POLITICAL GOSSIP.

In the Third legislative district today a vig rous fight will be waged between Dr. N. C. Mackey, of Waverly, and Edward James, the Sixo ward of this city, for the Republicar nomination for legislature. Dr. Mackey is the present member from the district and wants to voters, however, who believe that the Ma key taint should be removed from the district and the best way to no this is to retire the man of nedicine to private life. His political careefor the people of the Third to contemplate rom the tir when he was a "stump" candidate or legislature and succeeded in turning the district over to the Democrats, the Hon, Frank Coyne, of Old Forge, seing elected, up to the disgraceful convention of two years ago at Dal ton, when Mr. Mackey received his last nomina ...on. His legislative career it is well to hurr No need to recall it. Edward James, jr who is opposing Dr. Mackey for the nomination, is a member of the select council of this city and one of the city's aggressive young busines men. Though one of the youngsters of the city senate, he has been since he entered it one its most valued members and a man wh ons on the questions that come before the body have always been given the most respectful attention and consideration. He is a clean, straight-forward young man and would make a member of the legislature of whom the Repub of the Third district might be justiy proud. Deputy Sheriff J. D. Ferber has formally as clared his candidacy for the Republican neman tion for sheriff. He is a hustling, aggressi-young man who has friends in every quartof the county and he will make a most midable opponent for whoever seeks to ta the nomination from him. Mr. Ferber has bein the sheriff's office for over five years and during that time has done the major portion of the outside work, which has brought his into close contact with people in all parts of the county. He has made an army of friendin a position where many another man world accumulate nothing but enemies. Besides being very pleasant and affable he appreciates the fact that a man can act in a humane manner whill discharging the sometimes unpleasant dutie that fall to the lot of a deputy sheriff and a complish better results than he could by our opposite course. The law must be enforced and its mandates obeyed, but a display of kindness and tact will usually be followed by better to sults than the use of brute force. RESOLUTIONS OF REGRET.

Passed by Poor Board on Retire ment of P. J. Murphy. At a regular meeting of the poor beard held yesterday afternoon the fol-of P. J. Murphy as a member of the board, were adopted as presented by a specially appointed committee: Your committee appointed to submit a suitable tribute appropriate to the retirement of P. J. Murphy as a director of the Scranton poor dis trict, respectfully report:

Resolved, That it is with sincere regret that we are called upon to sever our official relations with our friend and brother as a member of this board. He is aptly spoken of as the father of it, having first been appointed on Nov. 23, 1883, and having held the office continuously for over sixteen years, thus remaining longer in ser-vice than any other member since the organizaon of the district in 1862. This fact alor tion of the district in 1862. This fact acide eloquently testifies to his character and qualifica-tions, which have so eminently fitted him for the discharge of the exacting and responsible duties pertaining to the directorship.

We heartily join in adding our testimony a to his constant and uniform courtesy, kindness and generosity of heart in reneving the dis-tressed, coupled with care and good judgment in looking after the important interests of the Hillside Home and farm. He retires with honor a himself and his constituents and with the to limself and his constituents and with the highest regard, and best wishes of his fellow members of the board for his future welfare. He is justly entitled to the plaudit "Well done, good and faithful servant."

W. A. Paine, F. J. Dickert.

Superintendent Beemer, of the Hillide Home, presented his monthly report, which showed that there are at present 469 inmates of that institution, classified as follows: Insane males, 123; insane females, 141; sane males, 132; sane females, 73. About twenty applications for outside relief were passed

Timothy Burke, of Dunmore, the ewly appointed member, occupied his seat for the first time.

OPENING THE AVENUE.

City Engineer Phillips Believes It Will Be Several Months Before Work Is in Progress.

Bids for the opening of Wyoming ivenue, between Olive and Ash streets, vill soon be advertised for, and it is expected that work on the improvement will be in progress early in the summer.

The only hindrance at present is the fact that all of the abutting property owners on each side of the right of way through which the street will pass have not yet filed releases from damiges which may be caused by grading. The ordinance providing for the gradng of the street was passed without irst having a petition of release signed by such property owners. To remedy this defect, City Solicitor Vosburg recently drew up such a pet:tion and it is now being circulated by interested persons. The latter have secured the signatures of all but two or three, who are somewhat obstinate, but they hope to overcome their objections in a few days. As soon as this petition has been signed by all, the city clerk will immediately advertise for bids for the opening and grading of the street. In the meantime, in pursuance of the provisions of a resolution recently passed by councils, the street commissioner and the joint public buildings committee of councils will sell the houses and all other property upon the right of way, and just here is where a delay is expected to come in.

