THE SINGING GIRLS.

A number of young ladies have recently organized a musical society to be known as "The Singing Girls." This society will probably give a concert in June in Scranton with Earl Gulick, the charming boy soprano, from New York, for their soloist.

THE WRONG INITIALS.

In The Tribune's report last Monday of the visitation of constables at the Windsor hotel the name of C. Elliott was mentioned as one of the proprietors. The Mr. Elliott meant was P. G. Elliott, C. P. Elliott, the son of P. G. Elliott, was not concerned in the arrest.

CARRIED A REVOLVER.

A man was arrested on Lackawanna avenue last night by Patrolman Jones on the charge of carrying a dangerous and disorderly manner and carrying concealed weapons. A small pearl handled revolver was the piece of firearms which landed him in the city street police station.

IT WAS JOHN NEALIS.

Mrs. James Nealis, of Ninth street, received a letter yesterday from Fred Forsyth, of Adirondack Park, which confirms positively the belief that the John Nealis who recently died in Cuba was her son who emigrated to this city in September, 1885. The deceased young man was 24 years old and was well liked. Steps will be taken to have the body removed to this city.

THEY WILL PARADE.

It was decided at the last meeting of General Gobin commandery, No. 4 Spanish or Veterans, to parade on Decoration Day. The uniform will be olive drab with khaki pants and campaign hat. All Spanish war veterans, whether members of the command or not, are invited to participate. Graves of all deceased soldiers of this war will be decorated. At the meeting, Saturday evening business of much importance will be transacted and a full attendance is requested.

WOMEN IN TROUBLE.

Two women whose husbands are members of the Royal Arcanum in New York city, became involved in a quarrel yesterday at the fair and one of them has been arrested for some cause not yet learned. The funny part of it is the fact that the women have agreed to allow the whole matter to be aired in Scranton Royal Arcanum court room next Thursday evening and their husbands have been written to come on here to meet their royal brethren of Scranton, and especially each his royal heir.

INDICATION OF NEGRO DEVELOPMENT.

Isaiah H. Stephenson, a young colored man who is a member of the senior class of the Illinois College of Law, is in our city selling his recitations and poems on Moody for the purpose of earning money to finish his course of study at the above named school. Mr. Stephenson has also some attention as an orator to those who are able and able; so if the way is opened to him for a speech in any of our churches his hearers will be pleased. Mr. Stephenson is a member of the Young Men's Christian association at Williamsport, and Secretary Edward, of Reading Young Men's Christian association, speak in very high terms of the young man. It is truly a high motive in any young man who struggles in any of these ways for an education.

POLITICAL.

E. B. Sturges, Esq., Announces His Candidacy For Jury Commissioner.

To the Republican Voters of Lackawanna County:

The ballot box and jury box are the chief bulwarks of our political system. If either be tampered with, our government becomes a farce, our liberties and property are in danger. That this has happened to the jury box, at least, seems beyond question. No one doubts that the present jury system is a farce and will continue to do, all in his power to elevate and purify the tribunals of justice to whom we must look for protection. But either one of two jury commissioners can more than nullify his efforts. One corrupt man on a jury can prevent any righteous verdict; a larger corruption can entirely obstruct justice, even in the grand jury room, and worse than waste the enormous expenditures of our country in maintaining its courts.

I do not want the office of jury commissioner for the salary attached thereto, nor do I want any other office, but some special knowledge of present conditions seems to demand that I make the offer to serve. I owe much to Scranton and Lackawanna county, and know no better way of paying, in a part at least, the debt of gratitude, than to feel that I can be of service, and elect me, I shall accept the office, try to improve existing conditions, and be grateful for their confidence. In that case, my list of jurors will not be made up of men of any special class, creed or condition, but of the best of others, but as far as I can judge, of men of all classes, who know the sacred character of an oath, and will not violate it. If not wanted, I shall feel that I have done my duty, have escaped a burden, and shall continue to fight from the outside.

Edward B. Sturges
Scranton, Pa., May 21, 1900.

