

TRIBUNE'S EDUCATIONAL CONTEST

Second Week Opens with a Goodly Number of Entries.

OPPORTUNITY STILL OPEN

Delays Are Dangerous—Those Who Are Contemplating Entering the Contest Should Begin at Once—The Points Secured in One Day May Be Sufficient to Surpass the Leader at the End—Advantages of Beginning Early.

The opening of a new week in the Educational Contest finds a number of new names on its books as contestants. This project, which was opened to the public ten days ago, has met a hearty reception and has been given widespread publicity by interested readers. It has now gained a good impetus, and every day witnesses accessions to the number of those who are shrewd enough to grasp an opportune advantage when they see one. Although there are a number of canvassers at work under the guidance of the rules of this contest, there is room for more, and unquestionably many more will be enrolled and mustered in under the banner of ambition and advancement. A number of those who were among the first to enter have done good work during the past week, but none of them has a lead that cannot be overcome by active, earnest endeavor. There is no reason why those who are pondering whether or not to enter should come in and start this week. The field is large, the work is light and agreeable, and the pay is ample. The ten great special rewards are an incentive worthy of the highest ambition, and the fortunate winner of any one of them will be well compensated. The employed and unemployed are represented in this contest, the work being such a character that either may avail themselves of its advantages.

Delays Are Dangerous.

There should be no further delay on the part of those who are contemplating entering. Action, not passivity, counts in this age of progress. Start in while the number of rivals is not so great as it is bound to be by and by. The sooner the beginning is made the more points the worker will score, and as every point counts, the contest may be decided by one point, which may be lost by a day's delay.

This Educational Contest is a grand opportunity for the wide-awake and aspiring. The discerning young man and woman cannot fail to see in it an excellent chance to develop their intelligence to a superior degree, and to have an opportunity to take up this

PITTSBURGH RELIGIOUS WAR.

Action of Mayor Corcoran Is Denounced from the Pulpit.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Pittsburgh, July 14.—Another chapter was this evening added to the religious disturbance which has taken place in this city during the past month among the Lithuanians. Rev. Vincent R. Dillon, the ex-priest and lecturer, who was last Sunday evening arrested by Mayor Corcoran, while speaking at a meeting in Armory hall, which was disturbed by members in the audience, had announced he would lecture at the armory again this evening. He didn't get inside the hall, however, but was met at the door and promptly placed under arrest by Chief Loftus. He was placed in the city lockup and later released on bail for a hearing tomorrow.

The action of Mayor Corcoran in denying Mr. Dillon the right of free speech was denounced in the pulpit today by Rev. J. J. Kilpin Fletcher, pastor of the Broad Street Presbyterian church.

FOREST CITY.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Forest City, July 14.—Rev. W. A. Carrington is on the sick list.

After an inspection of the new school building, No. 2, by the new board of directors last week, it was accepted. The seats are now in position 200, but in a short time it will be finished. A public reception will be held, when the building can be viewed by all interested. Each room is well lighted and ventilated, and the entire building is complete in all its arrangements and a credit to the town.

Professor E. E. Delaney and wife, of Newark, N. J., are guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Dunn.

George Maxey, a student at Ann Arbor university, Mich., is spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Maxey. In company with his father he paid a visit to relatives at Clifford last week.

The following, which appeared in the Baptist Examiner, will be of interest to the friends of Rev. L. N. Steelman, who served as pastor of the Methodist church here last year: "Rev. L. N. Steelman, who for the last three years has been supplying Methodist churches, was received on June 7, into the fellowship of the Baptist church at Onondaga, N. Y., Rev. S. J. Farley, pastor. In a manly and Christian way he severed his connection with the Methodist church, and would like to settle over a Baptist church at once. He is a brother of H. Steelman, of Salt Lake City, and also of Rev. Albert Steelman, for many years missionary engaged in mission work in Mexico. He speaks the Spanish language fluently. He is of good habits, stock and glad to be helpful again among Baptist brethren. He is a desirable man for a good church and will be pleased to correspond with some church wishing to settle a pastor. His present address is Gilbertsville, N. Y."

The ladies of the Presbyterian church will hold an ice cream social in the lecture room of the church Tuesday evening, July 17. Rev. Mr. Carrington will give one of his interesting talks on his trip to South America. All are cordially invited to attend.

TUNKHANNOCK.

Special to the Scranton Tribune.

