

CRIMINALS IN PENNSYLVANIA

ALLEGED JURY FIXING.

P. J. Fitzgerald & Sayre Clothier Arrested on a Serious Charge.

Towanda, June 17.—Another chapter of the Sayre adultery case has come out. P. J. Fitzgerald, a Sayre clothier, has been arrested for the third time, this time on a warrant charging him with tampering with a jury of the Bradford county courts. At a hearing he was placed under bail of $200 for a further trial on June 22.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Tunkhannock, June 16.—The regular June term of quarter sessions court convenes here on Monday next. The criminal business for the term is likely to be light, and two common pleas cases have been set down for argument of attorneys for trial at that time. They are the ejectment suit of H. B. Keeler vs. Asa H. Frear and W. E. Little, involving the title to a tract of land in Overfield township, which defendant claims to own.

Several Odd Fellows' lodges in Susquehanna county on Tuesday last decorated the graves of their deceased members. Brookline, this county, has a newly organized lodge of twenty members. L. G. McCawley, son of J. B. McCawley, of Susquehanna, is one of this year's class at the West Chester State Normal school, and he graduates with the highest honors ever attained by a student in that institution.

Tramps are unusually plentiful. One of the allied brotherhoods recently asked an Erie avenue woman for "something hot." She responded by "showing him with hot water from a boiler." There is a rumor that the Delaware and Hudson road is to shorten its Pennsylvania division by making Tuscarora the northern terminus, instead of Nineveh. This would involve the change of the yard at the latter place, and second-class trains would only make the run from Carbondale to Tuscarora.

The esteem and admiration in which Rev. M. V. Crane is held by the people of Avoca was demonstrated on Saturday evening, when a brilliant ovation was tendered him by the citizens immediately after his arrival from his trans-Atlantic trip. The societies connected with the church formed near the parochial residence and with flying colors and martial music marched to the borough limits and afterward to the church, where in their behalf orated with palms, ferns, roses and national colors was erected. Prof. C. F. Hoban acted as chairman, and after a few remarks St. Mary's choir rendered a few choice selections. Attorney M. J. Dixon was chosen to represent the societies, and in their behalf presented him with a purse contributed by the public. Mr. Dixon has often been heard at public assemblies, but his oration on Saturday was a most eloquent one, and in alluding to Father Crane's death, he said that during his twenty-five years' pastorate at this place he never forgot the services of one priest who had been so true to his duty and so full of grace.

It has just been announced that W. H. Wildenberger and Miss Winnie Hyatt, of Forest City, were married some time since. Both are esteemed residents and business people. Mrs. Wildenberger is a former resident of Starucca. She has many personal friends in Susquehanna county. The Pittsburg, Binghamton and Eastern railroad, for which a charter has just been granted, will strike Susquehanna county at several points. Mrs. Rev. Charles Newing is ill at the parsonage on Washington street. George, son of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Deakin, of Erie avenue, is seriously ill. The Tower family reunion was held at the residence of Frank Forsyth, in Harford.

NICHOLSON.

Nicholson, June 17.—Yesterday Mrs. J. B. Cornell gave a birthday surprise party at her home in honor of her father, Mr. Patterson's ninety-first birthday. Thirty relatives were present. Little James Finnan, while playing with fireworks last week, had a fire-cracker go off in his face, burning it badly and injuring his eyes. Mr. William Morgan is entertaining his mother, Mrs. Morgan, of Scranton. Mrs. M. Parker is visiting relatives in Scranton today. Warren Quick, of Carbondale, is spending a few days here among friends and relatives. Mrs. J. W. Andrews and daughters, Mary and Dorsey, of Lehigh, are spending a week at the home of Rev. and Mrs. Luman E. Sanford. Among those from here who attended the graduating exercises at Keyston academy at Factoryville yesterday were Miss Nellie Mack, Miss Cora Kling, Miss Cora Stephens, Miss Beatrice Stephens, Miss Eula Worrel, Miss Nellie Stephens, Mrs. A. W. Stephens, Mrs. Fred L. Foster, Mrs. Harry Taylor, Mrs. William S. Decker, Prof. Mrs. Stephens, Mr. Ellis Bond, Rev. and Mrs. Sanford and their friends, Mrs. Andrews.

NEW MILFORD.

New Milford, June 17.—Mr. George Moffatt, of Binghamton, was in town on business, Wednesday. Mrs. D. P. Replogle and daughter, Mildred, of Scranton, spent Thursday here. Mrs. Amanda Latham is entertaining her niece, Miss Alpha Latham, of Gouldsboro, this week. Mrs. Alfred Wickham and Mrs. Fred Major and children, of Scranton, have been spending the week with Mrs. Fred Smith, on Williams street.

WHAT DO THE CHILDREN DRINK?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called GRAIN-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more GRAIN-O you give the children the more healthy you distribute through their system. GRAIN-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/2 as much. All grocers sell it, and so do.

CAMPAGNING IN THE PHILIPPINES

LETTER RECEIVED FROM LIEUTENANT MURPHY.

It Was Addressed to Chief-of-Police Frank Robling and Tella of the Experience That Uncle Sam's Men Are Undergoing in Our Eastern Possessions—Battalion, the Writer Is a Member of, Has Killed 400 of the Natives and Injured Many Others.

Chief of Police Frank Robling Friday received the following letter from Lieutenant Thomas Murphy, of this city, at present serving in the Philippines, and who was formerly a member of Company C, of the Thirtieth regiment, then under Captain Robling. The badge mentioned in the letter accompanies the missive and is a very odd looking specimen of police authority. It is merely a short strip of leather upon which is the legend, "POLICE OF BACACUA," or police of Bacaca. The letter follows:

Dear Friend Frank:—Things are still moving over here. Two companies went out on a scout last night and were ambushed; one man was killed, another wounded. The point where they had the trouble was an old hangout for the Filipinos. After the companies returned I wrote you a letter and the major in the Philippine army, which read on this order: "I see you still send your troops up here to bother us, and now I will give you a little notice, in the first place I would like to know what you want. If it is gold, why don't you go and work for it like we do. But if it is light you need not wear your men out by sending them to die for you. I will give you a little notice, and when I come it will be with fire and sword."

These are not the words he used, but as near them as I can remember. Well, after the colonel read this letter he said: "Well, we will catch this fine major when he comes, but in the meantime we will go and kill him in the next place. I would like to see you go and work for it like we do. But if it is light you need not wear your men out by sending them to die for you. I will give you a little notice, and when I come it will be with fire and sword."
