PLACE OF THE CHILD IN THE RELIGION OF HIS PARENTS.

English Sermon by Rev. D. F. Jones in the Tabernacle Congregational Church-Anniversary of Epworth League Chapters-Disastrous .Fire on Eynon Street-Aged Lady Injured in a Runaway-Funerals of Mrs. John Muir and Margaret O'Connell-Other Notes and Personals.

Rev. D. P. Jones, pastor of the Tabmacle Congregational church, preached an English sermon last evening to a large audience on "The Place of the Child in the Religion of His Parents," taking his text from I Samuel, 28th verse, "I have granted him unto the Lord, as long as he liveth. He is granted unto the Lord." The discourse was an able effort and was given in a logical and instructive manner Rev. Jones spoke, in part, as follows:

It was not the theology that the parent had that made Samuel to love the temple of the Lord and to be a boy of great real towards the religion of his father and mother, but it was religion of his target and money, but it was the good feeling that existed between his pa-rents and the law of God, the duty of prayer and of the habit of going to the mouse of the Lord. Samuel came to teel God first in the place that he had in the religion of his parents, and from that feeling he came in know God himself in his the and in the work of His Grace upon his ite.

POWER OF A CHILD'S LOVE.

I don't mean to say that children are born. Christians. On the other hand I can't say that Christians. On the other hand 1 can't say to they are been devise, but they are been to be what they have a will to be in regard to the'r characters, and while they will have a place in the religion of their parents, that means the religion of thrist, while growing to be boys and irls, men and women. They have had what find means for them to have the their fathers and mothers while at home under the cure of their love and faithfulness. The loving power that loss in the nature of the child should be cultivated first of all by all parents. Nature first, then towards the ander-standing and the grace of God. Train them to have "flowely edifferent" and to be kind to old people, and you'll find that the great power of love that have in his nature will develop into hundrebe and the greace of God. have by their fathers and mothers while at home knowledge and the grace of God.

VALUE OF A CHILD.

Our great feacher knew the value of a child, when He reluked His disciples. Some people be lieve that the child should be left without tak ing part in nov form of religion until the child could decide his own form of rolligion from the Bible. No use but God Himself knows when a child comes to a state of mind that enables him to feel and to love to some extent the power of the religion that dwells in the life t his parents. Therefore, let the child have his place in the religion of his father and mother as soon as pos-sible. The Lord has a way to talk with a child and all great people are delighted to talk with small children. Every father and mother should be religious, because the home is the kenynote of life to the child. The child that has no place in the religion of his parents has a very bad chance to start out into the world that is full of rell, It is possible and very natural for a child to be converted at his mother's knee and never to know the time when he did not have the Saviour. While we believe that the place the child may in the religion of his parents cannot save the child apart from his own will, yet it is ou duty to help God in 11's holy spirit to save them Let us all try to do our best in this way. EPWORTH LEAGUE ANNUAL.

The eleventh anniversary of the establishment of the Epworth League in America was generally observed throughout Christendom yesterday.and the local chapters in the Hampton Street and Simpson Methodist Episcopal churches held special exercises in their respective churches last evening. The programmes were rendered instead of the regular preaching service and at both edifices large audinces assembled and participated in the observance.

Rev. James Benninger presided at the gathering in Hampton street church, and the exercishes were opened with the singing of "Loyalty to Christ," the Epworth League hymn which is rendered as the opening selection at all meetings of this organization. Prayer was offered by the pastor and the congregation united in singing "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name." Miss Abbie Hancock read an interesting paper on "The History of the Local Chapter," and Misses Anna my work about the house, and, in fact Bennett and Laura Stubblebine sang pleasing duct.

Mrs. A. J. Boyce presented a timely paper, showing "How the League Can Help the Pastor in His Work," and Help the Pastor in His Work," and me so highly that I got them at Mat-the church choir, under the direction thews Bros. drug store. A strong and logical the treatment and took six boxes alto-paper on "What Should Be the Highest Aim of the Epworth League" was presented by Miss Dalsy Nash, which was followed by a duct by Mrs. J.

Warren and Miss Anna Lester. After a few remarks by the pastor, the States. exercises were brought to a close with the singing of the doxology and benediction A large audience assembled at the Simpson church to enjoy the anniversary exercises last evening, but owing to the oppressive heat the programm.

was considerably shorter than originally intended. The services were augmented by special vocal and instrumental music by Ralph Williams, soloist: William Stanton, cornetist; William Allen, violinist, and Charles Doersam, organist. Walter Northup presided, and Louis Jones conducted the inging.

Vice-President Pease read the report of the Simpson chapter, for the past year, which showed a substantial instroyed. sease both numerically and financially, and Miss Margaret Crawford submitted the report of the junior work. Rev. J. B. Sweet spoke of the good work being done by the league, and commended the organization for their noble efforts among the young people during the years of its existence. He said he purposed delivering a sermon in the near future on the league's motto.

Rev. Sweet added that he has found the organization most helpful in connection with his own work, and exmost heartfelt thanks and grateful appreciation for the help given him, and prayed that greater opportunities may be offered for carrying on he work. The chairman announced that William Denman will lead the next meeting of the chapter and de-FOR SALE BY ALL DEALERS. Iver a talk on "The Power of Tem-perance Life." The evening's exercises

FIRE ON EYNON STREET.

The large frame dwelling house on Eynon street, occupied by the families of Alex. Phillips and Evan Jones, was s counted. ompletely destroyed by fire at 10 o'clock Saturday night, and the properties of Mrs. Charles Hadley and Mrs.

John Morgan adjoining were badly damaged. A large barn and several ton street. outbuildings in the rear of the Phillips-Jones property were also de-

The fire was caused by the overturnng of a lamp, while the occupants of house were absent. From what ould be learned, a dog kept in the house was responsible for the conflagration. The supposition is that the animal pulled the table cloth and upset the lamp. The animal was burned to death. Before the firemen reached the scene, the building was a seething mass of flames, and their efforts were mainly directed to saving the adjoining property

The first alarm brought out the Columbias, Franklins and Eagles, and the Hooks and Centurys responded to a cond alarm. Owing to a lack of water ressure the firemen were greatly handicapped at the outset. The damages to the Hadley and Morgan properties vill amount to about $500. Messrs. Phillips and Jones estimate their loss at about $4,500, which is partly covered by insurance. The house was built many years ago by the late Jeremiah
