USED BABY AS MISSILE.

Warren P. Wells Accused of Serious Crime by William Bolask.

Warren P. Wells was Saturday arraigned before Alderman John P. Kelly at the instance of William Bolask, of Keyser Valley, who accused Wells of having seized Bolask's infant child and using it as a missile, hurled it at Mrs. Bolask, the mother. Serious injuries were inflicted on the child, and the mother also claimed to be injured. Wells was held in $500 bail at the hearing. He says the affair is much exaggerated.

Bolask is a tenant in Wells' house, and he says that last Monday Wells came to his house, looking for a certain man. Mrs. Bolask told him that the latter was not there, and Wells, it is alleged, then forced his way in. Mrs. Bolask offered a resistance, which angered him, and snatching up the child he flung it at her.

Three officers were entrusted with warrants for Wells' arrest, but he managed to evade them until Saturday.

HAVE SELECTED A HOME.

Catholic Young Women's Club Will Occupy Old Faurot House.

After investigating the availability of various locations, the Catholic Young Women's club has selected for its quarters the old Faurot house at 120 Washington avenue. The entire building has been leased and will be taken possession of as soon as it can be fitted up.

The building is composed of two parts, the old homestead in the front and the addition placed at the rear a few years ago when it was made into a hotel.

There are twenty rooms in each part. The front part will be used for club purposes and the rear as a home for domestics.

The club house will be supplied with every appropriate convenience and comfort, with special accommodations for a lunch room and recreation parlors for girls who work in the central city.

Reading and writing rooms, a bowling alley, gymnasium and games are among the features. A number of rooms for girls from out of town will be waiting for a place and after securing employment can avail themselves of the instruction in cooking, house-keeping and the like, which the school of domestic economy will afford, besides enjoying the other advantages that will be provided, similar to those to be enjoyed by the Catholic Young Women's club.

FOOT WAS AMPUTATED.

Friend Henneford, of Elmhurst, the 15-year-old boy, who on Friday, had his left foot caught and badly mangled in a wheel at Wimer's saw mill, near Elmhurst, was operated upon at the Lackawanna hospital yesterday. The foot was amputated.

The accident occurred in rather an odd manner, and as his father told yesterday to a Tribune man, another boy working in the mill, by the name of Ed Burley, was responsible for young Henneford's injuries. They were quarreling and Burley, who is the older and larger boy, threw his young opponent. The latter fell and his foot catching in the wheel, part of it was torn off.

VOTERS OF THIRD DISTRICT REPUDIATE HIM.

They Want No More of the Politician of Many Coats—Returns Indicate That Edward James, Jr., Defeated Him by More Than Nine Hundred Votes—Meeting of the Return Judges Will Be Held Tuesday Afternoon in the Arbitration Room of the Court House.

Edward James, Jr., member of the select council from the Sixth ward of this city, was Saturday selected by the Republicans of the Third district as their candidate for legislature, defeating Dr. N. C. Mackey, of Waverly, who sought a renomination. Mr. James was the Quay candidate and Dr. Mackey tried to hold up the insurgent banner. It was the first trial of the Crawford county rules in this district.

The Tribune stated Saturday that the Republicans of the Third district were determined to remove the Mackey taint from the district and they did it. The voters of what Dr. Mackey is pleased to call the malingering part of his district, remembering the disgraceful convention of two years ago at which money was so abundantly used to renominate the doctor, voted almost solidly against him, while in the county precincts where the doctor thought he was invulnerable, the honest voters of the soil decided to rebuke the methods of the politician of many coats and did it with a vengeance.

There are thirty-five voting precincts in the district and returns from twenty-eight of these which have been received and tabulated show that Mr. James received 1,781 votes and Dr. Mackey 788, giving the former a majority of 373. The districts so far heard from are:

HOLY WEEK SERVICES.

Way It Will Be Observed at St. Peter's Cathedral and St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

Yesterday, Palm Sunday, opened Holy week, the most elaborately observed of all the seasons of the church year, commencing, as it does, the passion, death and resurrection of the Savior.

At the Catholic and Episcopal churches, palm was distributed and carried by the worshippers, emulating the example of those of Jerusalem who carried out branches of palm and hennas as he rode into the city from Bethany astride an ass and made his triumphal entry into the holy city.

At St. Peter's cathedral a solemn pontifical high mass was celebrated with Bishop Hoban participating. The master of ceremonies, the benediction was given by Bishop Hoban.