Tunkhannock, July 14.—The officers and members of Company M, Thirtieth regiment, N. G. P., of this place, were very much surprised on Thursday of this week to receive notice from headquarters that their company would be mustered out of the guard and that all state property was to be turned over to the proper authorities. The reason alleged for the failure of the company to come up to the standard at the last inspection. The company has labored under disadvantages from the start in not having a suitable armory, but were doing as well as possible under the circumstances, and when the inspecting officer at the last inspection commended their progress they felt much encouraged. Preparations were under way to either build or rent a suitable place for an armory and the company had quite a fund on hand for that purpose. The action of the authorities in disbanded the company here is undoubtedly due to the plan for the reorganization of the guard, in which several companies will have to be disbanded to bring about such an organization as is contemplated. Cases have been received for the rifles and they will be shipped to Harrisburg as soon as possible along with the other property and the men will then be discharged.

E. K. Little and W. N. Reynolds, of Wilkes-Barre, spent Sunday here.

SAGACITY OF A COLLIE.

From the New York Press.

In the last few years the thorough-bred Scotch collie has become fairly well known, by name and appearance, at least, to the general public, because the breed has been a favorite among kennel owners for show dogs. But the animals are too expensive for the average purse, and consequently comparatively little is known about the remarkable traits of this strain. Yet there probably is no more intelligent animal in the whole dog world than is the true Scotch collie today.

One of the noted Scotch collies in this country—Duncan Grey—figured in an incident a few days ago that shows well the sagacity of the breed. Duncan Grey, who is famous for the excellence of his act, belongs to John Finlayson, of the Roschill kennels, in Methuen, N. J., where some of the best and the merriest collies in the country have been bred. In his employ as ruler of the kennel is a man known briefly as "Doc," whom all the dogs love, for he has complete charge of them, and they never want for anything when he is around. Duncan Grey particularly has deep affection for "Doc," and if one of them is seen anywhere it is certain that the other is not far away.

On Mr. Finlayson's stock farm near the kennels is a large pond, bridged with a narrow plank. A few days ago "Doc" was crossing the bridge with a heavy ladder on his shoulders, when he slipped and fell into the water with the ladder on top of him. He had been knocked senseless, and when he recovered he was tangled so badly in the weeds and grasses on the bottom of the pond that he could not extricate himself. Duncan Grey had leaped in after him almost instantly, but all his tugging and hauling were in vain. The wise beast did not waste much time. He must have realized quickly that he could not help his friend unaided, for within a few seconds after the accident he had scrambled out of the pond and was off like a shot barking furiously. "Doc" believed himself deserted at first, but was undaunted quickly when Mr. Finlayson appeared on the run with the collie leading him. "Doc" was pulled out just in time. He had sunk nearly to his mouth in the water when help came.

Duncan Grey had rushed straight to the barn, where his owner was, and had seized him by the sleeve and began tugging at him. Luckily Mr. Finlayson realized at once that such action on the part of the usually dignified and stately dog meant something, so he lost no time in obeying the manifest wish of the collie that he should follow him.

JONAS LONG'S SONS.

Tomorrow—Tuesday

In connection with our Gigantic July Clearing Sale, we shall present one of the strongest attractions ever offered by any mercantile house in America. It should, and will, undoubtedly, crowd the main avenues of this Great Store. We direct your attention to a phenomenal

Sale of Embroideries

St. Gall, Switzerland, is the embroidery center of the universe. Once a year the extensive manufacturers there gather up all their odd pieces, pack them into case lots, and ship them to their American representatives, where they are sold at tremendous sacrifice. Merchants are indeed fortunate, who get hold of them.

The Lot Here Consists of Four Thousand Yards of the Daintiest Edges and Insertings, Worth Up to 90c the Yard, to Be Sold Tomorrow at

17c The Yard

17c The Yard

Some of the Edgings are wide enough for flounces, others are narrow and very delicate.

Not a yard in the entire lot is worth less than 35c—more than one-half is worth above 50c.

We do not believe that any store ever offered so much for so little. We also believe that never before have such exquisite patterns in embroideries been sold in Scranton. There is no limit to the quantities one may buy, though none will be sold to dealers. Mail orders will be promptly filled in the order of their receipt by us.

READY TUESDAY MORNING AT 9 O'CLOCK.

THE MARKETS.

Wall Street Review.

New York, July 14.—The sole interest attaching to today's stock market was an example of dullness. Even the professional traders who have constituted themselves the champions of certain stocks during the week were not in evidence, and only small trades between the regular freetraders of the floor were made at all times. Some desultory efforts were made to advance Union Pacific by making bids for the next dividend on a specified number of shares at a higher figure than the prevailing dividend rate. But these efforts secured little attention. The market was as a whole lower than last night when the bank statement appeared. There was some light buying to cover shorts, but the large increase in stocks and in the specie attached even less attention than last week's decrease. Total sales, 7,100 shares. Bonds have been very little traded in, in spite of the ease of money and prices have changed little in either direction. United States refunding bonds, when issued, and the five, advanced 1/2 and the old bonds 3/4 in the bid price.
