TOOK A ROUNDABOUT WAY.

Mrs. Jennie Duffy's Long Journey to the Court House. Thursday, June 7, Mrs. Jennie Duffy was to be tried for selling liquor without a license at her place on Bridge street. That morning she started for the court house at 8.30 o'clock, but it was not until last Saturday that she succeeded in reaching

It is understood she attempted to make a trip to the West Side to secure one of her witnesses and in a moment of thoughtlessness went by way of the West Lackawanna avenue crossing. Judge Edwards to whom she surrendered herself Saturday morning lives on the West Side, and consequently was disposed to accept this explanation of the delay.

In some unaccountable way a story got abroad that the conviction of three unlicensed dealers on the day previous to that on which Mrs. Duffy's trial was set, had something to do with her absence, but it's only a story. Mrs. Duffy renewed her ball in the sum of $500, Martin Clark again becoming her bondsman.

Jim Judge Quit After the Thirteenth Round.

"'Kid' Carter, the Brooklyn welterweight, fought Jim Judge, of Scran-ton, in the star bout at the Greenwood A. C. last night and stopped him in the thirteenth round, Judge's seconds throwing up the sponge," says yesterday's New York Sun.

"The men agreed to fight twenty rounds at 150 pounds, weigh in at ring-side. The men met once before at this club, Judge knocking Carter out in the fifth round."

CENTRAL LABOR UNION.

Well-Attended Meeting Held Yesterday in Carpenters' Hall.

The Central Labor union held its egular monthly meeting in Carpeners' hall yesterday afternoon. The report of Secretary P. G. Moran showed that there are forty-nine organizations affiliated. The Associated Press was censured for sending out a misleading port from Chicago to the effect that the Building Trades' council lost a strike. The general reference directory published by the Central Labor union nearing completion, and it will b the handsomest ornament ever hung in halls in the city of Scranton. The merchants are patronizing it liberally. Officers were elected for the follow ing term as follows: President, M. D. Flaherty; vice-president, Daniel Cole man; recording and corresponding secretary, P. G. Moran: treasurer, George Gothle; trustees, Mesars, Devine, Jacobs and O'Malley; auditors, Mesars, Coolican, Farrell and Buckley; sergeant-atirms, P. W. Tolan; organizer, M. D. Finherty.

Contrary to some newspaper predicons, politics were not mentioned. The oflowing resolution was passed unani-ously: "Resolved, That we ask the delegates o this body to report back to their respective locals our action in endorsing the boycott of the Brewery Workers' union against the Central Pennsylvania Brewing company, and ask that they ratify the same, and that their members use their influence to discourage hotelkeepers from handling the boycotted products."

APPOINTED A VICAR GENERAL. Rector of St. Rose Church Made a Very Reverend.

At last week's retreat of the junior riests of the Scranton diocese Right tev. Bishop Hoban announced the apcontinent of Rev. T. F. Coffey, of arbondale, as vicar general of the diocese. This makes two vicars general for this diocese, Very Rev. Eugene A. Garvey, of Pittston, being the other. The appoint is for life and carries with it the title of very reverend. Many of the duties of the bishopric can be delegated to a vicar general and in the iliness or absence of a bishop the office becomes a very important one. Father Corey was for twelve years n assistant priest at St. Peter's caman of unusual scholarly attainnents. Bishop Hoban has also announced June. hat the ordination for the year will occur the latter part of this month. There are four students waiting for rdination: John O'Donnell, of Wilkes-Barre: Eugene Burroughs, of Williamsport; Thomas O'Malley, of Dunnore, and Patrick Boland, of Archbald. It is not certain that all these will be ordained this year.

BRILF MENTION OF MEN OF THE HOUR

FISH COMMISSIONER S. STILLWELL.

During a Recent Visit to Washington He Had a Chat with a Post Reporter About the Work the Fish Commission Is Doing in Pennsylvania-John O. La Gorce, of Washington, D. C., Passed Through the City-Regret Over Departure of E. M. Tewksbury.

