KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Michael Niesen Met Death at Sev enth Avenue Last Night.

Michael Niesen, of Scott street, was struck by a train and killed at the Seventh avenue crossing of the Delaware and Hudson road last evening. He had walked down the platform of the city station and stood on the north bound track waiting for a south bound coal train to pass when the 8.30 pas-senger train, which was ten minutes late, wheeled in and struck him, huriing the body back on the platform. where a priest administered the rites of the Catholic church, and where he died a few minutes later. Mr. Niesen was on his way home when the accident occurred. Deceased was born in Germany fifty six years ago, and had resided here twelve years. He is survived by five sons, August, Hugo, Emil, William and Otto, and one daughter, Miss Mary His wife died seven years ago. A sister, Elizabeth, and brother, Peter, in Germany, also survive,

He was an employe of the Hendrick Manufacturing company, member of St. Boniface society and president of the Germania Singing society.

8500 FOR SEVENTH AVENUE.

Common Councilman Sahm's fight for the filling of Seventh avenue has resulted in a change in the appropriation ordinance, and tonight the estimates committee will report in favor of $500 for that work. The appropriation for filling No. 1 plane has been reduced one-half.

FIRE AT PECKVILLE.

Dance Hall and a Hotel Consumed. Several Other Buildings Damaged.

At about 9 o'clock Wednesday even ing flames were discovered issuing from a large dance hall adjoining the hotel of Peter Maslyar, located on the East side. An alarm was sounded and the Jessup Hose company responded, but the flames had gained great headway and, with the low water pressure, the situation looked serious, as the buildings are very close together in that locality. The large dance hall was quickly consumed, along with the Maslyar hotel. A dwelling owned by John Zowodny was badly gutted. A hotel and hall owned by Mike Berish was badly damaged and several other

THEATRICAL.

"The Moth and the Flame."

the Lyceum last night in "The Moth and the Flame," is undoubtedly a ion of packed houses, an illustration of good-if not a great-actor for has he not the stamp of New York's approval and was he not the idol of the Broadway matinee girls for at least one season? It would naturally be too much for such an actor to expect to be appreciated by the audience of a one night stand like Scranton. Appreclated, if the truth must be told, we fear be was not. There was one vociferous curtain call last night after the second act but some way or other it gave one the impression of being something other than the honest, spentaneous tribute of an audience stirred by an artist's work.

It is just possible that men with dark gray pasts in the smart set of New York society act as Mr. Kelcy did last night but we hesitate to believe it of them. If so a dark gray past in a smart set must most assuredly be a terrible, terrible thing when it causes a man to make the terrific assaults on his moustache that Mr. Kelcy was guilty of last night, to say nothing of his hair and his white gloves. Most certainly Mr. Keley ought to forget his past or reform. It's wearing on the nerves not to mention the gloves and Miss Effic Shannon, the co-star, was sweet and womanly but the character of Marion Wolton, which she essays, is not calculated to arouse sympathy on the part of the audience. The supporting company contained Miss Ethel Winthrop and some other very competent people. "The Moth and the Flame" was written by Clyde Fitch and is supposed to be a page out of the lives of some of the members of the smart set of New York. It consists of a bad picture of society as it is, framed with a lot of the supposedly smart sayings of members of this alleged smart set.

"Oliver Twist" Last Night.

At the Academy of Music last night the Maude Hillman company presented "Oliver Twist." The programme for the remainder of the week is as follows: This afternoon, "East Lynne:" tonight, "Charity Bess;" Saturday afternoon, "Shaft No. 2;" Saturday night, "Guilty Without Crime."

"Monte Carlo Girls."

The "Monte Carlo Girls," who will occupy the boards at the Gaiety for the remainder of the week, gave an entertainment at the opening yesterday which was an improvement upon that furnished upon their appearance in this city several weeks ago. The opening extravaganza contains a buresque upon "Sapho" and a disrobing scene, which was greatly enjoyed by the portion of the audience with a taste for something "real tart."

The olio was made interesting yesterday by the Nudos, who thrilled the audience by foolhardy acts upon the trapeze, and by Bernard Williams, card manipulator; Beach and Belchler, musical artists, and Rose Linden, vocalist. Topaca and Steel were the funmakers o, the show and made the most of ther opportunities. The "Monte balance of the week, with matine
