PUPILS ACQUIT THEMSELVES!? Evening of Rare Enjoyment at the

Bicycle Club House. The pupils of J. T. Watkins gave a musicale at the Bicycle club house last evening, it being one of the series of entertainments which the Bicycle club is giving this winter. A programme of unusual interest was presented. During the evening a number of fine songs were rendered by Scranton amateurs

Miss Martha C. Matthews, soprano, and J. W. Jones, basso, rendered the duet "Calm as the Night," by Goetz, in good style. Miss Kathryn DeSales Gibbons, a young lady whose contraito voice is of rare quality, sang "For This," by DeKoven, with much expression and feeling.
Miss Teresa Hanaway, of prepos-sessing appearance and the possesso of a sweet soprano voice, well placed and under good control for one so young, gave two excellent numbers in striking contrast, one with the other A slight tremolo was noticeable, induced by nervousness; yet, on the whole, the work of this young lady was very acceptable,

The famous Schubert quartette contributed two numbers in their usually satisfactory manner; one, a melody proved highly entertaining, and the "Vocal March" was powerful in its rhythm. The blending of the four voices is almost perfect, and enunciation is very good.

The "Godard Lullaby," from voice of extended range, was finely endered, and showed a vast improvegrown very resonant. Her singing displayed her rare taste and intelligence. She was compelled to respond to an

Owing to Mr. Watkins' illness the rlo was omitted, for which many regrets were expressed. Mr. Watkins came from a sick bed to participate in and carry out the programme, demonstrating his grit and purpose not, if possible, to disappoint his audience. Miss Martha C. Matthews sang with thrilling effect the "Nymphs and "Fawns," by Bemberg, The selection is rather difficult, yet she sang it with beauty and flexibility of voice and timbre of surpassing excellence. The strong, impossionate song, "Sunset," by Dudley Buck," was given a magnificent rendering by Miss Anna Scanlon whose voice is of exceptional proportions and resident quality, free from throatiness, strong and effective Joshua Johns and David Stephens contributed each a tenor solo, both of which were highly appreciated. The glees by the Studio chorus were charmingly sung after Mr. Watkins' inimitable style. As a director he has few equals and always gives the auditor great pleasure and satisfaction. The selections were especially suited to the voices of all the singers, and especial credit for this is due to Mr. Watkins, The accompanists were Charles Doersam and Liew Jones. Harvey Blackwood played a cello obligato to Miss Burke's solo.

Following the musicale Mr. and Mrs. Watkins served refreshments to the pupils, of which there are about sixty. The bicycle boys indulged in a short social, and this brought to a close one of the most artistic and enjoyable recitals of the season.

OSTEOPATHY.

Osteopathists regard the human body as a complicated machine, built by the great master mechanic, and so perfectly adjusted in all its parts as comforting news from the New York to run its allotted period until worn out by old age. Disease is the creaking of the eccen-machinery. "Again he defines health as the result of the harmonious action found a cine and expect to soon locate of the system when all its parts are the thief. A picture of Mellius, who unirritated by any cause, such as increased or diminished flow of the fluids livery, was rent to New York and of the arteries or veins, or the nerve hopes are being new entertained that force, by partial or complete dislocation of bones, muscles, tissues, membranes or parts of the whole system." He holds that the chief cause of disease is due to lack of blood supply from some mechanical obstruction to natural function. There is some misplacement, enlargement, obstruction, or abnormality of a bone, muscle, or ligament or some unnatural pressure upon a nerve or blood vessel. When the machine gets out of order Osteopaths, recognizing the wonderful recuperative power of nature, claim that the human body is prepared for every emergency, and has within itself all the necessary power to arrest and reand buy any tools they may pair the ravages of disease without the ficial stimulus, save pure air breathed into the lungs and food and drink takour big cut in prices you can en into the stomach through the natural channels. The object of the Osteopath, therefore, is simply to detect and remove any obstruction or abnormality in the body which interferes with the laws of nature, so that she

Talk was current during the day that a surprise party was in store for the evening and that the Jennings' wing of the board had secured an additiona vote, but evidently this vote must have been later lost, if it was ever secured at all.

Mr. Schwass, for some peculiar reason, wanted the secretary to commence calling off the names at the Twenty-first ward, but Mr. Langan objected so strenuously that Mr. Schwass withdrew the motion. The Fellows, who was nominated for secretary by Mr. Shires. The salary of the latter was fixed at the same figure as last year. Mr. Jayne then took the chair and made a few remarks, thanking the board for the confidence reposed in him. Secretary Fellows also thanked the board for his e-election.

Mr. Evans moved that the same rules as last year be adopted and that the poard meet on the second and fourth Mondays of every month, as heretofore. Mr. May wanted to know what the rules were, as he hadn't seen any. President Jayne replied that he didn't cnow. The motion was put, however and the imaginary rules were adopted

ESTIMATES ARE NOW READY FOR COUNCILS.

They Foot Up $311,896, or $29 Less Than the Estimated Revenues of the City for the Next Fiscal Year. Committee Decided That It Was Best to Let the Ordinance Go to Councils in Its Present Shape, as It Is Sure to Be Amended.

The joint estimates committee of councils made a record for itself last evening by concluding its labors on the estimates sent in by the various heads of departments. This was in line with a suggestion made by the chairman, Mr. Chittenden, who said that there was no particular use in wasting much grey matter on the estimates, as they would have to run the gauntlet of both branches of councils and would be literally torn to pieces.

The first thing the committee did was to put back the ten per cent, which was taken from the ward appropriations at the last meeting. This was done by motion of Mr. Ross. This left a margin of only $29 to draw upon for any other extras.

Nine hundred dollars was taken from the reduced item of $14,000 for judgments and incidentals and was placed under the head of the police department, to be used for extra telephones in lieu of the police alarm system advocated by Chief Robling. Another $200 was taken from this item and applied to the salary of the assistant city solicitor, making that $1,000.

AMOUNTS TRANSFERRED. One hundred dollars was taken from the item of "repairs on Elm street" and was applied to the salary of Chief Walker's clerk, making it $490. The following transfers were made in order to fill out the decrease of $300 in the salary of mayor's clerk, made at the last meeting: $100 from the item of $100 for repair of hose; $50 from the item of $250 for incidentals for the police, and $150 from the item for judgments and incidentals. One hundred dollars was taken from each of the two following items and was transferred to salary of park policeman: $300 for parade and inspection and $4,140 for rent of engine houses; $100 was taken from the item of $700 for cleaning brick, cobblestone and block pave and was transferred to the salary of the food inspector, making it $1,000 a year.

Chief Walker and a number of other heads of departments were present, but the chief was the only one who had much to say. He said that if his estimate is cut there was no use of any complaint arising as to why the department was not more efficient. He stated that there are six pieces of apparatus which will have to be repaired at once at a cost of not less than $600. MANY HAD SCHEMES.

It was not without some difficulty that the estimates were finally passed, as some of the members had enough schemes on foot to make interesting wrangling for at least three or four more meetings.

The estimates as they now stand foot up $311,896, or just $29 below the estimated revenues. NO GARBAGE ON THE STREETS.

Street Commissioner Thomas Will Try to Abolish a Crying Evil. Street Commissioner Thomas is about to inaugurate a crusade against the habit now prevailing among property owners, and especially merchants in the central city, of sweeping refuse and garbage into the public streets. He is having printed a notice prohibiting this thing and warning property owners that if they persist in doing it they will be prosecuted according to the law. The movement is especially directed against the wholesale merchants on lower Lackawanna avenue, who have for years persisted in sweeping decaying vegetable matter and other refuse into the street, so that that portion of the city has always
