PARSONAGE WEDDING.

A very pretty wedding was quietly solemnized yesterday at the parson-age of the Hampton Street Methodist Episcopal church by Rev. James Benninger. The contracting parties were Clark C. Ide, of Wyoming, and Miss Verna Shaver, of Lehman. The young ouple were attended by Bruce R. Shaver, brother of the bride, and Miss Elizabeth Parrish,

The bride looked charming in a dress of pearl gray henriette, trimmed with cream silk and chiffon. She carried bouquet of carnations. The bridesreald was attired in white lawn and carried a bouquet of roses. Mr. and Mrs. Ide left on the 12.55 train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western road for New York and other points of interest. They will, upon their return, commence housekeeping at Wyo-ming, where a reception will be given and a host of friends greet them.

M'NULTY-FITZSIMMONS.

The annual banquet of the members of the Alumni association of the Dunmore High school was held last night Odd Fellows' hall. The occasion had been looked forward to through the long months of the year by the members as a time when friendships may be again re-established more closely, and recollections of pleasurable school days passed in review. The rooms were early filled with an animated throng of young people, and at 8 o'clock, when the orchestra pro-ceeded to tune their instruments, the floor was cleared and dancing was indulged in until 12.30 o'clock, when Caterer Hanley, of Scranton, arranged the tables and his delicacies for the banquet proper. After the feast of good things, Thomas Jordan, in behalf of the Alumni association, gave an address on the alumni of today. Professor R. N. Davis, principal of the High school, ably responded. Professor C. Niemeyer, of the Latin department, followed with the toast, "School Athleties."
