Trade Build-

Ing, City. Dear Sir: If the board of trade desires to promote the industrial prosperity of Scranton, it certainly should not favor the disposal of culm by returning it to the deposits, from whence it came. The best method for filling worked out coal mines, with the culm, may be an interesting problem for the mining en-gincer, but the board of trade can hardly consider it the best method of dis-posal, if the good of the community is onsidered. There is undoubtedly a strong opp tion among coal dealers to the utiliza- the bill for upbuilding the merchant tion of culm in such a way as may cur-tail the use of prepared coal. They care nothing for local interests or future welfare, only for present profit. Hence, seeing the possibilities stored in the mountains of available cheap fuel, they employ engineering experts to devise means for putting this fuel out of reach, (when it is not convenient to consume it by fire, as is being extensively done.) It would be useless to attack this polley on the ground of its extreme sel-fishness, for that is the established polley of corporations, but it does seem as it could be shown to be a short sighted If these mountains of fuel, mined, raised and stored on the surface at great expense, can be utilized for building up local industries, the owners could realize a fair return for the fuel and the transportation business of their railways be largely benefited. That they can be utilized can be demonstrated beyond question by practical results already attained. If the object is to fill up the abandoned workings, why not as well dispose of the great amount of ash and refuse in this way. It appears to me a crime against the state and community to so dispose of a valuable product. Respectfully yours, J. Gardner Sanderson.

ABOUT THAT LECTURE.

"What will we do about Mr. Griffiths' councils. lecture?" inquired President Lansing. Mr. Keller questioned the wisdom of having Mr. Griffiths' lecture under the rd's auspices after what they had

Colonel Hitchcock gave it as his impression that one-cent pestage will prevail before another congress dies.

TIME-TABLE CHANGE.

The change in the Erie and Wyoming Valley railroad time-table, which prohibits parties from Hawley and intermediate points from spending more than forty-five minutes in Scranton without stopping over night, was brought up by Secretary Atherton and referred to the transportation committee. Formerly, a four hour stop-over was allowed and it proved a great convenience to shoppers from all along the line. Hawley had a mass meeting last Tuesday night to protest against the

Colonel Hitchcock brought up the viaduct question, but there was no wild clamor for recognition by members burning with a desire to discuss it. The colonel said he had talked with a number of persons about it and from what he gathered it was an open question as to whether or not the viaduet as now planned was desirable. Some of those he talked with, he said, were cluded with the gratifying statement substantial men of the West Side. He that "we are now at the top of the would like to have the board discuss the question and declare itself. President Lansing informed Colonel