DIED OF MALARIA.

Coroner Roberts So Decided in the Case of Catharine Herbert.

Coroner J. J. Roberts yesterday conducted an autopsy on the body of Catharine Herbert, the ten-year-old girl who died Monday at the Lackawanna hospital, and decided that malaria, resulting from tuberculosis, was the cause of death. The girl was the niece of Miss McGinnis, of 428 Lackawanna avenue, with whom she lived. About two weeks ago she was taken violently ill, and was removed to the Lackawanna hospital, where she died Monday evening and the hospital surgeons would not sign a burial certificate until Coroner Roberts had viewed the body. He gave his verdict, as above, and the remains were then taken to Cusick's undertaking establishment, on Washington avenue, whence the funeral will take place this afternoon. Services will be conducted at St. Peter's cathedral, and interment will be made in the Cathedral cemetery.

MICHAEL COYLE KILLED.

Caught by a Fall of Rock in the Storrs Mine, No. 3.

Michael Coyle, of 101 1/2 Mohawk street, was instantly killed yesterday morning by a fall of rock at the Storrs mine, No. 3. The deceased man was employed as a laborer and the accident happened as he was working on one of the other mine accidents, without a word of warning.

The remains were taken in the mine ambulance to the dead man's home. He is survived by a wife and three children. The funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

LIST OF CANDIDATES.

The candidates who had registered but signified their intention to withdraw either by formal notice and failure to pay the prescribed assessment, or simply by neglecting the latter precaution, were:

For Sheriff—M. E. Sanders, of 1305 Church avenue, Scranton.
For Treasurer—Alex Simpson, of 222 East Market street.
For Recorder—Thomas A. Evans, of 1132 Sadle place.
For Register—Thompson Beane, 618 Adams avenue.
For County Controller—T. B. Jackson, of 1306 Money avenue.

The last named office is one that will be added to the list when the county is shown to have a population of 150,000, as is confidently expected this year's census will do. Mr. Jackson thought to anticipate the creation of the office, but the uncertainty of its being elective at the outset caused him at the last moment to withdraw. The committee returned him his check of $10, which he had sent as first payment on his assessment.

The last candidate to register was Chauncey H. Derby, who, with Colonel Arthur Long, seeks to go to the national convention as alternate. The office had been left open and out of compliment to the Young Men's Republican club, Mr. Derby, who is one of its leading members, was invited to take the place. It was a few minutes of 6 o'clock when Mr. Derby came in to register and pay his assessment.

CANDIDATE FOR JUDGE.

Next to the last registration was by R. A. Zimmerman, candidate for judge. He sent a message to Chairman Vosburg late in the afternoon requesting to be registered as a candidate for judge and in person a short time later with his assessment money.

M. E. Sanders, the city editor of the Truth, who was one of prospective candidates for sheriff, desisted after mature consideration that he would not enter the field, although he had secured Chairman Vosburg's office up to within a short time before registration closed, prepared to do so had he changed his mind from the decision arrived at earlier in the day.

Mr. Sanders' course, despite the fact that he was making a good and clean fight, was one of necessity because of the injury sustained by his right knee three weeks ago and which continues to trouble him very much and may for some time to come, inconveniencing him to such extent that he has had to forego the movement essential to continuing the campaign, as it will have to be conducted against candidates prepared for a liberal use of money. There are many of Mr. Sanders' friends who will regret the course he has taken, because they felt that he was making a good and clean fight. To all of these he is sincerely grateful, and trusts that the physical inconvenience he now labors under may eventually disappear and allow him the privilege of again coming into the political arena.

SUNDAY STREET WORK.

City Engineer Says It Will Be Continued on Main Avenue Pave. Reasons He Advances.

City Engineer Joseph P. Phillips yesterday received a letter of protest from the pastor of the Providence Methodist Episcopal church regarding Sunday work on the North Main avenue pave. He stated in the afternoon to a Tribune reporter that Sunday work on the pave would be continued, nevertheless.

