The memforehead, coughed a little and finally bers wanted some information on the matter and the city solicitor was sent for. Mr. Vosburg explained that the suit was primarily the result of a dispute between the Moore and Breck estates over a small alley intersecting Breck court. The city brought suit to protect itself and enforce a settlement of the difficulty. The two estates have reached an amicable agreement, by which the small alley is to be partially opened and the city released from all damages for the extension of Breck court. Mrs. Curry's Death.

Mrs. E. M. Curry, of Moosic, died at her home yesterday under circumstances which are believed by many of applause the residents of the town to be suspicious. Mrs. Curry was a young woman about 26 years of age, and was the wife of E. M. Curry, a railroader. They lived between River and Main streets and had three young children. Wednesday morning when she got up she complained of having a sever headache and suffered with it throughout the day. She became very ill during the night. Dr. Watson was called in. Yesterday morning he called again and finding her in a very serious con dition left the house to call in Dr. Bird for a consultation. When he returned Mrs. Curry was dead. It is said that the Curry's have lived in Moosic only a short time. Those acquainted with Mrs. Curry say that she was of a despondent nature, and gave the impression of a woman who had suffered a great deal and was afflicted with constant trouble.
