HONESDALE.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Honesdale, April 19.-Mrs. R. Whitney and Miss Neille G. Kimble spent Thursday in Scranton.

Miss Edith Decker is entertaining her cousin and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Brown, of Pine Bush, N. Y. A Spinster convention will be held in the Presbyterian chapel Tuesday evening, April 24.

The lovers of opera will be pleased to learn that Manager Silverstone has completed arrangements with the "Andrews Opera company" to appear in the Honesdale Opera house, Saturday evening, April 21, in a production of "Martha," with thirty-five artists and a chorus of twenty.

An exciting runaway took place this morning. A team of horses pelonging to Peter Hertzog, of Cherry Ridge, while standing on the weigh scales, hitched to a load of coal, took fright at a passing locom rive, and broke away from the driver, dashing madly up the sidewalk in front of the old coal office. They collided with a tree, where they left the wagon and harness badly wrecked. Freed from the wagon they continued up Front street. In front of Hotel Wayne one horse fell, and they were brought to a stop without doing further damage.

A Republican conference for the Fifteenth congressional district will be held at Susquehanna, Saturday, April

The Crystal Literary and Dramatic club of Scranton gave a splendid entertainment in the opera house Tuesday evening. They proved themselves to be capable amateurs.

The coal weighing office has been transferred to the office formerly occupied by Superintendent L. O. Rose. The weighmaster, Charles Crandall, has served as weighmaster for forty years. The office vacated will be removed to the south end of the coal pockets, to be used as an office by Yardmaster George W. Penwarden.

be experienced. He must be sure his converts are converted. The great drawbacks to the church today are church members who are un-converted and modern evangelists who sprinkle rose water too freely and talk too continuously about the love of God. We need the preaching of the will and drawing nature of an and the of the guilt and damning nature of sin and the certainty of eternal hell for the impenitent to arouse men's consciences.

It has never been the belief of Methodists that merely holding a hand as high as one's ears or signing a card with one's name makes a convert. We never believed that these are religion. I've known of so-called revivals where hundreds of people sterned cards, but not one in hundreds of people signed cards, but not one in a hundred of whom a month afterward could be found to be attending a church anywhere. Another indispensable requisite to the model minister is that he must be a holy man. That does not mean a holy terror, nor a perfect critic. What you are, will determine what you accomplish, more than what you attempt. The ministry is a most jealous profession. Give yourself wholly to this work. This does not mean lectures at $25 a night nor writing for newspapers and magazines The model minister is the man who makes the pulpit the throne of his power. I would not derogate from his pasteral work but in this day of educational advantages there is no excuss for the intellectual weakling. It is imperative for the intellectual weakling. It is imperative that you reach your highest possibilities. Read great books, the strong books. Prepare your sermons with faithful care. Write a great deal for the first fifteen years, not hastily but carefully, their leave your sermon at home, and go into the pulpit and deliver it. Speak so as to be heard, and then win souls. Don't scream. Don't mumble, don't whisper.

The model minister is also a genuine Christian believer. It is not at all probable that God will

It is not at all probable that God will ever call any of these young men to form a new reed for a news one would be a falsehood. ninister, if he is a wise man, he will believe his elief and doubt his doubts. He will preach his beliefs and keep still about his doubts. The model minister doesn't try to find a few bits of chaff in many bushels of wheat. He deals out the wheat. Not all the philosophers nor all the divines have brought forward one thing in connection with the world's good that has not the germ at least in the words of Jesus and writings the apostles. Use your Bible as trustfully as the Master did and you needn't be afraid of going astray. He never said one word to indicate that he was concerned as to whether Moses wrote all the Pentateuch or not. In closing, Bishop Foss advised tile young mitsters to be good pastors and said impress ively, "I hear now, when the snows that never melt are gathering on my head the words 'Comfort yet, comfort ye,' no against harshness and Members of the Class.

He read a resolution which provided for a commission of four persons, ministerial or lay, to take charge of the publication and business of the Northern Christian Advocate: to elect an editor and fix his salary, and to report to general conference the condition of the finances all profits to be turned into the book concern. Bishop Foss pronounced the benedic tion, and the session adjourned. The afternoon session opened with devotional exercises, conducted by Rev.

Stephen Jay and J. S. Thomas. Rev. J. C. Leacock presided over the business session. Rev. Ray Allen and A. W. Broadway spoke in the interests of the Silver Lake School of Conference studies, urging the attendance of theological students at that summer school.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to the annual missionary sermon, delivered by Rev. H. B. Benedict, from the text in Matt., 24:14. The sermon was well delivered and was one of much interest. It was heard by a large congregation. The evening session was devoted to the Church Extension society, and Dr. M. S. Hard was chief of proceedings. Rev. Samuel Moore, D. D., offered prayer; Rev. C. M. Surdam conducted the responsive reading. Rev. A. W. Hayes, D. D., gave an excellent address on "Church Extension the Genius of Christianity." Rev. Dr. J. M. King, of New York, gave a brilliant address on "The Relation of the Methodist Church Exten sion to American Civilization." Rev. Dr. Hard followed with a characteristic address, which he called "Does It Pay?" He gave much valuable information regarding the work in which he is so greatly interested. Rev. William Edgar pronounced the Wall Street Review.

New York, April 19.—Bosiness on the Stock exchange today lapsed into a condition of dull-ness and abundonment to the operations of small professional traders. Much angry recrimination continues to be heard on all sides concerning the bear raid on the iron and steel stocks. Not "nly in the stock market but in the iron trade as well accusations of bud faith and double dealing are bandled about. All other authorities in the trade disagree with the views of Chairman Gates, of the American Steel and Wire company, but the Iron Age says in its review of the subject, "No sharp tumble in values is expected unless this development in the wire trade should produce such an effect." It is the reservation thus expressed that has so effectually upset the speculative world. Dealers in securities kept one eye on the iron and steel stocks all day and the erratic and irregular movements in that group kept the whole market in a feverish and uncertain state. When pressure there was relaxed there was a disposition manifest to mark up prices elsewhere, but the burden of selling met on the advance gave an appearance of a desire to realize on an extensive scale, and took the snap out of the market. On the other hand the majority of stocks offered decreased materially on any considerable decline giving an undertone of firmness to prices. Notable strength was shown at one time by the Baltimore and Ohio stocks and Southern Pacific suffered from decided weakness. The one movement had about as much effect on the general list as the other. The sharp advance in metals which followed the declines after the opening was accompanied by a rise late in the day to the best prices. But when these stocks and sugars gave way the whole list followed and the closing was active and easy considerably below the best. Sugar after sellingi up as high as 108%, closed at a net loss of 2 points. The news of the day was generally ignored. It included a number of strong statements of carnings for the second week in April, especially by soft co
