LIVE NEWS OF THE

So far as retail buying is concerned the dull season in the anthracite coal trade is fairly on, with little movement to be expected before late summer. Of wholesale buying, however, there is considerable. At Boston the low ocean freights and the knowledge that the large concerns are in a position to advance prices later is leading to buying, and quite a bit of coal is going forward to points east of Cape Cod. At New York trade, both wholesale and retail, is quiet.

In the West there is little activity at the head of the lakes or in Chicago territory. The lake freights obtainable for return cargoes just now are thought so favorable, however, that there is large movement of coal from Buffalo. The movement is not in response to any immediate needs, but buyers at points up the lakes are laying in supplies to avoid the possibility of getting caught this year as they were last fail. There is also a fair movement to inland points through the canals,

The Iron Market.

The market is still a waiting one surchasers generally holding off in expectation of the general fall in prices which certain parties are industriously predicting. Some decreases are probable, but there are no signs as yet of any heavy break. Bessemer pig is firm flames. The fire was a fierce one, but still; foundry iron is weaker in the West, though Southern farnacemen are very firm in their views, and are supported by the active inquiry for export. in finished material there are few signs of a break.

PECKVILLE.

On Saturday morning, miners at the Grassy Island mine of the Delaware and Hudson company discovered that a plie of refuse coal at the foot of : plane near the main gangway was on fire. A fire brigade was at once or ganized and under the direction of the mine foreman commenced fighting the after a few hours' hard labor the flames were thought to have been placed under control. But later Saturday evening it was discovered that the flames had again started up, and gang of men were again called to fight the flames. It was nearly midnight before they again gained control of the fire. A close watch will be kept on the place at present, for fear that In reporting the death of Mr. Jesse