There are five or six houses which are directly on the right of way and as many others only partly projecting upon it. The houses entirely upon it must be sold, and then either torn down or moved, while the property owners whose buildings only partly project will have to be given a reasonable length of time in which to move them off.

This will probably consume the beter part of three or four months. City Engineer Phillips says that when once all buildings and obstructions are removed, the actual work of grading can e done in one month easily. He says, however, that he does not expect the street will be opened until Septembr. at Court having confirmed the viewers award of $55,000 last week, the city is now indebted in that sum to the property owners whose property is condemned. This confirmation makes the debt a judgement against the city which will be paid some time in the future out of the judgements and incidentals account and which will in the meantime draw 6 per cent, interest, It is probable that an effort will soon be made to have a bond issue to pay off the accumulating judgements against the city, the yearly appropriation made for this purpose being entirely inadequate. Judgements draw 6 per cent interest, whereas city bonds draw only four, hence there is a great advantage in issuing the latter, the promoters of the idea say. The officers of the Colliery Engineer company are interesting themselves greatly in the opening of the street, on ecount of the immense printing plant they will erect upon it during the summer. They have purchased some of the property on both sides of the street, on which it is understood they will erect buildings of a character commensur ate with the importance of the street. Just as soon as the street is opened signed by the mayor.

Coroner J. J. Roberts last evening held an inquest at the office of the Pennsylvania Coal company, at Lackawanns, to inquire into the cause of the death of Allan P. McDonald, of Avoca, the seventy-year-old man, who was found dead in the engine house of No. shaft of the Pennsylvania Coal company on April 3. The jury decided that he died from heart disease. The jury, which consisted of P. H. Salmon, Alexander Allen, Thomas Mc Mullen, M. J. Garvey, Edward Mc-Queen and David Dick, brought in the following verdict: "We, the undersigned jurors, do find that Allan P. Mc-Donald, of Avoca, came to his death in the engine house of No. 2 shaft of the Pennsylvania Coal company, in the borough of Old Forge, Lackawanna county, on April 3, 1900, and from the evidence produced by witnesses, and the result of the coroner's investigation, we find that death was the result of heart disease. To the Public.

We understand that certain parties, selling photographic tickets and claiming to be representing us, are canvassing the city. We wish to inform the public that we have no agents, and that our studio is at 209 Wyoming avenue and not Lackawanna, as claimed by these agents. The Griffin Art Co. "

THIRTEENTH BOYS RECIEVE BADGES

MARKSMANSHIP HONORSGIVEN lowing resolutions on the retirement OUT LAST NIGHT.

> Event Took Place in the Armory and Was Preceded by a Short Street Parade-Badges Distributed by Old Officers of the Regiment-Chaplain Pierce, U. S. A., Gave an Address, in Which He Had Some Bitter Things to Say of Those Who Malign the Soldiers.

Probably the most inspiring and successfully carried out military event which has taken place in this city in many years was the public distribution of marksmen's badges in the armory last night to those members of the eight city companies of the Thirteenth regiment who have gained the right during the past year to wear them,

Promptly at 8.30 o'clock the eight ompanies, which had previously been formed on Adams avenue, started at the sound of a bugle call and marched over the principal streets of the central city, which were well lined with citizens, the majority of whom always delight in seeing soldiers on the march,

The line was headed by Colonel Watres and the staff officers on horseback. After these came Bauer's band, the members in their new military uniforms. This was their first appearance as the regimental band, and they were greeted with approval all along the line of march. After the band came the eight companies, and the boys marched with a vim and a dash that would do credit to regulars.

In the meantime, the friends of the officers and men, to the number of 500, were filing into the armory, the seating arrangements of which had been limited to that number in order to allow plenty of space for the troops. A platform had been erected on the centre of the southerly side of the armory and on each side of this the seats were placed, leaving the entire northerly half vacant for the soldiers.

ON THE PLATFORM.

Seated upon the platform were Colonei E. H. Ripple, Major Everett Warren, Captain W. A. May, Mayor James Moir, Charles Von Storch, Major W. S. Millar, Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan, A. W. Dickson, Rev. Robert F. Y. Pierce and Captain Charles C. Pierce, U. S. A., chaplain, under General McArthur.

Colonel F. L. Hitchcock presided and after the soldiers had filed in and stretched themselves in four blue lines along the entire length of the building. he made a few opening remarks, in which he referred to the fact that the whole system of rifle practice used throughout the country at the present time originated right here in Pennsylvania, through the efforts of the present commander, Colonel L. A. Watres. He then introduced Chaplain Pierce, who made the address of the evening.

