John Gillo, of Old Forge, yesterday swore out warrants before Alderman Kasson, charging Mrs. Mary Gillo, his wife, with carrying concealed weapons, and with attacking him with the same weapon, which is a very ugly looking dagger. He also charges his brotherin-law, one Frank Delario, also known as Pasquale, with having drawn a re-volver upon him and threatening to end him from this world of care.

It was after this latter experience that he had the encounter with his wife, who has for some time past been living apart from him. They began a conversation, which was culminated by Mrs. Gillo drawing the weapon on him. Both parties were held in ball by the alderman, after which Mrs. Gillo, in turn, swore out a warrant. She claims that yesterday morning her husband and a neighbor, by the name of Graziano Fabzcezo, attacked and brutally beat her. The alderman held the defendants in this case in bail,

COMMITTEE HOPES TO GET ONE BUILT FREE TO THE CITY.

At Last Night's Board of Trade and Highways Committee on Street Car Viaduct Over West Lackawanna Avenue Was Discussed at Length and Then Referred Back to Committee-Matter of a Manufacturers' Building.

The members of the board of trade wrestled with the viaduct question again last night, and after much discussion referred it back for further consideration to the committee streets and highways, the latter being empowered to call a special meeting of the board for its further consideration, if circumstances warrant such action. It will be remembered that at the April meeting of the board, Chairman F. L. Hitchcock, of the streets and highways committee, introduced a resolution calling upon councils to allow the Scranton Rallway company to build a viaduct over the West Lackawanna avenue crossing for the accommodation of its street cars. The resolution was at that time referred back to the committee, and did not come up again until last night. Colonel Hitchcock said last night that he didn't want the resolution passed just yet, as its passage might spoll a plan which the committee has in view, but just what it was he would not divulge. He did want the matter referred back, however, to the committee, with power to declare it passed if certain other projects didn't ma-terialize. This was considered just a little bit out of the ordinary, and the committee was finally empowered to call a special meeting of the board if It becomes necessary to pass the reso-

Colonel Hitchcock intimated that the committee project was to bring the street railway and Lackawanna company officials together for the purpose of getting them to agree between themselven on building a viaduct over the entire street. Luther Keller vigorthe board's considering the question at all, but Captain W. A. May took sides against him.

HALF A LOAF DESIRED.

The latter stated that the great danger lay in the probability of a street car being struck and that as the matter of getting a viaduct to cover the whole street was practically out of the question now, half a loaf was better than no bread. He said that the board of trade should be in the forefront of any movement that would tend to lessen the danger of grade crossings.

Secretary Atherton presented the following letter concerning the proposed manufacturies building, and the suggestions offered in it were adopted:

To the Officect and Members of the Scranton Board of Trade. Gentlemen: At the last meeting of the board your secretary was instructed to report some plan whereby we could most effectually bring to the attention of small manufactures in Brooklyn the following:

Ruffianly Conduct of a Newly Appointed Assistant Chief.

The fact that it would not injure the Scranton fire department to any great extent if there were a few more men with some gentlemanly instincts scattered among those high in authority was strongly evidenced yesterday at the fire in the basement of Mahon's store, on Lackawanna avenue, by the rufflan-like conduct of Daniel J. Slowe, district chief, and a member of the Crystal Hose company. A representa-tive of a local paper, who was in the basement trying to gather some facts about the fire, was ordered out of the place by Slowe, who only recently was advanced to his exalted position ously opposed the whole matter of and was tremendously eager for a chance to show his authority. The reporter, on being ordered out of the place did not comply with the request as quickly as Slowe deemed proper, but, on his turning to leave, was walking out quietly when the district chief attacked him and rushed him out of the door, tearing his shirt from his back and inflicting an injury on his right hand.

This particular reporter, and representatives of other papers for that matter, were on the spot of the fire before the ruffianly fireman who assaulted him. He had helped break in the basement door and had removed several articles of furniture in the apart ment from the flames. The Crystals responded after the Chemical company had already almost entirely put the fire out, and as a result Slowe was feeling rather vicious and vented his wrath on the bystanders.

When he learned that it was one of the representatives of the local press he had attacked he was very much put out, and expressed his regret.
