A Red Letter Day is the 22d of February,

ASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY—and it is right and just that it is so. Since the day when Washington first saw the light what a number of red letter days brighten the calendar of the years. Hundreds of inventions and discoveries now annihilate space, lighten toil, deaden pain and lengthen life. Among the great discoveries of the nineteenth century none stand out more prominent than that of Warner's Safe Cure, a vegetable preparation for the cure of that terribly insidious disease-Bright's disease of the kidneys. The disease was first named by Dr. Bright of England. It had been known previous to his time as dropsy, and death certificates were given, and are given today, by reputable physicians, for dropsy, heart disease, heart failure, convulsions, etc., instead of Bright's

Dropsy, heart failure, convulsions, etc., are but symptoms of Bright's disease, a disease before which physicians stand aghast.

Bright's disease and consumption do not kill at once. There are first, second and third stages. The time to treat these terrible diseases is at their inception. Bright's disease is consumption of the kidneys and no man or woman can live without kidneys any more than they can without lungs.

The kidneys have few nerves of sensation, hence Bright's disease cannot be detected except by its symptoms or a microscopical examination of the fluids of the body. Prominent among the symptoms are fickle appetite, failure of eyesight, nervousness, frequent desire to pass fluids, constipation, chronic rheumatic pains, gradual failure of strength, pallor of face, swelling of the ankles, shortness of breath, chills, fever, scanty, high colored fluids, etc. A person may not have all of the symptoms, but one of them continued for any length of time is a warning that the kidneys are not doing the work nature intended them to do and that the body through that failure is surely becoming poisoned by the deadly acids which ought to be eliminated.

Warner's Safe Cure is a specific for kidney disease when taken in time and according to directions. It will not work miracles but it will do all that human agency can accomplish.

It is the part of wisdom to get rid of kidney disease and to begin today.

OBITUARY

Sidney Broadbent, a brief mentlen o whose death at an early hour yesterday morning appeared in yesterday's Tribune, was one of the most widely known and respected citizens of the city where he had lived for upwards of forty-five years. Mr. Broadbent was born in Saddle-worth. Yorkshire county, England, on April 16, 1828, and was the son of Ralph Broadbent, who was the proprietor of Castle Shaw, a well known preparatory boarding school for young boys. At the age of 14, after having been educated in his father's school, he was apprenticed to the machinist's trade and remained in the employ of the company he had been indentured to until 1848 when he came to this country. Soon after his arrival he secured a position as machinist in the Rogers Locomotive works at Paterson. N. J. Seen after he took charge of a manufacturing plant in Newark, N.
