EVENTS OF DAY IN WEST SCRANTON

BEAUTIFUL PICTURES OF KALOS PLEGAN UNFOLDED.

Production Given in Mears' Hall Which Completely Captivated an Immense Audience-Excellent Concert in Plymouth Church-P. O. S. of A. Entertainment and Smoker. Arrangements for the Dewey Day Labor Demonstrations on Farr's Heights-Funeral of Mrs. Mary J. Williams-Other Notes.

The most elaborate patriotic and spectacular performance ever attempted by amateurs in this city was pre-sented in Mears' hall last evening beore an audience that completely filled the spacious room, and created such an excellent impression that its repetition this evening will undoubtedly attract another such assemblage. three solid hours several hundred young people occupied the stage, which was entirely to small to allow of a proper production of the beautiful actions of "Kajos Plegan."

The performance was given under the auspices of the young people of the Washburn Street Presbyterian church Bible school, for the benefit of the parsonage fund, and most of the credit is due Miss Sara A. Jones, who lirected the entire production. To attempt to fully describe the many numbers would require unlimited space, as the performance should be seen to be appreciated.

The little girls drilling and singing with their dolls, young women marching and young men performing the manual of arms, together with the posing, tableaus, music, recitations etc., were delightful surprises to the spectators and worthy of any professional performers. Possibly the only criteism that might be made is that several of the numbers are too long drawn out and could be shortened without marring the beauty and pic-turesqueness of the performance.

The "Feast of Roses," "May Day Fete," "Vestal Virgins," "Charge of the Light Brigade," "Viviandiers" and "Minute Men" deserve especial mention, and the grand patriotic was the crowning feature of the entertainment. During the latter Gertrude Phillips recited "Old Glory" and Bessie Sloat gave "The Star Spangled Banner" with dramatic effect. Master Willard Jones sang "The Flag That Has Never Known Defeat" and Miss Maud Weatherhog bore the national colors with much grace and dignity. The closing tableaux was a beautiful spec-

AN EXCELLENT CONCERT. One of the best concerts ever given West Scranton was attended by a fair-sized audience in Plymouth Conpregational church last evening. A. B. ynon presided and made a short introductory address. The opening numher. "Tell Me Thou Pretty Bee," by Protheroe, was sung by a quartette, Misses Phoebe Smith and Sadie Edwards, David Stephens and Philip H Warren, with fine effect and received merited applause,

David Stephens followed with a tenor solo, "Thine," which was sung in his usual clever style, and Miss Cora Griffin recited "Fate of Virginius." was encored and gave a clever rendition of "Quo Vadis." Miss Smith and Mr. Warren sang a pleasing duet, "I Live and Love Thee," and Miss Edwards rendered an alto solo, "Will He Come," in a manner that elicited much from the audience. William Roberts sang a bass solo in fine voice and faultless manner. A violin, mandolin and banjo trio, by Peter, Ralph and Roy Haan was encored and they played another pleasing number.

Mr. Warren opened the second part of the programme with a clever rendition of "The Dawn of Redemption" and Miss Griffin recited "Old Glory," and received a well merited encore. W. F. Jones, a pupil of Dr. Mason's, sang a solo, "If I Were a Rose," which showthat he possesses a fine voice of excellent quality. Miss Smith's rendition of "There Is a Green Hill Far Away" was encored and she sang another pleasing number. The duet, "Adieu," by Miss Edwards and Mr. Jones was excellently rendered, and the three Haans played another selection, which was encored.

The quartette sang "Good Night Boas the closing number, which was rendered with pleasing effect. The concert was given under the direction of Tallie M. Evans, who deserves much credit for the excellent programme furnished.