"Some things have to be viewed calmly," said he. "I did not decide to work Sundays until after I had consulted a number of the prominent citizens of North Scranton on the matter. It has been estimated that the work of laying the pave will take just about six months, working six days a week. If by working seven days a week we can save one month and do the work in five months, I think it ought to be done, when the tremendous inconveniences that the people of North Scranton are suffering are considered."

"The company, acting under my instructions, will open up between 500 and 1,100 feet of street at a time and passengers on the street cars will have to get off and walk this distance before they can get on again. I have been told by the officials of the Scranton Railway company that 8,000 persons are daily carried on their cars from Providence square to the central city. I am sure that these 8,000 persons want this done just as quick as it can be done, even if Sunday work is required."

"Not only are the people riding on street cars inconvenienced, but the business men of the city are also, as their wagons have to take a circuitous and roundabout course before they can reach the square. The business men of the city are also inconvenienced by the material required in laying the pave and those walking are impeded. Taking everything into consideration, I think that Sunday work on the pave is necessary and it will be continued. I am solely responsible for it, inasmuch as I ordered it to be done, and I am ready to take all the blame, if there is any."

The Baptist Ministers' conference, at its regular meeting held Monday morning at the Penn avenue church, unanimously adopted a resolution presented by Rev. S. G. Beading, pastor of the North Main avenue Baptist church, calling upon the mayor to stop the work on the pavement on all future Sundays.

THAT FACTORY BUILDING.

Secretary Atherton Believes Local Interest Can Be Aroused.

Secretary Atherton, of the board of trade, is very enthusiastic regarding the project of erecting a large building in this city for the purpose of accommodating a number of small industries and he stated yesterday that he believes he can arouse sufficient interest in the plan to have it again taken up by the capitalists who had it in view a year or so ago. Prominent among these is ex-Senator M. E. McDonald.

Mr. Atherton received a letter only yesterday from the members of the Albany chamber of commerce, enclosing the prospectus of a company being formed by that body for the construction of just such a building.

The capital stock is to be $100,000, to be issued in 1,000 shares of $100 each. The prospectus points out that it usually requires a large expenditure to fit up an ordinary building for heavy manufacturing purposes and that this large expenditure necessarily means high rents.

By constructing a large building especially for manufacturing purposes, rents can be lessened and the difficulty of securing proper quarters for industries obviated. The building which Albany proposes to erect will have accommodations for twelve distinct and separate industries.

JOHN ROCK BADLY HURT.

Fell Over Retaining Wall on West Lackawanna Avenue.

John Rock, an aged man who resides with Select Councilman McAndrew in Tripp Park, fell over the retaining wall at the corner of West Lackawanna avenue and Ninth street last night and was badly injured.

The man was leaning against the railing in front of Ross' hotel waiting for the North Main avenue car when he slipped and fell. He was removed to McAndrew's home and several stitches were required to close up a wound in his head.

HOLY SCRIPTURE IN CATHOLIC CHURCH

LECTURE BY DR. BENJAMIN F. DE COSTA, OF NEW YORK.

Pointed Out What He Characterized as Absurdities Regarding the Relation of the Catholic Church to the Bible and Made the Contention That the Church of Rome is Now the Sole Defender of the Sacred Word—Bible a Library, the Church a Librarian.

Dr. Benjamin F. De Costa, who created somewhat of a stir in theological circles recently by renouncing his ministry in the Episcopal church and embracing the Roman Catholic faith gave his lecture on "The Place of the Holy Scripture in the Catholic Church" at St. Thomas' College hall last night as the third of the series under the auspices of the newly organized Catholic Young Women's club. He had a large audience, which included Bishop Hoban and many of the priests of the city and neighboring towns.

Dr. De Costa is 65 years of age, of commanding appearance and a graceful, easy talker. While not flowery, his language is choice and strong and his delivery, as might be expected, that of the veteran pulpiteer rather than lecturer. He was introduced by Rev. D. J. MacGoldrick as one who was to be greeted not as a living censure of doctrines left behind or an advertisement for doctrines approached, but as a man who had the moral courage to follow the light of his conscience.

