KRUGER IS DEFIANT

He Grants a London Correspondent an Interview.

LIVING IN RAILROAD CAR

He Smokes a Long Pipe and Looks Worried—Is Determined, However, and Proposes to Fight Until the Last—He States That the Capital of the Republic is the Car in Which He Travels—His Country Invaded but Not Conquered—Reasons for Leaving Pretoria—Will Not Tell What Has Been Done with His Gold.

London, June 8 (3 a. m.)—The executive of the Transvaal government are in a railway car which is shunted on a switch at Machador station...

"Yes," said President Kruger, "it is quite true that the British have occupied Pretoria. This, however, does not end the war...

"The capital," exclaimed Mr. Kruger with energy, "what is a capital? It does not consist of any particular collection of bricks and mortar...

Referring to the reasons why he left Pretoria, Mr. Kruger said: "I was not foolish enough to be taken prisoner. I provided this means of locomotion for the same reason as our burghers supply themselves with horses when they take the field...

"It is necessary that I should be able to move quickly from place to place. That is all. By this car will take me to Pretoria. For the present it enables me to keep away from Pretoria where I could be of no service and where I should only play into the hands of the enemy..."

"They say," remarked the correspondent, "that you have brought with you gold to the value of 2,000,000 pounds."

"It is not true," replied the president. "Whatever monetary resources I may have with me are simply those which we require for state purposes."

At the same time I am not going to tell you where our treasure lies. Let Lord Roberts find it if he can."

"They also say in England, Mr. Kruger, that you contemplate taking refuge on a Dutch man-of-war at Lorenzo Marques."

"That again is a lie," retorted the president with spirit. "I know of no Dutch war vessel. I am not contemplating taking refuge anywhere. I shall not leave my country. There will be no need for me to do anything of the kind."

The correspondent: "Then, sir, there is much surprise at your having left Mrs. Kruger behind."

President Kruger: "But why? Mrs. Kruger is quite safe in Pretoria. She would only be put to personal inconvenience here. All communication between us is stopped, of course, but she will await my return with calmness and courage. She is a brave woman. I am here awaiting further information. We are surrounded by faithful burghers and are quite safe."

The War Not Over.

State Secretary Reitz remarked: "You may depend upon it that the war is not yet over. Guerrilla warfare will continue over an enormous area. We intend to fight to the bitter end and shall probably retire upon Lydenburg, where we can hold out for many months."

"Yes," observed Mr. Kruger, "it is only now that the real struggle has begun. I fear that there will be much bloodshed, but the fault is that of the British government."

Then raising his voice to an almost passionate height, Mr. Kruger exclaimed: "The time has passed for us to talk. We have done plenty of that, but it has done us no good. There is nothing left for us to do but to keep on fighting, to keep on fighting."

The correspondent who secured the interview telegraphed it direct from Machador station yesterday, when the wires were working as usual to Lorenzo Marques.

A letter was read in the convention from Miss Susan B. Anthony, who requested the privilege that a temperance orator, whom she could send, be given the privilege of addressing the brewers, but it was ruled out under the point of order that to grant the request would violate the constitutional rules forbidding politics in the convention.

The convention decided to have the members send in letters to their views as to the standard of malt brewings which should be established in the pure food law and have them put in shape for submission to the department of agriculture at Washington.

The section is to be incorporated in the law to be passed by Congress.

BOUND BY MASKED MEN.

Exciting Experience of Twelve-Year-Old Gwennie Williams, of Olyphant—Found in the Cellar.

Gwennie Williams, aged 12 years, had an exciting experience with two masked men on Tuesday night at Olyphant.

The girl resides alone with her father, Seth Williams, on Electric avenue, in this borough. About 10:30 she was awakened by a knock at the door and, upon opening, two men with masks over their faces entered and asked where the money and valuables were kept.

The little girl replied that her father, who was in town, had them with him. This displeased the robbers and they bound the girl's hands and feet with rope and carried her to the cellar. They then left the house securely locking the doors as they departed.

Mr. Williams arrived home about midnight and, finding the house locked, thought that his daughter had gone to one of the neighbors for the night. About 11 o'clock yesterday morning he was surprised to hear cries issuing from the cellar and upon investigation found the child bound as above told.

