HAHNEMANN HOSPITAL FAIR.

Opens Today at the Residence of Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Boies. The preparations for the Hahnemann hospital fair are rapidly nearing completion. Yesterday was a busy one among the contributors and their friends, as all articles were to be sent to the residence of Colonel and Mrs. H. M. Boies for marking and placing. It will be a beautiful sight when the doors are thrown open to the public today. The splendid rooms, the big conservatories, the flowers, the tastefully decorated booths and the thousand and one attractions which will then be evident will keep the visitor busy for hours. No one will want to miss a glimpse into this modern Paradise, even if it does take up a portion of circus day.

The monologue entertainment to be given by Miss Louise Karr, of Hartford, tonight in the parlors of Colonel Boies' residence will be the greatest attraction of the week.

Several inquiries made yesterday brought out the fact that a wrong impression prevails concerning admittance to the Hahnemann hospital fatr and festival. There will be no charge whatever for admission to the house or different booths of the fair. There will be the triffing charge of ten cents for adults and five cents for children for a visit to the conservatories.

Or. Edward Reyer tertainments in the evening will ticket, but those who do not care to ticket, but those who do not care to avail themselves of these can find avail themselves of these parts of Admission to the drawing-room enplenty of amusement in other parts of the house without charge. The open billiard room, with opportunity to play various games, will be one of the attractions.

> One of the special features of interst at the Hahnemann hospital fair, which opens this afternoon, will be the department devoted to the exhibition dolls and dolls' furniture, dresses. etc., which is in charge of a commit tee of ladies, of which Mrs. J. W. Coolidge is chairman. This exhibition is one of the most elaborate ever seen in Scranton, and will be well worth examining, whether one wishes to purchase or not. The doll booth will undoubtedly be one of the chief attractions of the fair, and will be admired by all lovers of the beautiful and artistic of more mature years, as well as by the little folks.

The Poplar Street Fence.

Judge Archbald, yesterday sitting in equity, entered upon the hearing of the case of the Northern Coal and Iron company and the Delaware and Hudson Canal company, lesses, ergainst the City of Scranton. This is the suit in which the ownership of the Poptar street crossing is in question.

Last spring, when the Bolt and Nut company began the erection of its plant, on the extension of Poplar street, to the west of the Delaware and Hudson tracks, the railread company caused the crossing to be fenced up, with a view, as practically admitted by the company, of shouldering on some other party the expense of maintaining a watchman there if the crossig was to be open.

The fence was erected under a claim of title to the land. The city ignored the claim, relaid the crossing planking and tore down the fence. The company again removed the planking and re-erected the fence, and again the city tore it down. The company then went into court and secured a preliminary injunction preventing the city from interfering with the maintenance of the fence, and once more the fence was raised. The preliminary injunction was later dissolved, and once more the fence was razed and the crossing re-Inia.

Yesterday the question came up for final hearing on the injunction petition. The company was represented by ex-Judge W. H. Jessup and W. H. Jessup, Associated with City Solicitor A.

A. Vosburg were ex-Judge H. A. Knapp and C. H. Welles, the latter two appearing in the interests of the Bolt and Nuc company and the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company.

The plaintiff makes the claim that its predecessor, the Howard Coal and Iron company, by right of eminent domain, in 1866 entered upon the tract of which the land covered by the crossing was a part, and having been in continuous and sole possession of it up to the time of the attempt to put in the crossing. owns it now in fee simple, and can control it like any other portion of its private right of way.

The city contends that Poplar street was plotted in 1866 by the Lackawanna Iron and Coal company and that it was replotted in 1871 and 1887, as maps of those dates will show. In answer to this, the company says that the Lack awanna Iron and Coal company could not do any replotting of Poplar street across the tracks after 1866, because it had nothing there to replot, the Howard Coal and Iron company having come into possession of that particular

The city also makes the argument that the crossing has been used as part of a public highway for a great many years, since 1890 at least, being used frequently by pedestrians and oc-bit of land in 1866.

easionally by wagons. In direct contradiction to this, Super intendent C. R. Manville testified that up to 1892 or 1893 the company maintained a fence along its right of way blocking off Poplar street, but allowed The Great Atlantic and it to go to decay. Depositions to the same effect by the late R. W. Kellow who was trackmaster for the company for many years, were read. The plaintiff closed its side of the case late in the afternoon, and the city | Yerk for England today

EXPLANATION OF

REV. GIDEON HAMMOND LEC-TURED IN GUERNSEY HALL.

