Where They Play Today. Wilkes-Barre at Scranton.

TWO HOME RUNS DID IT.

Scranton Defeated Wilkes-Barre by a Score of 6 to 4-Features of Contest.

Special to the Scranton Tribums.

Wilkes-Barre, May 31.-There is sorrow of the dull, sodden kind here tonight, for Clymer and his pets were worsted in today's fray by the sturdy lads that one, Burnham, brought down from Scranton. It has become a tradition in base ball here that any and all offenses of any and all ball players will be condoned if in return the aforementioned erring ones will only nerve themselves up to the task of throwing Scranton down good and hard on the diamond.

It's a trick, the performance of which fails with some regularity, but each time Wilkes-Barre consoles herself with the thought that it was the robber umpire or some exasperating piece of luck with which the evil one is supposed to occasionally favor his own. It was a piece of luck today, so the papers of the morrow will tell you, and so Wilkes-Barre believes tonight. It was in the eighth inning that Scheffler, otherwise "Old Boy," came to the bat. The score was three to four in favor of Wilkes-Barre and two men had been snuffed out. Nothing dismayed or daunted, Schefffer picked a ball he thought would suit him, landed on it with all the force he could muster and sent it salling out into left field, where Nicol, erstwhile likery, cf ... 1 3 2 0 0 Wilker-larre at this time.

"Robbed him of two chances," he muttered between his elenched teeth. "Nicol could eat them up! Was there ever such cursed luck?" All of which proves that Mr. Merrill has a highopinion of Mr. Nicol's powers as a aprinter and eater and a rather poverty-stricken regard for the tact the sun displayed in coming forward so conspicuously at such a crucial mo-

THE RUN-GETTING.

Scranton started the run getting in the first on a hit by Knoll, base or balls to Shortstop O'Brien, wild pitch by Owen and a hit by Knox. This gave us two runs. In the fourth we made another on Knox's triple and Do herty's single, and then came the

When Shefher came to the bat there was a dis pute about the ball, Umpire Russel refusing to accept the ball that Wilkes. Barre wanted to put in play, saying it was not sound. Clymer protested most flereely, but finally had to allow one of the balls with which the game was started to go in play. It clean and bright and made a fine target. When his home run was followed by one by Knox the Wilker-Barre pla ers became badly rattled. Then Mc Intyre and Doherty walked and after getting on the bases tried a double steal. Catcher Barber threw to Clymer, but it was not accurate and Clymer missed it. He returned the balt to eatch McIntyre at the plate, but his First base on balls-Off Voorhees. 2: off Whit-

When Barber went behind the plate after this mixup he was so excited he had to call his attention to that fact. Scranton did not score in the ninth.

THE PITCHERS.

Owen, who was in the box for Wilkes-Barre, pitched good ball except in the first and eighth innings. He was found for eight hits, with a total of sixteen bases. Milligan did the twirling for Scranton and kept his hits scattered. He was found nine times for a total of eleven bases. In the first inning Nicol opened for the Barons with a single and Ketchem ollowed with a like hit. Stratton flew out to Shortstop O'Brien and Clymer singled, bringing Nicol home, Burns made a force hit and Clymer was put out at second.
