ATLANTIC LEAGUE.

Scranton yesterday received its first defeat of the season, being defeated at Elmira, by all around better playing on the part of the New Yorkers. Reading easily defeated Jersey City, and if Scranton loses today and Fleischman's men win, the two teams will be tied for first place. Elmira is now in sixth place, as the result of Jersey City's defeat and Allentown's downfall at the hands of the Wilkes-Barre players. The averages follow:

A good way to discourage a team.

The members of the Pittsburg ball team acc ed in batting so far in the season by big Hom Wagner, who, in thirteen games, has made twen-ty-five safe hits, and has an average of .481. Ely is the lowest regular player, having only batted Ato in thirteen games. Chief Zimmer, who has caught in eleven games, has a fielding average of .988, and Center Fielder Beaumont, in thirteen games, has fielded .962.

William J. Goeckel, the ex-Wilkes-Barre first aseman, in speaking of the Barons, gives as his opinion that the team, on the whole is a good one. The outfield, he thinks, is a very strong one, being made up of especially good batsmen, and the infield is also very able, with the ex-ception of the first base position, where he hinks Colliflower is rather awkward and novicelike. With practice, however, he believes this can be overcome, and the ex-National leaguer's sitting powers ought to keep him on the team.

In regard to the assertion made in one of the Scranton papers that the local team is composed of gentlemanly players, the Wilkes-Barre Daily News makes the following amiable remark: "Yes, Second Baseman O'Brien is a gentleman-nit." O'Brien is a hard working, aggressive player, with nothing of the dirty ball tosser in his composition. He is captaining the team, and, alhough his emphatic championing of the men's rights has already led to a couple of differences with the umpire, he has done nothing to warrant the above ill-natured comment.

Brownies in Fairyland.

Palmer Cox's "Brownies in Fairyland" was esented at the Lyceum last night by a number presented at the Lyceum last high by a humber of local young people as a benefit for St. David's church of West Seranton. Nearly one hundred performers, mostly children, took part in the production, which was in three scenes as follows: "Garden of Queen Flora in Fairyland," "Fairy Dell at Sunset. The second scene was devoted to several choruses and Miss Bessie Slote gave two recitations which evoked very hearty ap-plause. A "Good Night" chorus by a band of little tots so pleased the audience that it in-sisted upon having the cherus repeated. The music was by an orchestra consisting of Miss Morten, John Morton, Mrs. John Rooker, Mrs. Thomas Beck, George Hill and W. E. House, The performance will be repeated this afteroon and evening.

"The cosy Whitney Grand opened last evening to admit a crowd that filled the house to the doors to see Madame Neuville and her son, Augustin Neuville, and a strong supporting company in "The Boy Tramp." They have the strongest company this season that they have ever brought to Detroit. The play is much improved. It ran through last evening without a hitch and was loudly applauded. Young Neuville was the same clever young actor as of yore, and was given an ovation. Madame Neu-ville as Mildred Earlston is more than satisfactory. This is a difficult part to handle; she has it intelligently interpreted. In some of the most exacting scenes she rises to a plane that is

"The Christian."

And in the present instance an additional interest as given to the play by the fact that the novelist himself has embodied in it those gleanings from the book which he considered most suitable for the

He has preserved in the play the predominating tone of the book, but in compliance with the clamor of the multitude has given it the "happy ending" that the book locks. The story is to well known to need re-telling. With the exception that in the last act John Storm is left happy with Glory instead of being torn by an infuriated and fanatical mob, as in the book, and one other, the essential festures of the play and the book are practically identical.
