THE GLEANERS SUCCEED. The Gleaners of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church are much elated over the work accomplished by their society during the past five months. The president and treasurer of the society, Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. C. R. Acker, went to the West Side bank yesterday and paid one thousand dollars on the principle of the mortgage held by that institution against the church property, and they still have a neat little sum in the treasury to start the accumulation of the second thousand pledged.

The Gleaners have worked hard and faithful towards the realization of their object. The collectors of the clety have solicited over $700 of this sum by a house to house canvass of the church members, and though the #### task is not a pleasant one and the discouragements many, yet the ladies are hopeful and enthusiastic and will continue their well begun work until the full debt is cancelled. The society

vishes to thank all those in and outside the church who have in any way contributed toward their helpfulness and hope that many who have not as yet assisted them will be encouraged by this good report to do so in their further efforts.

SECOND NIGHT OF THE FAIR. The attendance at the fair and fes-tival in the Jackson Street Baptist church last evening was considerably larger than on the previous evening, and as a result the treasury was considerably swelled. An excellent pro-gramme was provided, which included a plano trio by Wilhelmena Griffin, Lillian Morris and Emeline Lanyon; dumb bill drill by members of the Fidelian society, recitations by Maud Weatherhog and Pearl Jenkins, selections by Stanton's orchestra, solo by Master Herbert Williams, and a dialogue entitled "A School Girl's Strategy.

The total number of tickets disposed of in advance was $00, and all of the articles in the different booths were contributed by merchants and friends of the church. The fair will close this evening, when another entertainment will be given.