Instead of being read, as in former years, the passion was chanted by Rev. J. A. O'Reilly, Rev. J. J. Loughran and Rev. D. J. MacGouldrick, the first named chanting the utterances of the Gospels, the second, the words of Christ, and the third, the words of the historian.

On Wednesday and Thursday evenings the interesting ceremony, the tenebrae, will be observed for the first time in a number of years in this parish. It consists of a representation, by chanting the office of the day and other exercises, of the incidents leading up to the crucifixion. The name tenebrae signifying darkness, is given to the ceremony from the fact that, as the candles of the blessing of the oils to be used in the administration of the sacraments during the coming year. Priests will be in attendance from all the parishes of the diocese to receive the holy oils. The blessed sacrament will be exposed for public adoration Thursday morning till Friday morning, and on Friday morning will be observed the mass of the pre-sanctified, the extra host consecrated on Thursday being used in this mass. The omission of consecration on Good Friday being typical of the Savior's death.

On Holy Saturday, the blessing of the paschal fire, water and candle will take place and the Lenten services brought to a close.

The sanctuary is stripped of its penitential garb and towards the close of the mass the joys of Easter are fore-shadowed in glad alleluias. Easter Sunday will be observed with the usual elaborate services.

At St. Luke's, during Holy week, the services will be at the following hours:

Monday, Tuesday, and Maundy Thursday, 7 a. m., 10 a. m., 12 m., 4:30 p. m.

Wednesday—7 a. m., 10 a. m., 12 m., 7:45 p. m.

Good Friday—6 a. m., 10:30 a. m., 12 m. to 3 p. m., 7:45 p. m.

Easter Even—7 a. m., 10 a. m., 12 m., 3 p. m.

Holy communion will be celebrated every morning at 7 o'clock, except Good Friday, and also at 10 o'clock a. m. Maundy Thursday there will be three celebrations of holy communion, 6, 8 and 11:30 a. m., and a morning prayer and sermon at 10:30 a. m. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon there will be the customary children's Easter festival, at which the singing of Easter carols will be a feature. At 7:30 p. m. there will be evening prayer and sermon.

ELLMAN BROUGHT TO BAY.

Or the True Story of the Revenge of Detective Seidman.

Ever since Detective Ike Seidman heard that Constable Jake Ellman was the man who had given out the information that the local Sherlock had left town, the idea of revenge has been revolving itself in Ike's fertile brain.

The climax came Saturday afternoon, when the erstwhile friends confronted each other in Alderman Miller's office, the pet of Alderman Kelly's office being arrested and held in jail on the charge of extortion and embezzlement, while "the only detective" was triumphant as the prosecutor in the case.

The hearing dealt with the case of a hotel keeper whose affairs were taken in charge some time ago by the law. When the attachments were issued wage claims were entered amounting to $211. The sale brought $184.50, which money was in Ellman's hands to be divided among the claimants. Some of the latter recently demanding their money immediately and not receiving it, the arrest followed. Ellman entered bail.

WANT MORE OF THEM.

War Department Likes the Brand of Soldiers from This Region.

"The army wants more of the kind of men that have gone out from this region. They have made a most excellent reputation and your people ought to feel proud of them." This nice compliment comes from Captain A. Wolf, who was sent to Scranton to carry out the desire of the war department, expressed in the above quotation.

That this is considered a good territory from which to recruit is further attested by the calibre of the officer assigned here, Captain Wolf graduating from West Point in 1878, and in for twenty-two years active service. The year of his graduation he was sent out as a second lieutenant in the Fourth infantry on an expedition into Mexico against Bull Knifer's Cheyennes, who had quit their reservation in Indian Territory and started north on the warpath.

The next year, he was with the Thornburg expedition in Colorado, which was ambushed by an overwhelming force of redskins and had thirty-three and one-third per cent of its men either killed or wounded in three hours, being saved from total annihilation only by the arrival of reinforcements, in the shape of a troop of the Ninth cavalry, which enabled them to carry out the expedition.

During the Spanish war, Captain Wolf was in charge of Fort Sheridan, near Chicago. January 19, 1899, he sailed from New York for Manila and arrived there March 10. The very next day he was with Major Bulb's contingent on the firing line, and from that time until the middle of July, when he fell ill and was sent to the hospital, he was in an almost continuous succession of skirmishes, in the country about Manila.

When he recovered he was sent home, and since October 25 has been doing recruiting duty. He is in command of two recruiting stations in Philadelphia when relieved to be sent to Scranton.

