BRIEF MENTION OF MEN OF THE HOUR

JUDGE DAVID CAMERON WHO WILL BE HERE NEXT WEEK.

One of the Best Known Lawyers in the Northern Tier-He Has Many Friends in This City-Building Inspector Jackson and the System He Has Put Into Vogue in the Management of His Office-Captain of the Beranton Club - Success of Transfer Man Keenan.

Hon. David Cameron, of Wellsboro, Tioga county, president judge of the Fourth Judicial district, who comes here for the first time next week, to assist in quarter sessions, is one of the best known men, or more strictly speaking, lawyers in the northern tier. He was assistant United States district attorney for the Western district of Pennsylvania under ex-District Attorneys Stone-now governorand Lyon, serving eight years. Governor Stone studied law in his office and later became his partner. When to the Superior bench last fall, Governor Stone appointed his fermer tutor, partner and assistant to succeed him as president judge of the Fourth district.

The appointment was unanimously approved by the bar and the public at large, and Judge Cameron has, in the five months he has worn the ermine, proven that the governor's appointment was a most excellent one. He is 58 years of age and has actively and very successfully practiced law for over thirty years. He is a brother-inlaw of Judge Mitchell and an uncle of Mrs. F. W. Fleits, of this city. Judge Cameron has many friends in this city, having been a frequent visitor here during the years when he was assistant United States district attorney. He is a man below the average in size, but there is nothing diminutive about his intellect.

an official about whom very little is heard and yet one who discharges the duties of this most important office with fidelity and a faithfulness that is deserving of more than passing mention. He entered the office after having passed a most satisfactory examination, his percentage being considerably higher than that of his next highest competitor and immediately instituted sweeping changes in the methods formerly in vogue. In the keeping of records these changes have been most apparent and it is now possible to tell almost at a giance the number of buildings erected in any month and the estimated valuation of each, a thing that under the old system would have required nearly a half hour's search. Mr. Jackson is very determined when he starts ut to do a thing and when he once sets his foot down he means it. This has been noticeable in several instances where people refused to obey the building laws and where they were accordingly hauled up before an alderman without delay by Inspector Jackson. The building inspector is one of the most highly esteemed citizens of Green Ridge and represented the Thirteenth ward in common council for several years. He made a valusble member of the lower body, for he was a close student of legislation and the needs of the city.

"For several years my health was miserable. I suffered the most dreadful pains, and was almost on the verge of insanity. I consulted one of the best physicians in New York, and he pronounced my disease a fibroid tumor, advising an operation without delay, saying that it was my only chance for life. Other doctors prescribed strong and violent medicine, and one said was incurable, another told me my only salvation was galvanio batteries, which I tried, but nothing relieved me. One day a friend called and begged me to try Lydia B. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began its use and took several bottles. From the very first bottle there was a wenderful change for the better. RUN AWAY TRAIN.

Ruilding Inspector T. D. Jackson is Exciting Experience of Railroad Men on the Jessup Branch of the E. & W. V. R. R.

> Saturday morning, about 9 o'clock, an Erle and Wyoming Valley engine and loaded train ran away down the grade to Jessup junction, north of the Peckville Delaware and Hudson station. As engine No. 13 was about to descend the grade known as Dolph's, a light rain was falling, which made it a bad rail. The engine was attached to eight loaded cars that were being taken to Jessup for delivery to the Delaware and Hudson company's road. The train started at a moderate rate speed, but the train kept gaining headway. Conductor Effey and crew tightened every brake and the engineer eversed his engine. The runaway dashed down the grade at full speed. Just before reaching the long switch at the junction there is a sharp curve. When rounding this curve the engineer and said, "We are so poor, how can we? fireman discovered that there was a trip of empty cars only a short distance ahead. There was some talk in this city last week, caused by the appearance of rides. Heretofore these three companies have divided this business, but by unexpectedly lower bids Coxe Brothers & company have secured the contracts for more than half the supply for 1900. The inference was that the individual coal operators are still at variance with the companies about the purchasing of heir output, and that this was an indication of their humor when one of the chief of them appears as an active and successful competitor. This bidding probably will lead to some adjustment of differences, with which the projected new railroad to Kingston, on the Hudson, may not be entirely disconnected.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES OF THE MEV. DR. PATON.

Spent Many Years in the New Hebrides and in His Talks at the First and Second Churches Told of the Trials and Dangers of a Missionary There, as Well as the Wonderful Opportunities Afforded for Spreading the Gospel of Christianity Among Inhabitants of the Islands.

Rev. John G. Paton, one of the most famed missionaries of the Presbyterian church, who has been termed "The Apostle of the New Hebrides," because of his wonderful work in spreading Christianity in these islands, is in the city and yesterday spoke in the morning in the First Presbyterian church and in the evening in the Second Saturday evening he addressed the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the First church. He was intro duced by Mrs. C. S. Weston in ex-quisite fashion, with the earnestness and sincerity of one who had read and studied the sacrifices and labors of Dr. Paton's life. The distinguished missionary spoke of his work among the cannibals and told of his son's almost miraculous escape from death after a chieftain had given up his life to save the missionary. At the close of the informal service a pleasant social hour was enjoyed, when refreshments wer served by a committee. The First Presbyterian church was

CALL OF THE APOSTLES. Dr. Paton speaks with a Scotch burr, pleasant to hear, and with a simplicity and consciousness of the truth of his belief which made men and women better for the listening. He spoke from Matthew 28, 16-20, embodying the call of the apostles to go and teach all nations.

