REAL PURPOSE OF GOM PUERTO RICAN BILL

PREVENTION IS CONSIDERED BETTER THAN CURE.

The Right to Levy a Tariff on Outlying Territory if Events Shall Prove That One Is Needed Is Secured by the Measure Recently Adopted-To Guard Against Future Contingencies.

Special Correspondence of The Tribune. Washington, April 16.-The Puerto Rican tariff bill is a law, despite every obstacle that the free trade Democracy could throw in its way. Could they have compelled the enactment of a measure establishing immediate and absolute free trade with Puerto Rico they would have had opportunity to assert that the precedent thus es-tablished must be applied to the Philippines, to Hawaii, and to any other non-contiguous territory which might subsequently come into similar relations with the United States, and that by the act of the Republican party the cheap labor of the Orient and the tropics was thus to be brought into direct competition with the workingmen and agriculturists of the United States. That was the political opportunity for which the Democrats were fighting, but they failed to accomplish

BILL AS IT STANDS.

The bill as it stands proposes to temporarily collect on goods passing from Porto Rico into the United States and from the United States into Porto Rico 15 per cent, of the regular Dingley tariff and pay into the empty treas-ury of the island every dollar so collected, this plan to continue only until the legislature of Porto Rico shall have provided local taxation sufficient to meet the necessities of the island and in no event to continue beyond March 1, 1902, after which date there is to be absolute free trade between the island and the United States.

One of the objects of a tariff upon Puerto Rico's products imported here is to establish a right to impose such a tariff in later years, should it be found necessary. This will be a precedent in our legislation for our new possessions, the Philippines. The proposed import duty-15 per cent. of the Dingley rates—is merely nominal, within 6 per cent. of free trade. Back of it is an established power and recognized authority to deal with these questions as shall seem wisest and best when we know more about the whole matter, and shall better understand the true situation with which we have to deal.

THE FUTURE SAFEGUARDED.

What Puerto Rico is today we know -what it may become ten or twenty years from now, under the influence of American capital and enterprise, we can only conjecture. Cotton may be grown there, and cotton manufac-turing might become a large industry. With cheap island labor, the product of our own northern and south-ern mills could thus be undersold. Would it be right to expose the agricultural and industrial interests of these United States to such competition? If the principle of a tariff be not now maintained, it might be difficult, if not impossible, to impose one hereafter, if it should thus become necessary. Then the Republican party would be blamed, and justly so, for its neglect to protect the interests of American citizens on the mainland. and for its lack of forethought.

It may be that the sugar yield there may grow to such an extent as to curtail the available market area for our growing beet industry. The same may be true of tobacco, of vegetables, of oranges, of rice, of hides, of hemp, and other products. It is not claimed that there is danger today. But that there is a strong probability of danger to American industries through the establishment of free trade relations with Porto Rico, as a precedent for our policy in dealing with all our outlying possessions, no one can deny, after having given the subject careful investigation. What applies to Porto Rico might be held to apply equally to other possessions, and who can say what may develop in that much larger and equally fertile area in the east, with its abundance of cheap labor. COMMON SENSE VS. SENTIMENT.

That is what we must guard against. Without a precedent, and the established right to impose a tariff upon any of the products of our island possessions, the United States may in years to come feel the effect of such lack of legislation to a very serious By the adoption of this legislation, future protection will be possible to ed against that source, or against the Philippines, or against the Danish West Indies should we acquire them. or any outlying possessions. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure, and it is best not to fix a precedent that will abolish a right which maintains our national

American interests in case it be need-