Common Councilman James J. Grier, the member from the Third, more widely and familiarly known as the "King of the Third," is one of the best parliamentarians in either branch of council. He knows the devious little in and outs of parliamentary practice thoroughly and always keeps the chairman and other members on their guard. He is in the chair himself once, and he knows just what the chairman can do and just what he cannot do.

One of his best known methods of procedure is the raising of points of order, when no such points exist, if he wants to block the passage of a measure. He does this in such a seriously deliberate manner and backs his contentions up with such plausible statements that he often succeeds in convincing both the chair and the members that he is right and they are wrong when the exact opposite is the case. He can talk, too, and can say about as sharp and caustic things as anybody. When he arises from his chair in the back row with his hands in his pockets, while some one else is talking, it means that there is trouble ahead. He proceeds to get the chairman's eye then and there and when he does get it means that he's going to be the next speaker, no matter what happens. And when he does talk no speaker was ever more intent upon his subject than he is. It doesn't matter if the question under consideration is only whether John Jones shall be exonerated from 57 cents tax, Mr. Grier is just as emphatic, just as vociferous and just as melodramatic as if he were speaking in the British House of Commons in opposition to a naval budget of 15,000,000 pounds sterling.

Everywhere has been heard expressions of the sincerest regret over the unfortunate accident which befell District Attorney John R. Jones, and which may confine him to the hospital for some time. That Mr. Jones has an army of solicitous friends can be attested by the local newspaper men, more often or anxiously inquired about from the reporters by the men of all classes whom they meet on their daily rounds. On every hand is heard the hope that he will soon be about again and that no serious consequences will result from his sad experience.

It is a great hardship to Mr. Jones to be confined to his bed on the eve of a term of court at which so many important cases are to be tried, and which causes him more pain and anguish than the mere physical pangs that he has suffered since the blood poison first set in, acute as these pains have been. Mr. Jones has taken a great and pardonable pride in the work he has done as the country's prosecuting attorney and it will be a matter of the

BRIEF MENTION OF MEN OF THE HOUR

THE NEW SURGEON AT LACKAWANNA HOSPITAL.

Such a Large Number of Cases Have to Be Treated There That It Was Found Necessary to Add Dr. Wunder to the Staff—Common Councilman James J. Grier, the King of the Third—Condition of John R. Jones Arouses Much Sympathy. Lieutenant Williams.

The amount of work done by the Lackawanna hospital, in caring for injured miners, laborers, and people indeed of all trades and occupations is abundantly shown in the fact that it has grown far too heavy for the two resident surgeons, Drs. Busch and Gengenbach, and a third physician was applied for. Dr. Charles W. Wunder of St. Christopher's Hospital, Philadelphia, was the man chosen for the position and as has been already told in the Tribune, has arrived and been installed in the place.

The staff is now composed entirely of graduates of the University of Pennsylvania, and oddly enough all are of the same class, having graduated together in 1899. Dr. Wunder, like his two companions, was a marked figure in athletic circles, being pitcher on the "Varsity nine" and having played against most of the big college teams, such as Harvard, Cornell, Brown, etc. He also went in for football, playing full back. He is a finely built young man, standing over six feet. On leaving college he accepted a position in St. Christopher's hospital in Philadelphia, whence Dr. Gengenbach comes and where Dr. William Weaver, formerly resident surgeon at the Lackawanna now is. The work at that institution consists almost entirely of the taking care of children, and is a marked contrast with the variegated practice at the Lackawanna.

keenest regret to him that he will not be able to take part in the trial of cases at the coming term.

Lieutenant Thomas L. Williams, of the first precinct, is one of the most popular members of the city police force, and during his ten years' service in West Scranton has won many changes both in the department and in municipal affairs. He has served with equal good grace under several mayors.

As the head of the most important sub-station in the city, Lieutenant Williams conducts the affairs of his office without fear or favor, and is not only popular with the members of his staff, but is esteemed and respected by the entire community. The younger element do not fear the guardian of the peace, because he treats them kindly, but his method of inflicting punishment is such that it has a lasting impression on youthful offenders.

No part of the city has a more efficient police service than the West Side, and this is largely due to the system he has in vogue there backed by his own rugged personality. Those who come in contact with him soon learn that they must obey the law or suffer the consequences of their misdeeds. He is a diplomat by nature, however, and can put the curb on the unruly and mischievous without allowing it to be felt too keenly.
