new trial is granted. Discussing this feature of the case, Judge Archbald says:

The affidavit was prepared by Mr. O'Malley in the absence of the defendant on information which he himself had as well as facts communicated to him by Mr. McAndrew, the most active member of the base ball association. Mr. Gillespie, the defendant, had nothing to do with the affidavit prior to swearing to it, and he did that in response to a message from Mr. O'Malley to come and do so. On the way to Mr. O'Malley's office they met on the sidewalk and Mr. O'Malley having started to the depot to take a train. According to the testimony of both of them, Mr. Gillespie said: "I am going to your office." Mr. O'Malley inquired whether it was about the affidavit of defense and Gillespie said that was the case. "I can go with you," Mr. O'Malley said. "I prepared it from the facts and you go up and some of the boys will give it to you, and you swear to it; it is all right." This could not be said to be knowingly false nor could the defendant, under such circumstances be convicted of perjury. Under such circumstances it can hardly be said that he took either a rash or a reckless oath, and so far as the charge of the court went beyond this it cannot be sustained. This rule for a new trial is made absolute.

An acquittal is confidently looked for by Mr. Gillespie's counsel, Attorneys Taylor & Lewis.

Second Week of Quarter Sessions.

This week's criminal court list has quite as many important cases as that of last week and is, as the wont, is headed by a homicide case. The defendant is Peter Chiripano, and his crime was the shooting of four of his countrymen at Jessup, January 22 of this year. Augusta Escamilla received a bullet through the heart and died instantly. Amerigo Mariangello was shot in the body, Augusta Roman in the leg and Charlie Gabriello in the arm. These three recovered, though Mariangello's life was despaired of for a time. The shooting was the result of bad blood between Escamilla and Chiripano, which was engendered at a christening the previous day. Chiripano came upon the party in Giovanni Gillardi's house and, addressing Escamilla, said: "I'm looking for you." Hot words were exchanged, but no shots were fired. Escamilla, armed with a 4-caliber revolver. All five chambers were discharged and every bullet took effect except one. Chiripano tried to get away, but was overtaken and roughly handled by a crowd. The case was set down for the last day of court, but continued by adjournment of the defendant's attorney, John M. Harris.

Among other cases on the list are five charging criminal libel against Little and O'Toole, of the Scrantonian; six against E. A. Knight, and one against Charles H. O'Brien, charging libel against slot machines, and twenty-nine illegal liquor-selling cases, including all those being prosecuted by the Men's union.

Judge Archbald will preside in No. 1, Judge Edwards in No. 2, and Judge David Cameron, of Wellsboro, Tioga county, in No. 3.

LIVE NEWS OF THE INDUSTRIAL WORLD

OUTLOOK FOR THE HARD COAL TRADE FAVORABLE.

In Germany This Week Will Be Celebrated the Seven Hundredth Anniversary of the Opening of the Mansfeld Copper Mines—The D. L. & W. Board—Section Foremen on the D. L. & W. Will Have to Pass an Examination Hereafter—Present Status of the Iron Market.

The outlook for the balance of the year in the anthracite trade is decidedly favorable, though dullness prevails at present. The estimated output for May is 3,890,75 tons, an increase of 242,961 tons over May, 1899. For the first five months of this year the output is put at 17,863,573 tons, an increase of 1,238,853 tons over 1899. The May output, in view of the efforts to keep down production, is larger than was expected.

Still, we hear of no large accumulations of coal at any one point, and this fact is the basis of our expectations that the mines will have employment for all the men they can get when fall buying is fairly started. The continued exodus of miners to the bituminous field when steady work is offered, and possible labor troubles may make it difficult for the companies to fill orders promptly this fall. Consequently now would seem to be a good time for consumers to stock up. Trade in Chicago territory is fair for this season of the year. At the head of the lakes there is little doing. The movement of coal from Buffalo is fair. At Boston, New York and Philadelphia things are pretty quiet.—Engineering and Mining Journal.

Big Match Company Formed.

An Associated Press dispatch tells of the granting of a charter, Saturday, in New Jersey, to the Diamond Match Company with a capitalization of $600,000, and says the incorporators are Scranton parties.

A number of prominent local investors interviewed last evening know nothing of the new company.

This and That.

The Long Island railroad will pass under the control of the Pennsylvania Railroad company on June 18.

Less than five years ago the Atchison system was bankrupt. Now it is earning $9,000,000 on its $216,000,000 stock.

A Pennsylvania Steel company director says that the company has no department which has not sufficient orders to keep it busy up into October, and many have enough to last into 1901.

It is stated that the new Bessemer plant of the Republic Iron and Steel company, at Youngstown, O., may be ready for operation about July 1. The cupola bottom and boiler houses and gas producers will soon be finished.

