CARBONDALE.

CHARMING BICYCLE TRIP.

H. C. Wheeler, M. D., and A. R. Jones returned last night from their bicycle trip. They left here Saturday and went to Honesdale on the train, took an evening ride down the tow path to Hawley, reached Shohola the next forenoon, and, after enjoying the beauties of the glen for a few hours, wheeled on to Port Jervis. Monday and Tuesday they spent along the Delaware valley between Port Jervis and the Water Gap. The distance is about forty miles and they declare it to be one of the most charming routes in the country. The road falls with the river and is just rolling enough to make it interesting. It is smooth and hard—a veritable cyclists' paradise.

MITCHELLS WILL EAT CLAMS.

The Mitchell hose company is to have a jollification at Crystal lake a week from today, a committee on arrangements having secured permission from A. Mitchell, sr., to hold the event in the grove adjoining his pretty cottage, "Woodside." The affair is for members only and an abundance of refreshments has been provided for about a hundred people. Four barrels of clams have been ordered and these will be served, steamed or raw as desired. Sandwiches and coffee will also be served. A similar event four years ago will be remembered by many as a pleasurable affair.

BIG TIME AT THE LAKE.

Everybody in Carbondale of social inclinations was at Crystal lake last night. The Mozart band gave a delightful open air concert at Fern hall and the Palace creamery served ice cream on the lawn Several hundred persons participated in the good time. Inside a little later Y. S. Kimball gave a banquet in honor of merchants and their clerks handling Chase & Sanborn's coffee. The guests at this affair numbered about fifty. It was the annual event and surpassed in its interesting features all those of the past.

IS IT RIGHT

For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the markets, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by all druggists. Matthews Bros., wholesale and retail agents. **

OLYPHANT.

A very lengthy session of the town council was held on Monday night and much important business transacted. The only members absent were Messrs. Gillespie and O'Halloran. No meeting having been held in two months, the amount of bills passed were unusually large. The street commissioner's time for the two months amounted to $431.-70, while the general borough bills passed reached a total of $592.53. For labor and material at the electric light plant the amount expended was $544.07. Upon the advice of the borough attorney bills amounting to $127.84, for witness fees in the case of the appeal of the auditors several years ago, were ordered paid. A communication was also read from the attorney, which stated that former Secretary Dolphin had obtained judgment against the borough for the sum of $300, and advised the council to take action in regard to the matter and make an appeal. Council directed the attorney to apeal the case.

Mr. Foley reported that the long-missing borough map had been recovered and was now in the hands of the secretary. The auditing committee reported that the affairs of the ex-treasurer had not been adjusted yet. After a lengthy discussion it was decided to defer action until the tax collector could make a report for the years of 1898 and 1899, which report is to be in at the next meeting. Dr. Van Sickle called attention to the dilapidated condition of some of the streets of the town, particularly Ferris street. Numerous other complaints were heard from property holders, which were referred to the street committee. The finance committee submitted a report of the exonerations for the fiscal year, which were approved. The secretary was instructed to hand the tax duplicate to the tax collector without delay. A duplicate order was drawn in favor of James Rogan for $18.38 to replace one which has been lost. The oath of office of M. J. O'Halloran, the new councilman from the Third ward, was then read. An ordinance authorizing the increase of the salaries of the police officers from $45 per month to $50 was read. Mr. Reap opposed the measure in very strong terms and said that the finances of the borough at the present time would not permit of any increase. On motion of Mr. Gallagher the ordinance was referred to the police committee. Bids for the installing of a new light machine at the electric plant were then considered. Two bids were received, one from the Rumsey Electrical company, of Philadelphia, who agreed to furnish an outfit for $2,550.21. The Westinghouse Electric Manufacturing company, of Pittsburg, proposed to do the same work for the sum of $2,620. A lively discussion followed the reading of the bids. Mr. Gallagher wanted to defer action for the present. Mr. Reap was in favor of immediate purchase, as the borough electrician reported that the present machinery was inadequate to do the work and was liable to give out any time. The Rumsey company being the lowest bidders, were awarded the contract.

SALT AS A LIFE RESTORER.

Alleged Result of Experiment with an Apparently Drowned Fry.

From the New Orleans Times-Democrat.

A couple of late workers had just dispatched a sma' hour supper in a restaurant when a predatory fly, which had been swooping hungrily about the table, brought up in a finger bowl. "Now watch me," said one of the pair, "and I'll perform an interesting experiment. To begin with, I'm going to drown that fly." "Oh, don't kill him," exclaimed the other, touched by the same spirit of mercy that animated Uncle Toby; "take him out and let him go." "I'm going to kill him temporarily," replied the first speaker, and picking up a sliver of a match he proceeded to force the unfortunate fly under water and hold him there, despite his frantic squirming. Presently the struggles of the insect became feebler, and at last the delicate legs ceased to flutter and were drawn convulsively against the body. To all appearances the fly was dead.

The experimenter lifted him out of the bowl and deposited him carefully upon the tablecloth. He turned him over and over with the sliver of wood, but there were no signs of life. "Now comes the resuscitation," he said, and poured a heaping teaspoonful of salt over the inert insect, burying him from sight.. "It will take some little time," he continued; "possibly ten minutes, but I feel certain enough of the result to wager the price of our supper that the fly comes to life." "I'll go you," said the other, "that fly is as dead as Caesar." Both pulled out their watches, and eight minutes had ticked away when there was a slight stir in the salt heap and out walked the fly, as good as ever. He preened himself briskly, shook his wings, and soared off into space. "I can't explain it," said the man who tried the experiment, "but I've never known the thing to fail. It would have made no difference if I had submerged the fly half an hour; he would have come around just the same when buried in the salt."