The chaplain, after paying a splendid tribute to the part played in the Philippine campaign by the Tenth Pennsylvania, and after referring to the fact that the men should feel proud of receiving marksmen's badges honestly earned, plunged into a bitter arraignment of those Americans who belittle the work of the United States troops in the Work of the cand who speak with house, Nos. 509 and 511, occupied by holy horror of the awful effects which lowed the American flag in the east. He said, among other things: "If there is anything that makes me fighting mad, and sets my head all aflame it is the sturs cast upon our soldiers at present serving in the Philippines by a portion of the public press of this country and from certain socalled citizens who are the last to go to war, but the first to talk about things which they do not take the time to inform themselves on. "I have yet to see the regiment that has any reason to feel ashamed of its conduct. These people say that our soldiers are debauching the pure-minded Filipinos; that they are carrying over the American saloon and that they are sowing the seeds of irreligion where before all was peace. What infinite rot and rubbish!

ABOUT THE SALOONS.

"These people say that there were only two drinking places in the city of Manila when the United States troops entered. I want to say right here that the man who says that is either a liar or an ignoramus. A resolution was recently introduced in the senate which I think was the most dishonest one ever presented in that body. It called upon the secretary of war to inform the senate as to how many American and English saloons were in Manila when the United States troops arrived and

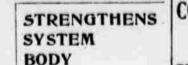

The intention of that resolution was give the impression that General Otis deliberately carried the American satoon to debauch the natives. What libet and a calumy! I'll tell you something of the saloons that were there when the American troops ar-They were stretched along the thoroughfares of Manila from end to end and the only thing sold in them was a native gin and this sold at one cent a glass.

"This stuff is the most flery tasting and most vicious in its effects of any liquor I have ever seen. Our men drank it because they had nothing else to drink; they became many of them letims of it, and I have laid away in the cold earth more than one man who has died from it. There may be more saloons now, but they are of the Amer-

"The army canteen has been established. Now, some people think of a canteen and a saloon as being the same thing. They are not. Canteens are under strict military control and nothing but beer is sold in them and we all know that it takes a lot of beer to make a man intoxicated. From the very moment that the canteens were established drunkenness began to decrease, the number of court martials become less and a better state of discipline prevailed and is prevailing

PRESENTATION OF BADGES. The badges were then presented to wo companies at a time by the following gentlemen: B and A, A. Dickson: D and F. Captain W. A. May; and L. Captain James Moir, A and Major Everett Warren. Each of these speakers made brief addresses in which they cleverly and wittily ex-pany to which they formerly belonged. The field and staff officers' badges were presented to them by Rev. Dr. S. C. Logan, the first chaplain of the regiment. His voice faltered and he almost broke down as he handed the medals to Colonel Watres, the memories of his younger days flooding up in his mind. This was probably the last military event of any importance that will be held in the old armory, as Mayor Moir stated in his address.

ADAMS AVENUE FIRE.

Started in the Double Frame Building Owned by James Chandler at 509 and 511.

One of the city's most densely built up residential districts, the 500 block of Adams avenue, was last night the scene of what, for a time, threatened to be a disastrous blaze. It started in James Chandler's double, frame, dwelling Dr. H. N. Dunnell and John Bogart.

The Bogart family left their house for the theatre, shortly after supper time. About 9 o'clock, C. E. Potter, who lives in Breck court, just to the rear, saw smoke coming from the Bogart kitchen, and, rushing over, discovered the interior to be a mass of

Box No. 25, corner of Adams avenue and Olive street, is only a block away, yet, according to the neighbors, it was twelve minutes by actual timing before an alarm was turned in. Mr. Potter says his inability to secure a caused the delay, the first several keyholders whose houses he visited being

At all events, the flames had eater their way through the rear wall of the ouse and to the rooms above the kitchen, before the Phoenix Chemical company, the first to arrive, reached the scene. A huge column of smoke was ascending skyward, and the whole neighborhood was thoroughly alarmed. A double chemical stream from the Phoenix engine, a single stream from the Nay Aug chemical and some welldirected work by the Crystals with a stop-nozzle water pipe succeeded in preventing the fire from spreading. The kitchen, on the ground floor; one bedroom and the bath room on the second floor, and the porch in the rear were badly burned, the kitchen, especially, suffering, The dining room, parlor and hallway, with all they contained, were drenched with chemical and water. The furniture, pictures, carpets and drapery are for the most part, a total loss. Water damaged Dr. Dunnell's kitchen and dining room and flooded his cellar. The flames, however, did not reach his side of the house. The origin of the fire is not known, but it is supposed some hot coals from the cooking stove fell on the floor and ignited the carpet. The center of the blaze seemed to be just in front of the stove. The losses are all covered by insurance. The new water battery was run to the fire by the Crystals, but it was not brought into service. Nothing but the warmest praise was heard for the quick responses made by the firemen and the business-like way in which they went about their work.