The William Penn colliery, operated by the Susquehanna Coal company, near Shenandoah, is about to undergo changes, which will prolong its usefulness for twenty years longer. A shaft will be sunk to the bottom of the mammoth vein, where an immense deposit of the rich kind of coal has been found.

The iron market is gradually settling down to a lower and less speculative level. With Bessemer pig at $20 and steel billets at $28 in Pittsburgh, buyers are more disposed to come into the market; though a number are still holding back, expecting to see further concessions. Foundry irons have been rather more active, as stocks in many foundry yards are getting low.

Interesting Celebration.

An interesting event to the mining world will be celebrated this week at Eisleben in Germany, where ceremonies will be held in commemoration of the seven hundredth anniversary of the opening of the Mansfeld copper mines, which are still actively worked. These mines antedate by a few years those of the Stora Kopparberg in Sweden, and are the oldest mines in the world which have been operated continuously, or with only brief interruptions.

It is true that the Rio Tinto mines in Spain were worked by the Romans and the lead mines of Laurium in Greece by their Greek owners over 2,000 years ago; but there are gaps of centuries in the history of those mines. Many distinguished men, including the Emperor of Germany, are to be present at Eisleben, and it will be a memorable event.

NOLAN WILL SPEND SIX YEARS IN JAIL.

HE PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGE OF MANSLAUGHTER.

Killed His Father, John Nolan, at Their Home in Carbondale on April 11 Last—Got Half the Maximum Penalty—Wilson, the Forger, Sent Down for Four Years—George Cardner Got Three Months in the County Jail—Sentence Suspended in the Noll Case.

Six years—half the maximum penalty—is the time James Nolan, of Carbondale, must serve in the Eastern penitentiary for the killing of his father, John Nolan, at their home in Carbondale, April 11, last. The sentence was imposed by Judge Edwards Saturday morning.

Attorney Thomas P. Duffy, who with Attorney L. P. Wedeman, was assigned to defend Nolan, made a plea for leniency on behalf of the convict's family, and a brief statement of the circumstances of the killing as related by his client.

Nolan stoutly maintained, Attorney Duffy said, that the deed was committed in self defense and it was only on the urgent advice of his counsel that he pleaded guilty of manslaughter. His father had been drinking, and when the son unmasked him he attempted to shoot him and struck him on the head with the butt of the gun. The son tried to flee, but the father got between him and the door and in the struggle which followed the fatal blow was delivered.

JUDGE'S COMMENT.

Judge Edwards, in passing sentence, said that a son who kills his father ought to be willing to undergo any punishment the law might impose on him, as it would be some satisfaction to his conscience to feel that he had at least paid a part penalty for his crime.

A comparatively lenient sentence was also imposed by Judge Edwards on George W. Wilson, the professional crook, who pleaded guilty to two of the indictments charging him with possessing forged checks. Two years in each of the two cases was the sentence. Wilson served six years for a similar offense in Baltimore and is also wanted for forgery in Altoona.

George Cardner, the alleged forger of Archbald, who was convicted of inciting boys to steal brass, was let off with three months in the county jail. In imposing sentence Judge Edwards said this thing of inducing boys to steal metal would have to be stopped. It is one of the worst conditions the court in this county has to deal with, he said. He understood the prisoner had not been engaged very extensively in this sort of business and would therefore not be severe with him.

Frank Miller, convicted of stealing chickens from Mrs. Barbara Kennedy, of Prospect avenue, was sentenced to thirty days in the county jail.

SENTENCE SUSPENDED.

Judge Savage suspended sentence indefinitely in the case of Jim Noll, who pleaded guilty to the charge of tipping house preferred by his brother, William Noll. The statement of the prisoner, that the prosecution was brought with a view of compelling him to relinquish an interest in a property left jointly to himself and his brother, moved the judge to issue the ticket-of-leave.

Joshua Miller was sentenced by Judge Savage to pay a fine of $5 and spend six days in jail for stealing lead pipe from a tenement house owned by J. J. Vetter.

Sentence was deferred in the case of H. B. Frank, convicted of assaulting his wife, Stella Frank, until a pending desertion case scheduled for next Saturday is disposed of.

P. H. Gilgallon was acquitted of the charge of embezzlement, preferred by the Rogers Whiskey company. B. S. Ketcham, charged with a similar offense by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, was convicted, but sentence was deferred to give the defendant an opportunity to make restitution and ask for an indefinite suspension of sentence.

Man Killed in Jersey City Is Unknown in Scranton.

Diligent inquiry has been made by the police to discover if any Martin Conner lived in the city during the past year. A telegram was received Friday evening from Jersey City telling of the death there of Martin Conner, of this city. He was killed by a locomotive on the Northern Railroad of New Jersey, and in his pocket was a memorandum book with the address Martin Conner, Scranton, Pa. on his right forearm were the letters, "M. C."

The directory shows no one of that name to have lived here and Chief Robling declares himself of the opinion that there must be some mistake and that the dead man belongs in some other city.