"Hon. S. B. Stilwell, of Scranton, president of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, is at the Riggs," says the Washington Post. "He has facts and figures relating to the fisheries of his state at his tongue's end and makes plain the interest that he has in the efficient conduct of his office.

"The output of fish for the year ended June 1, 1898, was 165,118,807, composed of 109,455,000 pike-perch or Susquehanna salmon, 43,609,000 white fish, 7,325,000 shad, and the remainder trout, black bass, Atlantic salmon, and game said he. 'The output' for year ended June 1, 1900, was 82,160,3337. As the last figures have not yet been published, I give them here in detail: Fry, or less than one year old, brook trout, 3.901,500; lake trout, 4,000; rainbow trout, 142,000; brown trout, 243,000; Atlantic salmon, 249,164; shad, 14,300,-000; white fish, 32,000,000; pike-perch, or Susquehanna salmon, 23,000,000; blue pike, 7,800,000; frogs, 300,000. Mature fish, over one year old, brook trout, 9.112; rainbow trout, 665; brown trout, 500; hybrid trout, 500. The output of this year is about 30,000,000 above the average.

"The reason only 4,000,000 fish were hatched in 1899 was because the previous year the Pennsylvania legislature adjourned, forgetting to make the usual appropriation to the fish commission, and the commission was only able to keep the trout stations in operation through the subscriptions of private citizens, amounting to about $5,000. When the legislature met again this omission was rectified, and a deficiency bill was passed refunding the money to the subscribers, but the anthedral and since 1887 has been rector | nual appropriation was heavily cut, of St. Rose church, Carbondale. He is and the last fiscal year was run on $5,000 less than usual; and the same thing will have to be done until next

"Pennsylvania is fairly liberal to the fish commission, giving usually $45,000 for two years for hatching and fish protection. But these figures are far below New Jersey, which pays $25,-000 a year for protection alone, and that the majority of councilmen are York, which appropriates over $100,000 a year. The Pennsylvania commissioners receive no salary. New York's president gets, I think, $3,000 a year. The only salaried official of the Pennsylvania commission is the assistant secretary, who receives $500 a year, the money coming out of the general appropriation to the body.

'You will notice that the Pennsylvania commission pays more attention to commercial fish than to game fish. This is because it is the most important. The United States fish commission and the Pennsylvania commission jointly have made the Delaware the nature of a promotion is known. Those who know him will testify that world. The value of the fish caught it was merited and wish him all sucthere last spring is valued at $700.-000 at the nets, or about $1,500,000 to the

Among the visitors here last week was a former Scranton boy, John O. La Gorce, of Washington, D. C., who looked in on his old neighbors for a short time, on his way from the Republican National convention in Philadelphia to the Democratic National convention in Kansas City, where his employer, the Western Union company assigned him to manage its corps of special operators, located in the remeetive convention halls.

Although a young man just out of his teens, Mr. La Gorce's expertness in telegraphy and remarkable managerial ability have made him one of the most valued men in the company's employ. During the sessions of congress he has charge of all the company's business at the National capital, and in recess time is employed for the most part in special assignments, such as that on which he is

One of the greatest distinctions that has come to telegraphers in recent is the largest council in the state and years was a place on the corps of confidential operators assigned to the the Spanish war. The corps was composed of four men and Mr. La Gorce had the honor of being the first chosen. Night after night, during the stirring times of the summer of '98, he sat for as high as eight and ten hours at a elbow, receiving and sending dispatches that were making history, and later, were given publicity, were emblazoned on the front pages of the The largest excursion leaving the city newspapers the whole world over. The on this national holiday, no doubt, will president has no greater admirer than be the one to this ever-popular resort, this young man, who had such an where the management have made exceptional opportunity of studying This admiration amounts to tion and entertainment of all. Among something too, for leaving aside the matter of his natural powers of disable will be the high wire trick artist crimination, Mr. La Gorce is made unusually competent to judge him by comparison, for his position at the capital places him in almost daily