Dr. De Costa was warmly greeted when he bowed his acknowledgment of the introduction and proceeded with an hour and a half's discussion of his interesting subject.

After a brief recitation of the Bible in general way, he took up the matter of the inspiration of the holy scripture. The Catholic church, he said, was not left in doubt on this subject. Its declaration on this matter was clear and unqualified. Leo XIII, in his encyclical of 1853, declared that, while recognizing the trifling verbal discrepancies in the text, it is absolutely wrong and forbidden to narrow its inspiration to parts or to hold that the sacred writer has erred. Nowhere does Leo say it is fallible when rightly interpreted. On the contrary, he declares positively that it is infallible truth.

HIGHER CRITICISM.

Dealing with the so-called "higher criticism," the speaker referred to how Pope Leo had pointed out the danger of rationalism threatened by this type of criticism and then went on to say: "Higher criticism finds in the Bible every kind of error. The Catholic church says that, when properly understood, there is nothing in the Bible to be held in error."

"That the Catholic church should be accused of discouraging the study of the Bible is logical," Dr. De Costa said. "There can be no serious apprehension of danger to Catholics by a study of the Scripture because speculation is limited and their church says the Bible is infallible."

"It has been said, educated Catholics are not expected to read the Bible by the old rule and are privileged to regard the story of the fall as a myth. When a man like the father of this utterance, George Mirard, the celebrated English Catholic, speaks an absurdity of this kind ten years after he has ceased to think right, the world ought only to remember that he was once great. Educated Catholics, they say, do not believe in the Bible. Will they say Leo is not an educated man?"

"The Catholic church is solely capable of defending its Bible. The religious book of the Reformation church, in the main, has no defense to the Bible. Protestantism has no plan of campaign for the protection of God's word. Being unable to agree on what constitutes the Bible, it is like a general with no idea of the fortifications he is expected to protect and no understanding with his officers. This is not the case with the Catholic church. It is not divided on this or any other question.

A GUARDIANSHIP.

"The Catholic church reserves the right to exercise a guardianship of the Bible. As St. Jerome called it, it is a divine library left by God. Would God leave a library without a librarian?"

"The library belongs to the church and not the church to the library. We know the Scriptures are the word of God because the Holy Roman Catholic church says so. St. Augustine declared he would not believe the Bible without the testimony of the church. The church is superior to the Bible and it should not pass out of the care of the church any more than should the sacraments."

Regarding the allegation that the Catholic church opposed the use of the Bible, Dr. De Costa said that no falsehood was more preposterous, and then he went into a lengthy array of statistics to show how generally the Bible was circulated at the time Luther found "the chained Bible" and saw it for the first time, though then a priest for many years. "For some people," he added, "nothing, not even a Galilee story, is too preposterous, if it reflects on the Catholic church."

The action of the Council of Trent, which has been so widely interpreted as an opposition to the Bible, was simply a condemnation of bad editions of the Bible, he argued.

As to the opposition to Bible societies, he explained that the church could not countenance any society taking the custody of the Bible from the church.

"The Holy Roman Catholic church," he declared, "is pre-eminently the Bible church and is left alone to defend it. The occupation of the Reformation is gone. In the Reformation church the Bible is doomed. Its system is bankrupt. It can not meet the intellectual requirements of the age."

He concluded by treating on the Bible in the Catholic home, arguing to show how the contention that the use of the Bible in Catholic homes is discouraged is as great a fallacy as any of the others he had dwelt upon.

LOST CHILDREN.

Police Yesterday Notified of Disappearance of Two Small Boys.

The police were yesterday notified of the disappearance from home of two small boys, one Johnnie Horn, and the other Henry Taylor, the latter living on Cedar avenue.

A telephone message was received about 5:30 o'clock, saying that a small boy, giving his name as Johnnie Horn, was found and was being taken care of at 823 South Wyoming avenue, where his parents can secure him. Nothing was heard of the other child, however, who is about four years old, fair complexioned, and has light hair, worn in curls.
