meeting of the special committee of the board of trade appointed to look after the members of the Michigan and Indiana Retail Coal Dealers' association who are coming here on a tour of inspection Decoration day will be held in the board rooms tomorrow morning and arrangements perfected for the entertainment of the visitors.

They will be taken through several of the mines in which the committee are interested and arrangements will also be made to have them driven over the boulevard and Lake Scranton. As they come principally to inspect the coal mines, it is not to be expected that they will have much time to devote to any of the other diversified industries of the city, but in case they should, they will be escorted in parties through the steel mills, silk mills and nut and bolt works.

> With the Approach of Warm Weather the Matter Assumes Importance-President Horn of the Board of Health Says the Body Is Now Doing All That It Has the Power to Undertake-Any Improvement in System Must Come Through Councilmanic Legislation

With the advent of warm weather comes a forcible illustration of the necessity of more sewers and the establishment of a better system for gather ing voice "One Night in June," and ing the garbage of the city than that now in vogue. Substantial progress is being made in the way of improving the sewer system of the city, for men are now at work constructing sewers in West Scranton, North Scranton, East Scranton and South Scranton. During the summer months several miles of sewers will be laid in parts of the city that have heretofore lacked these necessary underground carriers. In the matter of collecting and disposal of garbage we are not making such progress. The regulations of the board of health have this to say about this important matter:

No house refuse, offal, garbage, dead animals, lecaying vegetable matter, or organic waste subtance of any kind shall be thrown on any treet, road, ditch, gutter, or public place within the limits of this city, and no putrid or de caying animal or vegetable matter shall be kept in any house, cellar or adjoining outbuildings or grounds for more than twenty-fodr hours. All householders, proprietors of hotels, restaurants and wholesale establishments within the city limits are required to send garbage of every sort, dead animals and other offensive matter to the city crematory, either by their own wagons, suitably equipped, or by the licensed city scav-

MUST HAVE PERMIT.

All persons desiring to convey garbage to the crematory for themselves or for others must obtain a permit from the board of health and register with the secretary, and must be provided with a proper vehicle, furnished with a close canvas wagon cover, large enough to completely cover the wagon body and its contents. Garbage nust be delivered to the crematory between the hours of 7 a. m. and 5 p. m.

Garbage brought to the crematory must be separated from ashes and other non-combustible matter. Any scavenger violating taus rule will be liable to a fine of $10, and for the second offense his license may be revoked. No garbage will be received at the crematory from any person little beyond Ash street, adjacent to who has not the proper license or permit from the board of health.

At present there are several licensed garbage collectors in the city who make regular trips through given portions of the city and collect and convey to the crematory the garbage of any householder who employs them over the following route: Washington to perform this service. Only a small percentage of householders avail themto Spruce, to Penn, to Linden, to Washington and thence back to the selves of this privilege. In fact in some parts of the city the garbage collector is entirely unknown and the common deposit point for garbage is vacant lot, the street or gutter.

Statistics kept by the superintendent of the city's crematory in the Seving was witnessed by the usual throngs of curious and happy hearted people, a large number of enth ward show that only a most inwhom came from the surrounding country. The significant portion of the garbage conbeg pageant proved an interesting and attractive sight. The gilded cages, open dens of wild anisumed at the crematery comes from the South Side and that the contrimals, dancing, prancing steeds, gaily caparisoned, pretty Shetland ponies, hitched to diminutive butions from West and North Scranton are not much larger. In these places the garbage is either cremated mal kingdom which especially delighted the litor ash bin.

There was not a poor feature brought forth no result.

WHAT PRESIDENT HORN SAID. President George S. Horn, of the board of health, said yesterday that he believes the systematic collection of garbage is of great importance and that it would add to the healthfulness of the city if legislation could be secured to bring it about.

"i am convinced, however," said Mr. Horn, "that our most pressing need is more and better sewers. I have observed, since I have been on the board of health, that wherever there is an unusual amount of sickness there you will find that sanitary conditions are bad because of poor sewers or no sewers at all

The board of health is now doing all it has power to do in the way of collecting and disposing of garbage. We consume a great deal of stuff at the crematory, in fact it is usually working to its fullest capacity. Councils have the power to pass the legislation necessary to have the garbage of the city systematically gathered, but it would cost a great deal of money, which I presume causes council to hesitate about undertaking the matter. The collection and disposing would naturally have to be done at the expense of the city gen-

ASSESSMENT WAS WRONG.

Upper Mulberry Street Property Holders Win Their Fight in the Superior Court.

By a decision of the Superior court n Pittsburg yesterday, affirming the finding of Judge Archbald in the case of Henry T. Koehler against the city of Scranton, the city is made a loser to the extent of $3,000 by its method of the third, and W. F. Albro of the of assessing the cost of paving Mulberry street

Acting under the law, as the city authorities read it, City Engineer Phillips in figuring the assessment, according to the foot-front rule, prescribed in the ordinance, computed the total cost of the pavement from Mifflin avenue to Prescott avenue, including street intersections, and divided it proportionately among the properties according to the number of feet-front abutting on the pavement.

Property holders living on the easterly ead of the street on the four blocks on which there are double tracks objected to this method of asseasment and through one of their number, Henry T. Kochier, represented by Attorney I. H. Burns, had the matter submitted to Judge Archbald in the form of a case stated

They argued that they could only be asked to pay for the actual amount of pavement laid in front of their properties. The double tracks occupled fourteen and one-half feet of the roadway and the trolley company paved this strip with brick on its own expense in conformity to the ordinance under which it was given a right of way on the thoroughfare. The remaining nine and one-half feet on each side was all the complaining property ewners thought they ought to pay for. They also questioned their liability for a proportionate share of all the street intersections, as the street intersections in their neighborpaved.

The city held that the plain terms of the foot-front rule expressly stipulated that the method pursued by the city engineer was the only one that could legally be employed.

Judge Archbald coincided with the views of the complainants except as to the street intersections. He said at the conclusion of an elaborate opin-

As the matter now stands, the advantage derived from the paving done by the street railway is distributed among all the properties upon the whole line of the improvement, many of them several blocks away instead of being confined to hose properties immediately adjacent to it. If this were carried to its logical conclusion proper-ties on the portion of a street wholly occupied by street railway tracks might be made to pay as ich as those where the streets are entirely clear of them, a position which we do not see our way

It follows that the assessments made by the city engineer is incorrect; all that the defendant can justly be called upon to pay for the improve-ment in front of his property is his proporticrate share of it at the same rate as others similarly situated, which practically amounts in a case of paving such as this is, whatever it might in other classes of improvement, to the cost of the pavement in front of his property with a pro rata part of the street intersections added. According to the assessment made by the city engineer the fendant is called upon to pay $286, while to our judgment on the basis suggested he should be assessed with but $185. Judgment is theretore en tered in accordance with a stipulation of the case stated in favor of the plaintiff for $185, with-

Mr. Koehler's frontage is eighty feet. The reduction on his property is at the rate of $1.25 a foot. Two sides of four blocks at this rate would call for a reduction of about $3,000. The city will be called upon to readjust the assessment and stand the allowances. The opinion was written by Judge W. W. Porter. A dissenting opinion was filed by Judge W. D. Porter.