The police were notified of the affair, but up to this time have failed to get a clue.

SUNBURY IN DANGER.

Water Company Shuts Off the Supply from Fire Plugs.

Sunbury, Pa., June 7.—As a result of failure to reach a satisfactory agreement with the borough authorities for water, the Northumberland Water company today shut off all the fire plugs in town. The property holders, fearing disaster from fire, demand a speedy adjustment of the differences, but without avail.

The contract which has just expired called for $30 per plug per year. The company agreed to renew the contract for $22 per plug, but this was refused by the authorities, who want to pay only $20. This offer was rejected by the water company officials, who declare they will remain shut off until their terms are agreed to.

THE BOXERS REPULSED

Details of the Fight at Tung-Hu on Tuesday Last.

PLOT TO KILL FOREIGNERS

Catholic Christians Captured Nines of the Marauders' Cannon—Refusal of a Chinese General to Face the Rebels—Destruction to Property of Foreigners Near Tien-Tsin. Dowager Empress Orders 3,000 Men to Protect the Railroad at Pekin—Great Britain Asserts Her Position.

London, June 7.—Telegraphing from Tien-Tsin, under date of June 6, a correspondent says:

"I left Tien-Tsin this morning en route for Pekin, accompanied by General Nieh, supposed to be one of the best of the Chinese generals, with sixty troops. We proceeded to Iofa, a distance of thirty-one miles. We found the plate-layers' cabins in flames and telegraph poles cut, and men engaged in destroying other property in villages near the railway, whose flags were seen bearing the inscription, 'Kill all foreigners.'"

"I saw smoke, evidently from burning houses, in the distance, but General Nieh refused to proceed further, being in mortal fear of the Boxers. The foreigners endeavored to persuade him to detain his troops, who are firmly convinced that it is useless to fight the Boxers, as other Chinese say they have seen Boxers hit with bullet, rise and run away."

"There seems to be little prospect of a resumption of traffic to Pekin, unless the foreign powers assume control of the railway, until the Chinese government proves itself capable of managing communications with its capital."

Later details from Tien-Tsin say that during the engagement at Tung-Hu between the 'Boxers' and Catholic Christians, Tuesday, the Christians captured nine cannon.

A special dispatch from Shanghai, dated 7:30 p. m. today, says the dowager empress has ordered General Nieh-Chong, with 3,000 men, to protect the railroad at Pekin. A severe fight, it is added, has occurred with the Boxers, whose ranks include many soldiers from other general's commands. When the battle ended two hundred dead were left on the field. The dispatch goes on to say:

"One hundred British, British marines, with a machine gun, are about to force a passage from Tien Tsin to Pekin. Altogether about 900 British have been landed from the fleet, a greater number than have landed from the combined vessels of the other powers. This evidence of Great Britain's intention to assert her position strongly gives great satisfaction here."

Berlin, June 7.—The officer commanding the German squadron at Che Foo has been directed by cables to send a detachment of sailors and marines to Tien Tsin, and after conferring with the German minister at Pekin to arrange with the commanders of the other squadrons regarding further measures to be taken for the protection of Europeans.

Situation at Pekin.

London, June 8.—The situation in China, as measured by abundant unofficial telegrams, continues full of interesting possibilities, but apparently it has grown worse during the last twenty-four hours, although the favorite adjectives of London and continental commentators are "perilous," "grave" and "dangerous." The naval commanders in Chinese waters have received identical instructions as to procedure, the question of an emergency being left to their discretion. No fear is entertained for the safety of the legations at Pekin. European residents, however, are evacuating from the capital to the coast. Pekin is still under control, according to a dispatch to the Morning Post, dated yesterday, but in a very excited state. A thousand foreign guards were garrisoning the legation houses.

A news agency dispatch from Tien Tsin, dated yesterday, says:

"The Boxers are still raddling and pillaging over a wide area. They have wrecked and burned the stations at Tong Fong and Langoo. It has been definitely ascertained that Mrs. Astor and Messrs. Oessert and Cades have been murdered. General Nieh claims to have defeated the Boxers, killing 500."
