Susquehanna, June 26 .- "Well," said the baggageman of the Lackawanna and Montrose passenger train at Al-ord, on Saturday, "did you ever hear low the mosquitoes saved a man's life st Summersville last summer?

"While getting out bluestone up on the hill, Bill Crandall was bitten in the leg by a rattlesnake. A New Milford doctor was at once sent for, and the leg was bandaged tightly above the wound. It was expected that Crandall would die before the doctor could ar-

Just as soon as the leg was bared to put on the bandage it was attacked by a swarm of mosquitos, and when the doctor arrived he found Crandall as lively as a cricket, but the ground was covered with dead and dying mosquitos. They had sucked the poison from the wound and saved Crandall's The mosquitos presented their bills and died. The doctor presented his bill and got the difference. This was hard on the mosquitos, but it is presumed Crandall's life was worth saving. If you doubt this story, ask the fireman.'

The attempt to make the Bible suit all our notions is like twisting a signpost to suit a cross-eyed man .- Forest City News. It might be a good idea for the editor of the News to unload a few of his "notions."

A Binghamton young lady recently ran into the office of a staid old law-yer and hugged and kissed him, and said that she accepted his offer of marriage, although he had never made one. She was crazy The fact that she ran into a lawyer's office instead of an editor's proves that. A Susquehanna county church society, having decided to build a new place of worship, the pastor went about begging very zealously, accepting, not only the widows' mite, but the childs' mite. In the Sunday school, one Sabbath, while instructing the children, the pastor compared himself to a shapherd, and then inquired what the shepherd did with his sheep. One bright little fellow promptly replied: "He shears them!"

ABOUT EBONY.

The Various Uses to Which the Black Wood Is Put.

'rom the Jewelers' Weekly. Ebony was known and highly es cemed by the ancients as an article of luxury, and was used by them for a variety of purposes. In India it is said that it was employed by kings for scenters and also for images. On account of its supposed antagonism to poisons it was used largely for drinking cups. Its use has extended contiguously down to the present time. and in England, as well as on the continent, it has always been held in high esteem by the wealthy for toilet articles and boxes. In France particularly the manufacture of ebony goods has attained a high degree of perfection. Within a few years its use in the United States has increased remarkably, in large measure, no doubt, on account of its combination with silver, which is believed to have originated in this country. The striking contrast of the dead black of the wood and the brilliant white of the silver has from the outset commended it to the American people. This combination, it is said, has now been introduced into England and other European countries. The silver mounting of the ebony gives scope for the taste and originality of the silversmith. The style of decoration most frequently used on the larger pieces consists of a border of scrolls, of flowers or of a combination of scrolls and floral designs. variety and degree of elaboration of the borders shown are almost endiess. Sometimes the border extends only half way around the edge of the article. A silver shield on which the initials of the owner may be engraved is generally placed in the center of the piece. This shield is occasionally replaced by monogram, more or less claborate, which may be the only mounting used. Large initials are also used instead monogram. Another style of decoration consists of a beaded edge of silver. While the border is occasionally used on smaller pieces, the decoration for these is generally confined to a shield or monogram. The shield may be combined with floral designs or scrolls. The name abony is given to the wood of several varieties of trees. All kinds of ebony are distinguished for their great density of dark color. A TALKING MOCKING BIRD. A Songster That Is the Wonder of Georgia Town.

From the Augusta (Ga.) Herald. A mocking bird belonging to Mrs. William Neill has actually been taught by her to talk. It is very interesting, indeed, to hear it utter the words that have, by persistent and painstaking efforts, been taught it. The bird's cog-nomen is Charlie, and it has a reputation that is envied by mocking bird owners. It mimics every noise it hears if repeated a number of times, and can repeat all the call whistles that the boys of the various cliques and clans use as signals. Mr. Nelll used to own a dog, and their favorite call for the pet animal was "Hear, hear, hear," and a short whistle, and repeated. Now the bird Charlie can call that dog as distinctly as any person might. It very clearly says, "Hear, hear (whistle);

While living at the Planters' Hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Neill were frequently treated to a cat serenade, and the bird learned to mimic them to a surprising degree. Now that they are residing in presumably a catless neighborhaad they are often fooled by the bird, who can mew so much like a cat that one is loath to believe that the sounds issue from the bird's throat unless actually standing near the cage. Mr. Nelll used frequently to amuse himself by saying to the bird, "Tommy, don't," "Tommy, don't," and sometimes, "Now, Tommy, don't." The bird has learend to say it now as distinctly as Mr. Neill himself. On one of the chimneys of the house djoining where Mr. and Mrs. Neill reside is a bonnet, and when the air is stirring that bonnet turns as the wind changes direction, with a hideous creaking. The other day Mrs . Neill. whose room windows face the chimney, heard the creaking, and was just about to abuse the bonnet when she discovered that the mischievous bird was making the noise.

