Frank Blicko, of Sherman avenue. was the victim of peculiar circumstances Wednesday afternoon which nearly cost him an eye, an ear, several teeth and a broken leg, and but for the timely interference of some of his friends, he might have even suffered The trouble all came about over a small sum of money and the result of Blicko acting as peace-maker. Constable John D. Davis, of Alderman John's court, volunteered to serve the papers on Mrs. Mezzine and conduct the sale, and resorted to a novel scheme to carry out his plans. He enlisted the services of William Morgan, who is now the cutodian of Ren John-
