BOSTOCK'S HARD LUCK.

Two Serious Accidents on the Way to Newark.

While Bostock's circus was en route to Newark, N. J., yesterday over the Lehigh Valley road, Sport, 10-year-old lephant, broke open the car door between Coplay and Hokendauqua, and fell from the train. The train was stopped and it was found that the animal had a fractured hip. It was lifted to the car by the aid of a crane.

During this work the Buffalo express came along, and in passing broke off a car door of the circus train. The dear fell on Eugene Victory, of Brooklyn, a eireus employe, crushing his left leg so badly that it had to be amputated.

committee are selected from the committee itself. A different system has grown up among the Republicans. It has happened in the last two campaigns that the man at the head of the Republican organization was not even a member of the National committee as originally constituted. This has grown out of the fact that the candidate for President is allowed to select the chairman of the Executive committee, which is intrusted with the active work of the campaign. In 1893 William J. Campbell of Illinois, a member of the National committee, was selected as chairman. Obpection was made to him on account of certain business associations which. was feared, would not be politically advantageous, and, although he remained as chairman of the National Committee, President Harrison selected Thomas H. Carter, of Montana, as chairman of the Executive committee although Carter was not a member of the National committee at all. It was Carter who conducted the campaign. In 1896 Mark Hanna, of Ohio, who had managed the canvass for McKin-ley's nomination was selected by the candidate to be chairman of the Executive committee. The member of the **************** National committee from Ohio was Charles L. Kurtz. In fact, the actual : Summer management of the Republican campaign in 1896 was in the hands of an executive committee which was really an excressence upon the larger body. At least four members of the Executive committee in that year, including the chairman, Mr. Hanna; the secretary, General Osborne; the treasurer, Cornellus N. Bliss, and Charles G. Dawes, | of Illinois, were not members of the National committee. When General Osborne resigned as secretary to become American consul at London, his place S was taken by Charles Dick. of Ohio, now a representative in congress, who had no official connection with the S larger body. Besides an Executive ommittee made up of National committee members living, as a rule, near headquarters, the Democrats in 1896 had a Campaign committee consisting partly of members of the National committee and partiy of outsiders. This S body corresponded to the Executive committee on the Republican side. Daniel J. Campau. of Michigan, was at its head. Other members were W. A. Clark, of Montana; Clark Howell, of Georgia: James Kerr, of Pennsylvania; John R. McLean, of Ohio, and Thomas