CONDITION OF THE PAVED STREETS

SCRANTON AT PRESENT.

Refuse Left Standing on the Principal Thoroughfares and All Day Yesterday the Dust Was Blown in Pedestrians' Eyes-Crying Demand the Streets-More Money, More Men and Proper Equipment Is Most Urgently Needed.

The condition of the paved streets in the central city and West Scranton during the past few days has been deblown in the faces of pedestrians unrefuge in street cars and stores at different intervals to avoid the dust. As soon as the street sweepers would stir the dirt the wind would carry it along in a perfect cloud for blocks, and when the wind subsided would there be any relief from the disagreeible experience. Something must be ione to abate this nuisance.

Street Commissioner Thomas is han licapped by lack of funds and insufficient men to cope with this nuisance, and cannot be blamed for existing conditions when the councils have his ands tied. In an interview with a Pribune man, the street commissioner SAVS "I do not propose to make any connired by the day. I expect to adopt the pected to keep the street clean all the $3,850, was ordered referred to the block system, where each man is ex-

It is useless to sweep the dirt in piles along the curb lines, without first sprinkling vous diseases. Those who visit the the street, as it is only scattered over the pavement again by vehicles and blown away by the wind.

When the dirt is shovelled into the wagons dry a large part of it is again scattered over the pavement before it is deposited in refuse heap. The best illustration of the block system given n this city was in force last year on Wyoming avenue, between Spruce street and Lackawanna avenue, where one man was employed by the merchants to keep the pavement clean. The residents of Jefferson avenue also adopted this method.

WANTS PRACTICE STOPPED.

Commissioner Thomas has directed a communication to the Scranton Railway company in which he requests that their employes remove the dirt which lodges in the curve rails at street corners, and instead of shovelling it onto the pavement, carry it away in carts or wagons. Heretofore the dirt has been left on the payement and invariably found its way back in the tracks again. Another notification has been served on business men and occupants of dwelling houses to discontinue the practice of sweeping the refuse from stores and houses into the street. expects them to take care of the dirt and paper in the same way ashes and garbage is cared for. To best accomplish that end and enable people to comply with the order, paper receptacles should be furnished and stationed along the principal streets. The public would soon recognize the purpose for which they are intended, and instead of throwing papers and other waste materials on the street, they would deposit the same in the recentacles.

Specially constructed covered wagons should also be used in carting away the dirt, and the police force should be instructed to arrest the owners of wagens, which permit their contents to be strewn along the street. A striking example of this was seen in Ben Johnson's vehicle, which has for years roamed about the principal streets, leaving a trail of ashes and

NO NEW SCHOOL BUILDINGS. DISGRACE TO THE CITY OF One Economy Agreed Upon by Controllers' Finance Committee.

There will be no new school buildings erected this year. The finance committee of the board of control was in session only a few minutes last night, but that was long enough for them to decide definitely on this much-mooted point. It was the intention of the committee to have an extended sexfor Better Facilities for Cleaning sion to make up its estimate and fix the tax levy, but as several of its members had to meet with the building committee, and that body unexpectedly kept going till nearly 9 o'clock, the finance committee decided to put off the work of making its report till some night next week, to be agreed upon later.

There is a possibility, which, how ever, hardly amounts to a probability plorable. All day yesterday, owing to the high winds, the dirt and dust was that it will be necessary to build an addition to the high school. If such blown in the faces of pedestrians un-til it was unbearable, and many took til it was unbearable, and many took bond issue. The likelihood, though, is that it will not be done. If the building will not accommodate the high school pupils, the training school will be transferred to some other building, and this will, it is expected, accommo date the increase in high gehool at tendance.

The plan of establishing a steam seating plant in the high school has also been put aside, the Economy Light, Heat and Power company having agreed to renew the steam heat contract at the old figure.

On the recommendation of Heating Engineer Harris, the building commit tee approved the disputed Battin & Co. bill for repairs at No. 35, for $780.51 tracts for private sweeping, but ex-pect to do all the cleaning by men $768.98.