The address held as its strong basis the thought of the unswerving au- Christian Endeavor society on the islthenticity and truth of the entire Bible. He told of his first visit to the New Hebrides, after five missionaries had been killed and eaten and of his loathing and horror of the degraded condition of the natives. There are thirty islands on which at that time were 150,000 cannibals of the lowest possible type. They could not speak the language of the missionaries and the latter knew not a word of the native tongue.

The latter must be the learners, before they could teach. After the missignaries had accomplished some work and had translated a portion of the Scriptures, the natives were told that they must pay the cost of printing a whole Bible in their language. They All we have are a few cocoanuts, bananas and yams?" But they were taught to cultivate arrow root, and in thirteen long years were able to send their own.

The utter devotion of the converts are so earnest in their religion, that on seven Islands the whole population are living holy lives. On twenty-two the Delaware and Hudson company's islands there are many converts. There are 18,000 converts in all. THE BEST PROOF.

The best proof of the absolute truth of the Scriptures from the first verse of Genesis to the last of Revelations is the living evidence of these islanders in what has been done for them according to God's word. Dr. Paton said: "It grieves us to know that in our civilized land and yours, men wise and believers in portions of God's word, and are trying to cut and carve at the adyoung people; don't let any man's atyour faith in a single word. What else have we to believe but in the infalli-

Dr. Paton spoke beautifully to the children of the First church Sunday school yesterday, giving what was perhaps the most interesting address of his visit. He showed them the idols of the South Sea Islanders before their conversion, and told many fascinating tales of the little people in their far-away home. Dr. Paton in his evening sermon in the Second church took up in detail the wonderful work accomplished by himself and associates on the New Hebrides and related a number of his personal experiences and adventures. Some of the latter have been as thrilling as have ever come into the life of any one man, and, though the doctor spoke for an hour and a half, his listeners never tired, but 'listened throughout with rapt attention. EARLY MISSIONARIES.

He first told of the early missionaries sent out from England during the early part of the century, John Williams, Hyde and others. These men were all killed and eaten by the cannibal tribes, which somewhat dampened the ardor of the missionaries and caused the work of converting the islands to be power of Christ." given up for some time and it was not taken up again until the Scotch Presdergyman sent was a Dr. Geddle, from Nova Scotia, who went with his wife and who had wonderful success.

Dr. Paton himself arrived in the early sixtles in company with a Rev. Dr. Gordon and others. The work progressed favorably for some time, Dr. Paton and Rev. Dr. Gordon laboring on the island of Tanna, after having acquired the native language.

One day Dr. Gordon was lured away on the pretense of being summoned to attend a sick child and was toma hawked as he was crossing a rude bridge over a small stream. His wife, who came looking for him a few moments afterward, was also killed by the natives. Several young native converts who were associated with the

Going out on the veranda for a moment, he too was

MIRACULOUS ESCAPEA

Just before Dr. Paton and one of his olleagues, Rev. Dr. Johnston, were driven off the Island of Tanna, he had a most miraculous escape from death Two natives, armed with clubs, came into the house asking for medicine. As he was giving it to them they both raised their weapons to strike him.

"At that moment," said he, "I remembered that great truth that Jesus has all power and that He can exercise that power when necessity dening backwards, crashed into the cars and smashed through four of them. Six taught so well and so intelligently, and the converts mands. With His words, 'Lo, I am with you always,' ringing in my ears, I pushed away the clubs and the men cowed for a moment by some unseen force, left the room. As they were leaving the door, however, they turned and dealt Johnston a stunning blow and then turned on me again. I called to my two dogs who were In the room and they drove the men

The very next morning just as a fresh attack was being planned on the house, a trading vessel anchored in the harbor below, on board which they were invited. "I don't care what men and women may say," said he, "that vessel came as an answer to prayer and came by God's direction." A short time after this all of the other missionaries either died or were killed and Dr. Paton was left alone for a time. He went to Australia, however, secured financial help, brought back more missionaries with him and from that time forward the work prospered.

The natives of these islands, Dr. Paton explained, are remarkably cru l, so that their conversion to Christianity is most remarkable. One of the customs in vogue is the strangling of the widow when a husband dies. Infanticide is widespread and common. Instances have been known where wives have been buried alive because their husband tired of them. "There are ye 40,000 cannibals on the islands," said the doctor, "waiting for the savi

The Bible has been translated into twenty-two dialects, all of which were unwritten when Dr. Paton took up the

In Justice to the Scranton Stove Works.

Editor of The Tribuns. Sir: We, the members of the Iron Moulders' union, feel that a great injustice has been done the above company, in regard to statements published from time to time by "The Scrantonian," which we know to be false, and think it a duty we owe to the management as employes, coupley upwards of thirty years, and can truth-fully say that our differences at all times have been agreeably and satisfactorily settled. Mr. Lansing has hever retused, as president of the works, to talk and meet us half way, on any matter pertaining to the welfare of his men. Alex L. Austly