It is an interesting coincidence that his mother and her two brothers, Richard O'Brien and Dr. J. E. O'Brien, of this city, were war telegraphers during the civil war. Mrs. La Gorce had learned telegraphy quite as a pastime and when the field operations called away so many telegraphers, she patriotically volunteered to assist in filling up the depleted corps in the capital. She frequently received war dispatches at the capital that were sent from the front by one or the other

It was with the deepest regret that the many friends of E. M. Tewksbury, late common councilman from the Ninth ward, learned that he had been ordered to Buffalo by the Lackawanna Iron and Steel company, by whom he is employed, for he had carned the respect and admiration of hundreds of people during his lengthy residence in this city. Ex-Chairman Luther Keller, of the common council, when Mr. Tewksbury's letter of resignation was dispute this statement.

Mr. Tewksbury oftentimes stood almost alone on an issue, but he held to his guns and didn't go over to the other side, as some councilmen sometimes do. "to be with the crowd." He was especially faithful in his attendnotoriously lax in performing, unless something big is on. No matter how has been declared legal by the Supreme trivial the ordinance or resolution, however, Mr. Tewksbury would always be on hand at the committee meeting when it was to be considered. He very seldom said any thing on the council floor, but when he did speak, he spoke straight from the shoulder with a conciseness that was wonderful. He was an excellent companion and was very popular among his colleagues in council. Just what his new position in Buffalo will be has not been divulged, but that it is in

TURNPIKE COMPANY WILL BEGIN REPAIRS

HAVE 150 TONS OF CRUSHED STONE READY.

Will Go Ahead No Matter What the City May Do and Will Fight Condemnation Proceedings Tooth and Nail-Latest Developments in the Situation-Company Is Satisfied That Its Contract with the City Is Legal and Can Be Enforced.

For more than a week the Abington Turnpike company has been breaking stone and now has 150 tons in readiness for use in repairing that portion of the roadway within the city limits. It is understood that the company proposes to begin the repairing of this part of the road immediately after the Fourth, regardless of what may be done or promised by the city. The company, it is understood, estimates the annual tear of this stretch of its roadbed as equivalent to the destruction of six inches of crushed stone, and considers that to put the roadbed in fit condition will cost between $1,000 and $1,500. From the above it would appear that the company is determined to compel the city to live up to its end of the contract entered into in 1889, and that the street commissioner's estimate of $1,000 is not very far short of the amount required to open the road. The members of the streets and bridges ommittee of common council will inspect the road this afternoon for the purpose of estimating for themselves just how much it will require to put the road in repair

COMPANY WILL FIGHT. It is understood that the turnpike mpany will fight tooth and nail any proceedings which may be commenced o have the road condemned and if it is condemned the company will insist upon all of its rights in the way of damages.

The position the company takes on the contract entered into between Itself and the city is that the city has read at last Thursday evening's meet- got the best side of the bargain, ing, referred to him as "one of the though councilmen don't look at it in most conscientious and painstaking that light. The company removed its councilmen the city of Scranton has toll-gates from within the city limits, ever had," and there is no one who can the city agreeing to keep the road within the city in repair. The company contends that under existing conditions the city is merely required to do what it would have to do did it own the road and is saved the ex-pense of paying for the thoroughfare. Another argument used by the company is that whether the contract is good or bad no longer enters into the question. There is a contract which > tract and keep the road in repair. THE NEWTON TURNPIKE. The company officials contend that whenever a turnpike has been condemned in this vicinity it has immediately gone to rack and ruin and point to the old Newton turnpike, now being repaired by prisoners from the county > court of the state and therefore the city is obliged to live up to that con-jall as an instance of this. They claim that farmers come miles out of their way to drive into the city on the Abington road instead of the heretofore almost impassable Newton road and claim that the farmers throughout the upper part of the county would indignantly protest if condemnation proceedings were instituted. It is, nevertheless, understood that a resolution directing the city solicitor. as an attorney, to bring such proceedings, will be introduced in select council on Thursday night. Mr. Vosburg has looked up the law in the case in his usual exhaustive manner and contends that there are no legal obstacles against the condemnation of the road.