The bird can crow like a rooster and cackle like a hen. It often beguiles zens. It was decided to excavate the inmates of the house to the front about six inches of surface and after- door by imitating the postman's whistle. It can also mimic man's whistle; in fact there are very few familiar sounds that it has not learned.

Mrs. Neill once owned a bird that could whistle two familiar waltzes. She would whistle them for it fust prior to retiring, and in the morning again the tunes were whistled until the little bird learned them perfectly. is very remarkable to hear a mocking bird utter words, and it is doubtful whether there is another besides the one owned by Mrs. Neill that enjoys that reputation. It requires onsiderable pains to teach the bird. and certainly a great amount of ingenuity and skill. Mr. and Mrs. Neill

Wall Street Review. New York, June 26 .- The bull contingent in stocks failed to realize their expectations today, though the changes at the close show net gains for the majority of stocks. Final prices, however, were considerable below the best and the tone of the market during the latter part of the day was decidedly unsettled and spotty, in spite of the sustaining influence of notably strength in some stocks. The first rally in the market followed the sharp break in the wheat market and was most noticeable in the southwestern grangers, especially Burlington and Atchison preferred. The continued weakness in Baltimore and Ohio and signs of heaviness in Pennsylvania discouraged the buying of the railroad stocks and they were inclined to droop during the latter part of the day. The sustaining force during that period was the advance in Brooklyn Transit and the steel stocks. In the former the bears showed symptoms of alarm. recalling their painful experiences growing out of the similar weakness in Third avenue and other traction stock. There was on news to account for the strength in the steel stocks, but they were absorbed with considerable confidence and advanced easily on smal transactions. Their gains at one time ran from 1 to 34. Apparently the opinoin is gaining force that the decline in price of iron and its products has almost run its course A further rise in the price of lead following the recovery of yesterday, and the strength of silver demand from foreign countries had a tonic effect on al the metal markets. Total sales today, 367,300 shares. Some of the speculative bonds show sharp recoveries, but the market generally was irregular. Total sales par value, $1,070,000. United States 3's coupons advanced 1/4 in the bid price, Telescope Bags.

About every other customer who bought a Dress Suit Case at the sale on Saturday asked us when we would sell Telescope Bags equally cheap. We told them on Wednesday, so here's to our promise, beginning today and while the lot lasts.

16 in., 18 in. and 20 in. Telescopes at 50c.

22 in., 24 in. and 26 in. Telescopes at 75c. Both lots are worth a half more. They are splen-didly made and strongly finished. Along with them you'll see the biggest and best line of Trunks, Bags and Dress Suit Cases in the city.

Fin de Siecle Combs.

From the cut one might think them live tortoises, but they're not. They are the best exponent of a hair-mounting device, doing what no other comb does, retaining the hair in the softest of folds and most becoming positions, without the aid of a single hairpin.

They are being demonstrated in the Glove department—close to the Toilet Goods. Popularly priced not high priced in any sense.

Boys' Shirt Waists, 10c.

All sizes, from 4 to 12 years. A clean-up-price for a splendid lot of Boys' Shirt Waists of fine crash and fancy percale. Splendidly made—and at half price.

At the same price (roc) a lot of Boys' Crash Knee Pants: same sizes.

Boys' Plaid Golf Caps, all sizes, roc. Price them In other stores.

Fancy Grenadines, 25c.

Just half price for these Grenadines, You saw them first on Saturday, and the scissors have been busy cutting patterns from them ever since.

Finest Fancy Grenadines for Summer Dresses. Patterns are exquisite-beyond anything of the kind we have ever seen or shown. Some have plain grounds with fancy figured and flowered effects, while others are quite the reverse. One of the prettiest is of steel gray ground, with a woodvine in black.

25c the yard. In no other store save here. Ingrain Carpets.

One of the best makers just shipped us a splendid lot of his newest patterns in Ingrains. Bought them so cheaply, we can present alluring inducements for a few days.
