people have so soon forgotten the mis-"If Roosevelt is nominated it will not be because Quay and Platt will be for him, but because the convention in its wisdom believes that he is the strongest candidate, Quay and Platt been in combinations before to prevent the nomination of particular candidates and they have failed. At Minneapolis, in 1892, they antagonized President Harrison's re-nomination, and again in St. Louis four years ago they and their senatorial and national committee colleagues opposed McKin-ley. In neither case, with all the creddue them as astute managing politicians in their several states, did they make a respectable showing. Unless they satisfy the convention that Roosevelt would be the best candidate to nominate Quay and Platt will not succeed in their latest combination any more than they did formerly. The candidate for vice president should be as big a man as the candidate for the first place. I think Dolliver, Walcott, Fairbanks or Bliss would make excellent running mates with McKinley. There is plenty of good material."

Have Abandoned Scott.

Oregon and Washington are said to have abandoned Irving Scott as a vicepresidential possibility and agreed to support Bartlett Tripp. General Samuel K. Ashton, of Washington, will place Tripp's name before the convention, and Wallace McCamant, chairman of the Oregon delegation, will second the nomination. Tripp's friends claim that he already has forty votes, as follows: Oregon, 8; Washington, 8; South Dakota, 8; North Dakota, 6; Utah, 6; Alaska, 4. The Oregon delegation is located at the Bingham House. "If Roosevelt will only take the vice-presidential nomination we are all for him out in Missouri," said W. S. Shirk, one of the delegates from that state. "If Teddy will not take it, then our delegation will divide up. Dolliver is probably the strongest candidate with Roosevelt out. Many of our delegation favor Bliss. I think it ought to be an eastern man, provided he is not from a state that is divided."

Dolliver's Chances.

One of the members of the Nebraska delegation, speaking of the vice-presidential situation, said this morning; "Owing to the many conflicting rumors now affoat concerning the posiwould like to see some man from west of Missouri named for the second place on the ticket, there is a very strong sentiment in favor of Roosevelt, and If he consents to become a candidate I am satisfied our delegation will support him solidly. Should be persist, however, in his refusal to accept the nomination, I think the majority of our delegation will favor Dolliver, of Iowa, for the nomination."

ROOSEVELT'S EFFORT TO HALT STAMPEDE

A Statement Made to Newspaper leaders, both Governor Roosevelt and if Roosevelt would stand he would have to Be at Rest.

By Associated Press.

Philadelphia, June 18. - Governor Theodore Roosevelt has made as specific a refusal of the nomination for vice-president as be could possibly make in view of the fact that the nominating convention has not met and that few of the delegations have caucrowd of newspaper men this after-noon, he made the following statement, reading it from a couple of sheets of manuscript:

"In view of the revival of the talk of myself as a vice-presidential canpossible too deeply to express how this nomination. Moreover, it is not necessary to say how thoroughly I unof the office, an office so high and honorable that it is well worthy the ambition of any man in the United States. But while I appreciate all this to the full, nevertheless I feel most deeply that the field of my best usefulness to dignified manner their interests were the public and to the party is in New put forward by their friends through York state and if the party should see fit to nominate me for governor I can in that position help the national ticket

A farmer is known by his furrow as "the carpenter is known by his chips." It takes a firm hand and a true eye to turn a straight furrow. No wonder the farmer wears out, spite of exercise and fresh air. One day's work on the farm would tire One day's work on the farm would tire many a trained athlete. And the farmer works hardest of all. The first up and the last to bed, feeding his team before he feeds himself, his work is practically never done. Why does not the farmer treat his own body as he treats the land he cultivates? He puts back in phosphiate what he takes out in crops, or the land would grow poor. The farmer and would grow poor. The farmer should put back into his body the vital elements exhausted by labor. If he does not, he will soon complain of "poor health." The great value of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is in its vitalizing power. It gives strength to the tring power. It gives strength to the stomach, life to the lungs, purity to the blood. "I write to tell you of the great benefit I received from the use of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," writes Mr. G. B. Bird, of Byrnside, Putnam Co., W. Va. "It cured me of a very bad case of indigestion associated with torpid liver. Before I began the use of 'Golden Medical Discovery' I had no appetite; could not aleep nor work but very little. The little that I ate did not agree with me bowels constipated, and life was a misery forme I wrote to Dr. Pierce giving the symptoms, and asked for advice. He advised me to try the 'Golden Medical Discovery' so I began the use of it and after taking four bottles I felt so well that I went to work; but soon got worse, so I again began the use of it and used it about eight weeks longer, when I was permanently cured."

