The Woolen Mills Store Is Open

And It Has Taken the City By Storm? 144 Orders the First Three Days.

The men seemed to be amazed at the fine quality of our woolens. At first we expected they would want to look around and if they were pleased would call later and leave their measures, but when they saw our goods, heard of our system, learned of our responsibility, saw the linings and saw the making, they began leaving orders faster than two cutters could take the measures. Just think, 144 orders in three business days. Nearly every reliable business man of the city has called and extended the warm hand of congratulation and welcome us to Scranton. We have come to stay with you four years at least and we feel more than enthusiastic over our reception.

We don't even ask you to buy of us; we only courteously ask you to call and see for yourself. We are not afraid of the truth. We have over 900 gloriously beautiful patterns of worsteds and woolens, all dyed by ourselves, spun by ourselves, woven by ourselves, tailored by ourselves. We cut out all of the wholesaler's and middleman's profits and commissions. The cloth costs us less than half what it costs regular dealers, and we invite you to come and put it to every test you can think of. Try them with acids, unravel them, pull them apart, take a sample home and test them—do anything you wish.

Everyone agrees on the fineness of the cloth, but ask

Do You Guarantee a Good Fit?

Yes-most emphatically yes. Every garment must be tried on twice before you take it away. We won't make a suit and let you take it home and try it on. You must do so in our presence, and we must shape it and fit to your exact form and be positive that the fit is absolutely perfect. The suit is not yours until everything is satisfactory. Get samples of other $30 and $40 suits and see if you can't find the very same thing here for $15. Take samples of $15 suits and and see if you can equal them for $30 or $40 elsewhere. There is the test, and it won't cost you a cent to try it.

Every garment made to measure, and no matter what the goods are they are all the same price.