Explained the Principles, Practices and Purposes of the Christian Catholic Church of Zion-Said That if Mrs. Boyd Is Arrested Every Dollar of the Church's Finances Will Be Used in Her Defense if Necessary-Said It Was No Wonder Mrs. Newell Died.

The principles, practices and purpo ses of the Christian Catholic church were last night expounded upon in Guernsey hall by Rev. Gideon Ham-mond, of Philadelphia, an elder in this new belief of which Rev. John Alexander Dowie, of Chicago, is the head. This is the church to which belongs Mrs. Boyd, who, with others, was found responsible for the death of the late Mrs. C. F. Newell, of Throop, by a coroner's jury on Tuesday night. Mrs. Boyd was present at 🗘 last night's meeting.

In beginning his remarks, Rev. Mr. Hammond, who is a short, dapper gentleman, full of nervous energy and evidently a sincere believer in the tenets of this faith, stated that his main purpose in coming to this city was to render Mrs. Boyd assistance in case it should be needed. He said | Q that the devil might put it into the heads of certain people to unjustly prosecute Mrs. Boyd.

If he did, the prosecutors would have | the whole church to encounter, he said, not only its numbers but its financial resources as well. "If this woman is arrested." said he, "every dollar at present in the treasury of the church will be used to fight the case, if necessary."

For the purpose of showing that the church has financial resources, he casually remarked that it had just purchased 6,000 acres of land in Chicago, worth $1,000,000. TITLE OF THE CHURCH.

The title of the church, he said, is The Christian Catholic Church in Zion." By Zion is meant all the children of God who are preparing for the coming of Jesus Christ. The church BECAUSE is, of course, a mere part of Zion, but destined in time to encompass it "The principles of this church," he said, "are simply the word of God. Olesa BluszisPriceburg make this claim, but their followers only pretend that they abide by the word of God. Christian Science believers maintain that that faith is built upon the Bible, but it is not When the Bible is held up by Mrs Eddy it is merely a blind, for Christan Science and the Bible do not harmonize.' The three main principles of the church, he explained, are salvation, healing and holy living. The diving healing feature is the one that brings this religion into prominence, he said, but it was authorized by the Bible. "The other Christian denominations don't believe in a whole Savior," he said, "they believe in a Savior that with the big debt which Commissioner be paid out of the real estate left to leaves the healing of the body to John P. Quinnan is to make report the mother. a whole Savior who heals the soul. pirit and body. By holy living, he said, is meant cholesome living, and that's the kind of living the Christian Catholic church insists that its members shall abide "This whole world," said he. "needs a general cleaning up in the matter of getting right with our neighbors and of truly repenting of our sins before God and there's a great big scrubbing brush in this church and the general overseer uses it freely, To lead a truly holy life one must live consistently with the teachings of the word of God." Regarding the practice of the religion, he said that the Bible is the sole guide. There is a strict discipline, also, which many Christian churches are in need of today. In answer to the question, "How did the establishment of this church come about" he said:

WORK NOT BEING DONE. "God saw that there was a work ot being done in this world; that there was a need of the preaching of the gospel of true repentance and of divine healing. He accordingly took hold of a man, as perfect a one as he could find; a man who is endowed with many wonderful gifts and who is not a great hideous imposter; who isn't rolling in wealth and who isn't

Regarding the church's practice of gathering money he said that the members merely pay certain tithes every year, though what is done with the money he didn't explain. The house to house visitation system and the great care which the church takes of its members were also dwelt upon. At this point he again referred to the Newell case. "The devil may lead some fools to arrest Mrs. Boyd," he said, "but the more I investigate this case the more firmly I am convinced that it was no small wonder that the woman died when we take into consideration her gross negligence before the child was born. It was, indeed, small wonder that she died. Referring to cases of divine healing he said: "This religion does not exist in theory, but in real actualities. I have seen cases of consumption cured I have seen the eating process lignant cancers stopped and I have seen the diseased parts head merely as the result of prayer." Another thing that the church was critcised for, he said, was its antagonism to secret societies of all kinds. These, especially Free Masonry, he characterized as being un-Christian and anti-Christian. PURPOSE OF CHURCH. The purpose of the Christian Catho-He church," said he, "is to keep everlastingly at it. Zion has in all probability come into Scranton to stay. Wherever it gains a foothold there is remains, and it seems to thrive better wherever there is opposition. The purpose is to extend the gospel of salvation, of healing and of holy living to every quarter of the globe and to teach everybody the inconsistency of going to Christ to heal the soul and to the drug stores and doctors to cure the Mrs. Boyd made a few remarks after Rev. Mr. Hammond had finished. She said that she did not lead Mrs. Newell into the church, the latter having become a member several months before she herself became one.