The document was in his own hand-writing and in lead pencil copy, and he read it with the same complacency that he would have given a platform speech. The scene bordered on the dramatic. Sitting near him, as he spoke, were Congressmen Littauer and Sherman, of New York, and Prof. Jenks, of Columbia college, who have all along urged the governor not to ac-cept. Just behind the row of newspaper men stood Frank Platt, Lemuel Quigg and B. B. Odell, of the New York organization. As the governor men to write down the statement, he frequently glanced in the direction of the group of politicians. When he finished, he said: "Gentlemen, that is all. have nothing more to say. Mr. Littauer said he thought the statement timely and believed that it would give the delegates who were friendly to Governor Roosevelt an idea of the situation. "And I don't mean by that," he said, rather aggressively, Senator Lodge contradicts the current report concerning his utterances cipated with the governor and Senator Hanna. He says that he went to Governor Roosevelt's room as supporter of Secretary Long and that the governor knew his position. "I have been personal friend of Governor Roosevelt for many years," he said, "and as his friend it would be impossible for me to take the position there attributed to me, or to use the language placed in my mouth. The whole story is the tissue of inventions.

Day of Conferences.

It has been a day of conferences on the vice-presidential situation. Beginning with a gathering in the room of Governor Roosevelt, attended by Sena- has given Governor Roosevelt." Men—Talk Concerning Other Canthe last man had disappeared Senator out. Dolliver would probably be the way of his choice for the president was ready to announce that Governor Roosevelt would not be nominated and that the men who were going to make the nomination would accept the declaration of Roosevelt, made during the day, and supplements of more phatic declarations made some time ago as final, and would not force the nomination upon him.

Among the last men to see Senator Hanna were Chairman Odell, of the Standing in a small reom, facing a New York committee, and L. E. Quigg. length. It was with these men that Senator Hanna labored. He told them that six weeks ago Roosevelt was wanted as a vice-presidential candidate. He and other warm friends of didate, I have this to say: It is im- the administration believed he would be a very satisfactory candidate. The touched I am by the attitude of those bare suggestion brought out a protest delegates who have wished me to take from Roosevelt-a declaration in very emphatic terms that he would not accept the place. After this declaration derstand the high honor and dignity had been reiterated several times it was taken up by Senator Platt, who publicly announced that Governor Roosevelt was not to be considered as a vice-presidential candidate. Then other candidates appeared and in a the country.

The only man appearing in New York was Lieutenant Governor Woodruff. The suggestion of ex-Secretary Bliss brought forth a declination from him later by a statement from Mr. Hanna himself, that Bliss could not be considered for personal reasons.

Senator Hanna then pointed out that after the delegates began arriving the name of Roosevelt was suddenly orung with an effort to stampede the convention and force a nomination upon a man who did not want it, apparently because some other candidate was desired for governor. As the Ohio senator rehearsed the conditions he warmed up and pointed out that under the existing conditions the nomination of Roosevelt was not fair to the men who had come out for the place and "ho should have an equal show before the convention. This plain talk of the senator cleared up what had been in loubt all day. Hanna Will Not Lie Down.

It was evident that Hanna was not roing to lie down. It was a distinct show of fight and a signal to the friends of the administration that opposition to forcing Roosevelt upon the ticket against his will would with no favor. This tip did not circulate until quite late in the evening, but the effect was soon apparent. There were many real friends of Roosevelt who accepted his declaration as absolutely voicing his wishes. It changed the current of talk, and men who were confident 24 hours ago that Roosevelt's nomination was foregone conclusion began asking: "Well, who will it be?" The answer was generally, John D. Long, of Massachusetts, secretary of the navy. At once delegates began to reason that Long must be perfectly satisfactory to the administration of which he is a part, or he would not be a candidate for the place. This idea received further argument in quarters which made the Massachusetts man a prime favorite. Of course there was talk of other men. The friends of Dolliver renewed their efforts for the young Iowa senator. There was some talk about Fairbanks, but the prevail-be considered. It was urged that an unwilling candidate was not advisable, and therefore the men most talk-id of were Long and Dolliver, but with the general impression that Long would be the ultimate selection.

The Boom at Rest.

