SCRANTON TOOK BOTH.

Miller's Misfits from Reading Were Easy for Burnham's Bouncing Ball Tossers-Visitors Tried Two Local Pitchers.

Burnham's collection of pennant chasers lined up against Miller's mis fits from Reading in two games yes terday afternoon, and easily won out in both. The visitors did not play as poor a game as the previous day, but were nevertheless outclassed. They were strengthened by two new pitchers, Kelly, of Moosic, and Jason, otherwise known as "Kentry," Griffin, of this city. The first named possessed of a name famous in base ball history, pitched a splendid game, and by holding the local heavy hitters Jim Delehanty, 3b down to eight hits demonstrated that | Henry, cf he is fast enough for this league. West, 2h Knoll and Pirate O'Brien were the only Scrantonians who could gauge his delivery. Hub made a single and a double, and the Scranton captain, in his three times at bat, made three corking singles.

In the second game young Griffin, late of St. Thomas college team and other loc ' nines, made his appearance in the box and pitched an excellent game. His support was poor, however, and most of the Scranton runs were the result of fielding misplays, only two of the locals' eleven runs being earned. The fielding features of the day were contributed by Knoll and Sheffler and Doherty for Scranton, and Nyce, Time-Two hours, Umpire-Morgan, Wagner for Reading. The visitors' left fielder played a snappy game, making several difficult catches and batting barder than any man on the team. In the second game he made three of Reading's five hits, and drove three of Reading's five hits, and drove stratten, the second two of the second two o his drives being long two-baggers Kennedy officiated in the box for Scranton in the first game and completely mystified the batsmen by curving the ball around their necks and making it describe all kinds of parabolas around their anatomier. them he fanned out and only allowed four hits, and at the conclusion of the ninth inning felt strong enough to go in the box again. He accordingly was sent in once more, and in five innings gave three runs and four hits and struck out six batters. Milligan then went in and in the rest of the game the unfortunate visitors succeeded in getting one man on base, Wagner driving out a clean single.

Doherty left the game in the seventh inning. He has had trouble with his left leg and retired from the game to give it a much needed rest. This necessitated a change in the team's necessitated a change in the team's Schmidt, Vigneaux. Base on balls—Off Stimmel line-up and Jack O'Brien went to 2. Umpire-Mor Kervin had anything to do in their gan. esitions, but Knox was given an opportunity to distinguish himself in the eighth, when Bratton smashed a hot one at him. Sir Richard picked it up gracefully and sent it to first in the most approved fashion, easily retiring the batter.

Doherty, the youngster from Moosic, who plays short stop for Reading, put up a good game in the first contest, but in the second made an error at the very start, after which he lost confidence in himself and played rather raggedly. He handles himself very well, however, and has the earmarks of a comer. The scores:
