OLD FOLKS CONCERT WAS SPLENDID SUCCESS.

Patronized by a Large Audience at Plymouth Congregational Church. The Features of the Event-Funerals of Mrs. Lewis and Joseph Clark-Two Boys Injured, One at Work, the Other at Play-Debate in St. Brenden's Council a Draw. Other Shorter News Notes.

The much-talked-of and oft-postponed old folks' concert under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Eynonassisted by the members of their respective Sunday school classes was presented at the Plymouth Congregational church last evening to a large and well pleased audience. The participants were attired in some of the most outlandish costumes possible, and the songs and choruses, were one exception, were selections of by-gone days, although they never fail to please the most critical listener. The one exception was an up-to-date ragtime ditty about "Ginger Lou," a descendant from the Zulus.

"The Star The opening chorus, Spangled Banner," was rendered by the entire company and Edward Davis, the time-beater, announced the different numbers on the programme with appropriate introductions. The first was a banjo solo by Zachary Davis, who appeared in black face and this was followed by a timid malden who sang in a faltering voice, "Coming Thro the Rye." The singer was Miss Jennie Davis, who possesses a sweet voice. Her effort was appreci-

William Phillips rendered a pleasing solo and had the assistance of the rest of the singers in the chorus rendition. Miss Maybelle Parsons made a capital speech in behalf of Woman's Rights and was liberally applauded. The worldly song about "Ginger Lou," as sung by Tom Stephens, caught the assemblage, and when the concert was over many were heard humming or whistling the catchy air. He sings well and was made up to the limit of latter day coondom.

Miss Sadie Edwards, the contralto singer, attired in a very becoming costume, sang about "Grandma's Advice." and while the selection was appropriate, many were disappointed in not having an opportunity to hear her to better advantage. While the Smoky Hollow band was putting on Bauer's parade coats and helmets the women folks sang about "Scotland's Burning," and Miss Gertrtude Hughes sweetly rendered the English version of "Meutra Given" from the Songs of

The players outrivalled the famous "So-See' band of Forepaugh's circus, as far as personal appearance and discordant notes were concerned. Occasionally one could recognize a stray note in the selections rendered. One of the musicians looked like a

Both acquitted themselves creditably.

Ben Eynon spoke his little piece about 'Polly Perkins" in a mechanical manner and the band essayed to play 'Juanita." but they were interrupted by the time-beater. Mrs. David Morgans sang a solo in fine voice and responded to an encore with a popular ballad, entitled "Dear Old Daddy." The concert terminated with the rendition of "America" by the chorus and band, The participants served frozen milk to many purchasers after the performance, and the treasury of the church is enriched several dollars as a result of such a unique undertaking.

Peter, the 6-year-old son of Dom nick Walsh, of 931 Scranton street, fell from a pile of lumber in Ansley's lumber yard yesterday afternoon and sustained a fracture of the right leg between the knee and ankle. He was carried to the West Side hospital where the injured member was set. James, the 14-year-old son of Jame Wale, of Swetland street, was badly injured about the legs yesterday by being struck by a runaway mule while at work in the Diamond mine. Dr. Reynolds is attending him.

The members of St. Brendan council Young Men's Institute, held an interesting debate last evening in their rooms over Jenkins' drug store, and the question under discussion was of general interest. The subject was, "Resolved, That the city of Scranton should control its water supply and electric light plant."
