HOOVER'S STRANGE ADVES-TURE WITH BATTLESNAKE.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune.

Susquehanna, March 15-Sam Hoover, who lives near Hallstead, started off one day late last fall to cut a small hickory for an axe-handle. Seizing his hatchet, he climbed a hill, and all went well until just as the bickory was fall-ing, when Sam, who had been keeping a sharp lookout, as he thought, saw a huge rattlesnake almost at his feet The strokes of the hatchet had prevented his hearing the warning rattle of the serpent, and it was preparing to strike. With a cry of terror, Sam sprang wildly down the slope, stumbled and fell. Then there was a crash from above and he was pinned to the earth, with the tree resting across his back, in such a manner that he could not readily extricate himself.

The noise made had been sufficient to arouse the ire of all the snakes within hearing, and Hoover saw them coming from all directions, hissing and rattling. At the same time the snakes close by was evidently preparing to strike him full in the face. With a rattle of increased anger, its head flew back, but just as it darted forward, a long, slim brown-spotted body shot across Hoover's face, and in a trice was wrapped around the yellow throat, safely behind the leadly fangs. The rattler had met his master, the king snake. A short, sharp struggle ensued, and then the king snake leisurely uncoiled and crawled away, leaving his huge adversary dead. The remaining rattlesnakes glided swiftly into their holes, and Hoover soon released himself from his perilous position and returned to hilarious Hallstead with his newspaper interview he stated that the Puerto Rico bill was "an outrage and a fraud." Over in Wayne county, Homer Green, esq., is urged by many of his friends to become a candidate for the legislature. Other bright men have stepped from the legislature into congress and the United States senate. If Puerto Rico, why not Puert Jervis and puert wine? Once in a while a preacher will attempt to show an old editor how to run a newspaper, but editors less frequently attempt to show a preacher how to run a pulpit. If Jesus should return to earth and rescue preaching would He bother Himself about secular newspapers and attempt to secure a lot of free advertising and notoriety by conducting a Kansas paper for six days? Doubtful!

RECRUITS FROM HADES.

Black and White repeats this story of Oom Paul, which is going the rounds in England: A grandson of President Kruger is said to have been in communication with Pretoria, and received a cable, "More ships arriving. Are any men left in Manchester?" Young Kruger went to Manchester and cabled back: "Regret, Manchester still full." A second cable came from Pretoria: "Still more ships arriving. What about Leeds?" The answer was: "Regret, Leeds also full." A third cable came: "Try Newcastle." Young Kruger went to Newcastle and there saw a lift go down the shaft of a mine empty, bringing up eight men to the surface. Rushing off to the telegraph office he cabled: "Stop the war, grandpa. England is bringing up men from

"LAST STRAW IN THE CUP." A young Montrose lawyer, being invited to deliver the 4th of July address in a crossroad hamlet nearby, said in part:

"Since first the great hand of liberty was extended to pluck our sinking land like a brand from the maelstrom of oppression, and to make despots tremble in their palaces till the welkin of all Europe rang with their cries of impotent terror, there has been one day which has been as a star in the hearts of all freemen, awakening reverbrating echoes which nothing can quench, and from which shall spring in glorious afforescence the flowers o civilization and the deep-dyed treasures of learning and law. The insolence of English tyranny was the last straw in the cup of American endurance, and a nation of freemen sprang full-armed into being, as a splendic comet soars in the heights of the empyrean,", (Loud and prolonged applause.)
