Stockholders Expect to Have Scranton in the Game Again.

Base ball for the rest of this sea on is as dead as the proverbial door nail in Scranton, but already fond cranks are looking forward to next season, and making anxious queries as to whether or not this city will be represented on the diamond. It is not unlikely that Scranton will have some more diamond experience. This year's stockholders came through the season, if not financially winners, yet so little losers that the majority look back with pleasure. There is one point upon which all agree and that is that there never was a better manager in the city than Walter Burnnam

T. R. Brooks, who with his brother, John H. Brooks, were two of the most generous supporters of the team, yesterday said:

"All of the directors were more than pleased with the way Mr. Burnham andled not only the team itself, but the financial side of the situation.

"He is an excellent business man, and if he gave up base ball entirely, could make a sucess in the mercantile world. He is probably the best manager that was ever in the city, and if ve have a team here again and can secure him, he will be at the helm. This year's base ball was unfortunate for him and for Scranton enthusiasm. but we are not despairing and personally are willing to go into base ball again in the future."

SAW A WHITE SHEET.

Thought It a Ghost and Spread the Alarm.

What was supposed to be a ghost at 10.30 o'clock last night caused a scene of wild disorder around the bridge on West Lackawanna avenue. Two wayfarers who were on the tracks below had a white sheet. Some one on the bridge saw them and, having imbibed rather deeply, gave a howl of terror and with a cry of "Ghosts!" started up Lackawanna avenue. Within a few minutes a great crowd had gathered. By that time the cause of the alarm had disappeared.

It will be understood 314-316 Lackawanna Ave. that by the terms of the contract, if the city did not repair the road the company was to do so and charge the

The lower court reserved the ques tion as to whether the contract was legal and submitted the case to the jury, which found a verdict for the company in the sum of $2,200.49. Subequently court entered judgment for the company upon the verdict, having decided the contract was binding. The city took the case to the Supreme court, contending, among other things, that the city had no right to impose taxes for the improvement of うちうううううう turnpike road which is essentially private way; that the contract was vold, as it was made perpetual, and precluded further legislation upon the subject, and finally that it was in direct conflict with that section of the constitution by which legislation is prohibited which authorizes a city apporpriate its money or loan its credit a corporation or individual. The supreme court decided that by the terms of the contract, which it declared legal, the city was obliged to bay for the repairs done by the company. From the time of this decision considerable sum of money has been expended every year by the company n repairing the road.

The following are the amounts expended, taken from the books in the city controller's office: 1894, $436.84; 1895, $567.91; 1896, $970.30; 1898, $1,499.96; 1899, $1,498.96; 1900, $500; judgment sustained by supreme court, $2,200.49; total, $7,502.99.

AMOUNT THIS YEAR.

This year the appropriation of $500 has already been exhausted and, as the work of repairing has not been completed, the company, through its president, H. E. Paine, has notified the city that it will begin the work of repairing itself this week, charging the bill to the city.

The company did this same thing on one memorable occasion some four or five years back and Street Commissioner Kinsley was directed by the mayor to stop the work. Mr. Kinsley went up to the scene of action and discovered Mr. Paine on the ground. The two got into a most heated altercation, with the result that the president of the company was arrested and conveyed to Alderman Millar's office in the patrol wagon. The bill for the work done at that time was recently before the auditing committee, who refused to pass it. The company, backed up by the supreme court decision, has entered suit in assumpsit, and a judgment for the amount will undoubtedly be entered against the city.
