Price Library Association Conduct a Mock Trial-Sunday School Class Reception-I. O. O. F. Elected Offi-

The members of the Price Library association gave one of their interesting and instructive mock trials in their rooms on Friday evening. The seating capacity was crowded, many being compelled to stand. At 9 o'clock Judge Evan G. Watkins called the assemblage to order, announcing that the prisoner had safely arrived. The charge was the larceny of a swine. John W. Thomas was the defendant. The prosecutor was Sidney Owens; defendant's attorneys were Messrs. O. M. Williams and Richard Gendall: prosecuting attorneys were Messrs, W. B. Owens and W. J. Neiger; judge, E. G. Watkins; clerk of the court, John R. Thomas; court erier, Frank Decker. The trial was quite lengthy and many interesting points were advanced which furnished much amusement throughout continuance of the event. After the attorneys of both sides had completed their addresses, Judge Watkins then gave the jury a few instructions. The case was then placed in the hands the following jury, comprising ssrs. John J. Sullivan, T. A. Evans. M. Murray, P. Sullivan, Stanley Miller, E. Baker, E. Reese, F. Stone, W. Morris, Frank Williams, John Griffiths and Richard Griffiths. They returned a verdict of not guilty. The members of T. Dewitt Edwards' Sunday school class of the Calvary Baptist church gave the last of their series of the winter socials in the church parlors on Friday evening. Delicacies were served during the evening. The following excellent programme was rendered: Organ selection. One of the most important events of our present theatrical season will be the welcome re-appearance upon our stage of David Belasco's brilliant romantic as well as realistis play, "The Heart of Maryland," Thursday night at the Lyceum.

The success which has attended its performance throughout the country might well be styled ovational in nat-It has easily, upon its literary and dramatic merit, won a permanent place not only in popular acclaim, but in our national standard drama. Its theme, its stirring realism, the romanticism of the love, courage, and devo-tion of its heroine, Maryland Calvert, and the picturesque beauty of its scenic illustrations will never outlive their liking in the hearts of the playgoing public. This second visit will positively be its last appearance in our city, and, of course, this last opportunity to witness its performance will not be neglected by those who were unable to attend the theater during its previous visit.

From Ainslee's Magazine.

This is the story of Alexander McDonald, one of the best-known characters in the Yukon Valley. He is a great lumbering Scotchman-born in Nova Scotia-who up to the time of the Klondike discoveries never had an idea of winning a greater fortune than that of a day laborer. He worked from mining camp to mining camp all ilong the Northwest. So slow was he and so awkward in his work-his feet entirely in his way and his bulk a misfit for the size of prospect holesthat he was reputed never to be able to hold a job for longer than three weeks. He was at Dawson shortly after the first locations were made on the Klondike. He went out with numerous stampedes, but never arrived in time to locate a paying claim. Finally he stumbled across a newspaper mar named Hunt, who had a claim on Bonanza creek. Hunt had become discouraged because he had not the funds necessary to develop it.
