SUICIDE OF A SLAV.

Found Hanging in Fuller's Patch, Near Wyoming Yesterday.

Special to the Scranton Tribune

Pittston, May 20 .- Yesterday evening about 6 o'clock two boys returning from a fishing trip found the dead body of a man hanging, from a tree in the woods near Fuller's Patch, just back of West Wyoming. They brought assistance to the spot. The man was identified as John Roman, a Slavonian, aged about 45 years, his wife living in the old country. It looks like suicide, and the manner in which he ended his life was peculiar. Along Abraham's creek runs a path within a half dozen feet of the water's edge. At the spot chosen by the suicide are a number of wild grape vines. Securing one of the vine trailers hanging from the tree, the man made a loop through which he stuck his head, and then sat down, slowly strangling to death. When found, he was in a sitting position, his legs flat on the ground and thighs about one inch from the grass. His new national bank project and to hear arms were by his sides and his hands the report from the committee that clutched the roots of the vine as if he has been soliciting for the same. The had tried to pull his body down in meeting will be public and all interorder to tighten the loop about his neck.

The man had boarded with a Mrs. National bank of Scratgen, met a Rowan, at Sturmerville, and was last number of the gentlemen most interseen alive on Friday. Pitiston, May 20.-The old Black Diamond breaker, owned by the Lehigh and Wilkes-Barre Coal company, at the East End, Wilkes-Barre, was burned last night.

The fire was discovered about 11 o'clock. A mass of flames, lighting up miles around, was plainly seen from this city. Wilkes-Barre fire companies responded, but nothing could be done to save the structure, intense heat preventing them from getting within fighting range. The breaker had been idle several years.

land, have picked up many copies of the different insurgent publications, now suppressed, which claim that Mr. Bryan will be elected, and has promised to withdraw the American troops and turn the islands over to the Aguinaldo government. I have more times than I can count heard officers and men say, "the blood of every American killed from now on is upon the head of Mr. Bryan. He can stop this rebellion at any moment by announcing that he does not sympathize with the rebels, and will not recognize them if elected." And they add further, "But he will never do this, because he needs this point in his campaign. If he should be elected he would never recognize the rebels, but he could not stop the bloodshed by saying so, because it would be inconsistent with his present course." Mr. Bryan perhaps does not realize what a factor he is in the present rebellion. If he knew it, he would probably end it by disavowing any intention of recognizing the rebel government in any case.

Whether Bryan is elected or not, will make no difference in these conditions until fall at least. Until he is finally defeated and the scattered insurgents have all received the news, they will contine to fight and plunder, believing that if they can only hold out until March, 1901, the new American ad-ministration will withdraw the army, recognize the Aguinaldo government, Aguinaldo's orders to protect the newborn power against all molestation from without.

We know of our own knowledge, that the insurgents universally believe in this hope, and that it is this that holds them together, for we have talked to the insurgent prisoners, as well as to the friendly natives, and many regiments have men who have been captured by the insurgents and escaped. Chicago Grain and Produce.

All the Filipinos know about Bryan and talk about him, and ask questions about him of the soldiers. A man of my company told a Filipino at Santa Cruz that Bryan would never be elect-ed. The man said he surely would. then the United States would have free silver, and all the Americans would have to go home from the Philippines. They all say Bryan is a very great man, when you mention his name. The soldiers take notice of all this, and I have heard them say, while trudging along at the heavy end of a hard day's march: "Bryan, Bryan, damn Bryan. I'm tired of hearing the Filipinos talk about Bryan. If it Filipinos talk about Bryan. If it Filipinos talk about Bryan. If it