And so the stampede for Roosevelt was checked and turned, and that which seemed so certain last night scems well nigh impossible tonight Roosevelt himself has close personal friends working among delegates and assuring them that the nomination was not desired by him, Senator Hanna and his lieutenants all working together are responsible for this resuit. It has been a day of hard work, earnest endeavor, and tonight the men most interested believe that the Roosevelt boom has, finally been laid

GEN. GREENE'S SPEECH.

Effective With the Kansas Delegation.

Philadelphia, June 18.-Great interest centered at the Kansas headquarters early in the day, as Governor Roosevelt had promised to pay a visit to the delegation, and it was thought he would say something on his candidacy. The governor could not come over and sent General Francis V. Greene, who served conspicuously in the Philippines, and whose name is also mentioned for the vice presidency paper man. The statement acted as a to take his place. VOTE OF PENNSYLVANIANS.

The Delegation Casts 52 Ballots for Roosevelt.

Philadelphia, June 18 .- The Pennsylvania delegation met this afternoon and unanimously re-elected Colonel M. S. Quay national committeeman from this state. Colonel Quay presided and he was also made chairman of the delegation.

On motion of Senator Penrose the delegation was pledged to McKinley. Chairman Quay said this was scarcely necessary, but he put the motion as matter of form. Senator Penrose then moved that the delegation be instructed for Roosevelt for vice prest-dent. State Senator C. L. Magee (anti-Quay) asked for a roll call. Conwhether Roosevelt would accept if endorsed. Senator Penrose said: assure the gentleman and other delegates that Governor Roosevelt will accept if the nomination is tendered

Senator Flinn, of Pittsburg (anti-Quay), thought that it was rather early to tie up the delegation. To this suggestion Chairman Quay replied that there was nothing binding in the motion; that it merely showed the preference of the delegation. The roll was then called, resulting: Roosevelt, 52; Root, 1; Long, 1; Bliss, 1; excused from voting, 7; absent, 2. Magee voted for Bliss, Van Bonhorst voted for Root and Flinn did not vote. The following were elected as the state representatives on the various committees:

Resolutions, Senator Boles Penrose, Philadelphia; credentials, A. S. L. Shields, Philadelphia; permanent organization, John B. Steel, Washington; rules and order of business, Congressman H. H. Bingham, Philadelphia vice-president, S. P. Dick, Crawford; to notify president, C. L. Magee, Pittsburg; to notify vice-president, John A. Murdock, Washington.

MICHIGAN FAVORS ROOSEVELT

A Premature Resolution Is Placed on the Table.

Philadelphia, June 18.-The tabling of a Roosevelt resolution was the event of the day in the Michigan delegation, although this was construed by those opposing the resolution as favorable to Roosevelt's ultimate welfare. Delegate Robertson precipitated the issue by offering a resolution favorable to Roosevelt. It was opposed by Colonel Hecker and others on the ground that such action was premature, and the resolution, as stated, was finally tabled.

In order to avoid possible miscontruction of this action, D. M. Ferry, the Republican candidate for governor, and W. H. Elliott, the new na-tional committeeman from Michigan, were designated as a committee to explain the situation to Mr. Roosevelt. They told the governor the Michigan delegates felt that his acceptance of the vice presidency would stand in the four years hence, which was considere I the real honor awaiting him, and that the vice presidential resolution was accordingly tabled as adverse to his interests.

Governor Roosevelt expressed himself pleased with what had been done, and said he hoped other delegations would do the same.

TAYLOR AND BRADLEY.

Two Central Figures in the Kentucky Delegation.

Philadelphia,June 18.-Governor Taylor and Governor Bradley are the two central figures of the Kentucky delegation, which has quarters at the Continental. The delegation is augmented by the McKinley club, of Louisville, with a big band, which keeps things gressman M. B. Williams inquired lively. Delegate W. P. Ross summed up the feeling thus: "Kentucky wants compliment Governor Bradley by having his name considered for the vice-presidency. After that the sentiment seems strongest for Roosevelt, if he will accept, with no definite choice among the other candidates,"

Governor Taylor is accompanied by his wife, and the two kept to their rooms much of the time. Members of the party say the Kentucky authorities who hold a warrant for Mr. Taylor are following his movements from state to state, but no fear is expressed that the matter will be brought up while he is here. The governor him-self today told his friends he had not been annoyed on the trip here and did not expect to have any trouble. When the matter was referred to at the Kentucky headquarters it evoked heated denunciations of the conspiracy against Taylor and expressions of sturdy loy-
