THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 21, 1900.

NO VOTES CAST.

A Dispute at Pittston Prevents Opening of the Polls. Special to the Serai ton Tribune.

Pittston, Feb. 20 .- Cork Lane is a place famous for political squabbles, and scarcely an election passes but there is trouble over the counting of the ballots. There will be no trouble tonight, however, because there were no votes cast. Owing to factional differences the polls were not opened. The trouble started early this morning, when the election board arrived at the polling place in the school house. James Langan and A. J. McCue, Democrats, presented credentials as overscer: and as but one of them could lawfully serve, the election board naturally wished to swear in the one of their own clique-Langan. McCue jected and informed the board that if they did not swear him in as overseer he would make trouble if they attempted to open the polls. McCue and his supporters were emphatic in their assertions that they would prevent the election from being carried on. The threat had its effect and as the judge positively refused to swear in McCue the polls were not opened. A number of the spectators were intoxicated and several fistic encounters took place.

TO strong man ever had a "weak" stomach. Strength comes from food properly digested and perfectly assimilated. When the stomach is "weak" food is imperfectly digested, and the nutriment provided for the body is insufficient to supply the daily losses then it would cause me great distress. Not only the way to a man's Pierce's Golden heart, but to his lungs, liver, kidneys, and every other organ, is through his stomach. All physical life is sustained by food. But food sustains life only when it is chemically changed in the digestive processes so that it furnishes an assimilable aliment for the body. Coal warms us only by combustion. Food feeds us only by digestion. It would be as reasonable to fill the pockets with coal and expect to be warmed by it without combustion, as it is to fill the stomach with food and expect to get strong by it, without digestion.

It is not a "cure-all." It cures many forms of disease because many forms of disease have their origin in weakness or disease of the stomach. One of the first signs of failing health is loss of appetite. The first thing that "Golden Medical Discovery" does is to restore the nor-on the stomach in that condition is only to clog it. It can't convert the food into nutriment. It is essential, therefore, that with the re-

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, Feb. 20 .- Speculative opinion showed itself today as reflected by the opinions of professional traders. The news of the day so far as it affected values was all favorable, but it failed to attract any demand for stocks from the general public. This induced a spirit of caution among the professionals about taking on large lines of stock, in view of the doubtful market afforded for realizing. The bears were inclined to make ventures, encouraged by this doubtful spirit. But while they succeeded in effecting large declines in a few specialties they failed to induce any general liquidation. The undertone for the market was distinctly firm and the opening gains, which were pretty generally wiped out, were largely recovered again in the final dealings. The tendency of railroad stocks was upward at the start and there was special strength when the reports showed a high level of earnings. The early report of the D., L. & W. gave an impetus to the anthracite group, in which Reading first preferred led, Lackawanna Itself yielding on realizing. The net results of the year's operations for this road was a surplus after dividends of $1,607,173, against deficit last year of $509,736. This result was achieved in spite of the large decrease in gross earnings(no less than half of which is due to the decline in the return of coal by cutting down transportation of over $2,000,000), and in the miscellaneous income the caraings from the coal department were increased some $2,360,266. The weakness of Third Avenue, which fell an extreme 61% ex-dividend, and of People's Gas, which lost 1%, were the unsettling influences in the market. The late strength in the coal roads and a sudden rise of 2 points in St Louis and the Southwestern preferred induced the late recovery in prices, which reached the best in many cases.
