men who are alive and up-to-date. Old-fogyism and stagnation are mental death. Nations, cities and individuals that progress are not afraid to get out of the beaten path. afraid to get out of the beaten path. The aggressive, earnest, intelligent man or woman is not bound by codes or dogmas. They think for themselves, and humanity benefits thereby. As a class, the medical profession is clannish. The old school smacks of decay. Bleeding and blistering died hard, but died nevertheless, while homeopathy continues to progress. The great Pasteur was not a physician, yet he blazed a pathway which thousands now gladly follow. A few bright, active, proly follow. A few bright, active, progressive physicians, who will not be bound by precedent, and who have the courage of their convictions, are doing a great work for the profession as a whole. They believe that no man or school has absorbed all the medical knowledge obtainable, and when a scientific discovery is made that revolutionizes a pet theory for the treatment of disease, are willing to give it a fair trial and abide by the results if favorable. Such a physician is Dr. L. M. Lander, of Chicago. Read and weigh the honest words of this noted specialist:

"Several times during the past few years I have observed the effects of Warner's Safe Cure in cases of Kidney Trouble. I found that the action of the medicine was highly curative in effect, and that most desirable effects followed its faithful use. "I believe it to be a very fine remedy for Kidney disorders." DR. L. M. LANDER. (Jan. 20, 1900.)

Two Fierce and Destructive Fires at Mayfield-Thirteen Families Rendered Homeless-Other News of

Mayfield was visited yesterday morning by two fierce and destructive fires, rendering thirteen families homeless. The first conflagration took place at about 2 o'clock in the morning, the dwelling house of John Tighe on River street being discovered ablaze. The family was asleep at the time and had barely time to escape safely from the burning building, which was soon past human effort to save. Fanned by the prevailing high wind the flames spread to the double dwelling adjoining, which was owned by J. J. Place and occupied by the Green family and Mrs. Owens. The William Walker Hose company responded to the alarm given, but was unable to save either properties,

At about 5.30 o'clock the second fite The building, which is on the hill, was in the midst of a thickly built portion of the borough, and in the space of a few moments after its discovery it had capidity to the adjoining dwellings and although the hose company again attempted to stop the conflagration their services appeared useless and of no avail, and in a short time ten more families were rendered homeless, and several thousand dollars of property was totally destroyed. A new barber shop and a new meat market have recently been opened here. It is reported that a clothing store is the next business establishment this town is to have.

The school room of the Dalton high school was crowded last Friday even-ing with an audience that listened with much interest to the entertainment given by the members of the school. A very fine programme was arranged, consisting of singing, recitations and dialogues. The two numbers, "Farmers' Opera" and "A Postal Card and What Came Out of It," were very pleasing. The last number was a de-bate between the post-graduates and the senior class on the question, "Re-solved, That a Man Has a Right to Kill Another in Self-defense." judges rendered their decision in favor of the senior class, who had the affirmative side.

It was without question the spiciest and best local institute held for many a year, as the following programme will corroborate this statement. The institute was called to order by Hon. F. R. Coyne, principal of Old Forge High school and chairman of the efficient local institute committee. Prof. Lloyd, principal of the Dickson City schools, gave a very practical talk on grammar, stating that the inductive method should be resorted to largely with beginners. Arithmetic, he said, was always spoken of as the branch to develop the reasoning faculty. Why should arithmetic take all the honors when skillful any branch is when the branch is of interest to him.

AGAIN I SECURE OF THE ACT OF THE PROPERTY OF THE PROPE For Sale by JOHN H. PHELPS, Phermacist, cer. Wyoming avenue and teaching in grammar will elicit the same amount of reasoning, ripen the same amount of judgment as arithmetic, algebra, geometry or any other branch of mathematics. Grammar is the science of language. Mathematics we use sometimes, language we use always. After the talk a discussion followed in which Prof. Foley, prin-cipal of Taylor schools, asked Prof. Lloyd when the parts of speech should be taught. The professor replied that pupils at nine or ten had successfully begun the work in this science. The county superintendent stated that the proper time to launch any pupil into High school, read a paper on "Neatness," a paper that would adorn the programme of any county institute. In part, she said: "Neatness in the school room begins with the appearance of the teacher. If she is slovenly and disorderly in her appearance, all the energy spent by her in trying to convert her school room into one of neatness is as good as wasted. I have in mind a teacher who was very bright and endowed with many talents. I was very much surprised upon hearing that this prepossessing girl was not a successful teacher; in fact, petitions had been sent into the school board demanding her removal. The young lady impressed me very much, she being amiable and seemingly possessed of strength of character. A few months after I had heard the complaints concerning her, I had occasion to listen to her recite. As soon as she mounted the platform and addressed the audience the mystery concerning her fail. ure in the school room unraveled itself, for the binding of her dress was hanging in tatters and a three-cornered rent could also be perceived. If she neglected such an important thing as her attire, what would she neglect in the school room. Neatness is practiced in every phase of school work. elocutionist and a specialist in primary reading, spoke at length on that line of work as it is advocated by the Polliard system. The words are divided into families, thereby enabling the child to remember classified things betunconnected things. Prof. Lloyd stated in the discussion that followed that he was not in tavor of the system because Miss Sallie Price, of the Dunmore schools, who, ever since her first ap-

"My Ships." given by request, Miss Cosgrove, of Old Forge High school, then followed with a paper brimful of points to the primary teachers. In part she said that she had compared many works on the subject of reading, but the one which pleased her most was Colonel Parker's, who stated that reading is getting thought from the printed page. We get thought speken language; secondly by the printed page. Usually the child has gained a knowledge of the former before entering school. He has gained it by long and continued practice, and he has in most cases learned to talk well. It is this power of language that we should strive to preserve rather than obliterate. We are all acquainted with boys who know the lesson verbatim, who can stand up and recite it with the book turned upside down
