CONVENTION AT BROOKLYN. Interesting Sessions Held in the Universalist Church.

beelal to the Scranton Tribun Brooklyn, Pa., May 15,-The Young People's Christian union convention and 13, was very successful, both in the number of delegates and in the spirit of its meetings.

A short business session Saturday norning was followed by dinner, served by the young ladies of the Brooklyn union, and a pleasant social hour.

The afternoon sessions consisted of the business of the convention, and address of welcome by Mrs. Eldridge and response by Rev. J. Herrich; reports from the five unions, Nicholson, Scranton, Gibson, Kingsley and Brooklyn, all of which were encouraging; and very interesting discussions brought and inflicting a gash in which it was forth by the question box and a paper by J. L. Tiffany relating to methods of work in local unions, state work and other topics of interest. Resolutions were adopted in which the convention took a strong position in favor of temperance, Christian citizenship, of loyalty to the State and National unions, and expressed joy at the acceptance of our principles-the fatherhood of God and brotherhood of man-by those of other churches.

Saturday evening, after a short service of song and prayer, the delegates from the several unions gave a very creditable entertainment, consisting of songs, essays and recitations.

Sunday morning, Dr. N. S. Sage ad-dressed the young people in a very able manner. A session of Sabbath school was held.

At 7 p. m. a devotional meeting was led by Wade Barnes. An inspiring service of sentence prayer was engaged in by the young people. "Our Church, Its History and Possibilities," was the subject of many excellent remarks. At 8 o'clock Mr. A. J. Donley, of the Scranton union, spoke to the unioners in an earnest manner. The weather was all that could be wished, and everyone seemed to enjoy every moment of the convention.

PROSPECTS IN SULLIVAN.

Large Industrial Enterprises Under Way in the County.

Special to the Scranton Tribune. Towanda, May 15 .- The neighboring county of Sullivan has flattering prospects of large industrial enterprises. It is gone out that Jennings Brothers, of Lopez, will widen their railroad to a standard gauge and put on two new engines, in order to haul their timber from the tract recently purchased in Wyoming county. It will take at least six years to cut the timber from this large tract.

FOREST CITY.

Special to the Scrauton Tribune. Forest City. May 15 .- In the Northern Oratorical league contest, held recently between six western colleges, George W. Maxey, of Forest City, represented the University of Michigan and won high honor for his treatment of his subject and his polished and effective delivery. The subject he chose was "Webster's Reply to Hayne, Mr. Maxey was awarded third place, although a great proportion of those present were pronounced in the opinion that the Northwestern, which won should have been placed third, and that the real contest lay between Michigan and Wisconsin (which was second), with the odds somewhat in favor of the former. The Daily Cardinal, of Madison, Wis., said: " "Webster's Reply to Hayne,' an oration by George W. Maxey, was regarded by some as the winning oration. Mr. Maxey seemed calm and collected; his voice was clear as well as strong; his articulation good. He used few gestures, but those used were exceedingly graceful. His oration gave an impressive portrayal of Webster, together with a striking description of the times before the war of secession. With the balance apparently trembling between Michigan and Wisconsin, the announcement of the Northwestern's victory came unexpect. edly to the audience." The sentiment of a partisan audience was largely in favor of Mr. Maxey. His marking by the judges was something of which to be proud, even as it was, and he has brought credit to his university and confirmed the opinions of his friends as to his oratorical ability. Mr. and Mrs. Theron Horton have held in the Universalist church, May 12 returned home from Dunmore, where they have been spending the past three ceks as the guest of their son, Ernest
