BOARDER TURNED OUT OF HOUSE TO DIE

JOHN YOCOB THE VICTIM OF A HEARTLESS BOARDING BOSS.

Michael Cabolle's Method of Evading Funeral Expenses May Result in More Serious Complications—Re-mining Articles at St. Patrick's Church Fair Disposed of—Funeral of Caleb Thomas—Other Funerals. General News Notes and Personal Paragraphs.

Another instance of the belief among the foreign element that "a dead man is no good" was brought to light yesterday, and while the victim still lives, his chances for recovery were materially lessened through the heartless conduct of a "boarding boss."

John Yocob, a Pole, residing with Michael Cabolle, of Twenty-second street, was taken violently ill and fears were entertained by his friends for his recovery. The boarding house keeper feared the man would die and turned him out of doors to battle with his malady as best he could. A child was buried from the house yesterday afternoon and this fact was considered an ill omen.

The unfortunate victim was left to die, and being in a helpless condition, lay in the heat of the sun for some time. James Callahan, who keeps a hotel nearby, endeavored to persuade the boarding boss to take the man in and secure a physician, but Cabolle was obstinate and refused to have anything to do with Yocob, claiming that he was already indebted to him for board and he did not want to be held responsible for the funeral expenses.

Callahan notified Lieutenant Williams and he referred the case to Dr. M. J. Williams, who issued a permit for the man's admission to the West Side hospital. The victim was assisted to the hospital by Callahan and a fellow-countryman, and will be examined this morning.

He complained of pains in his stomach and was almost too weak to stand on his feet when taken to the hospital. Before his friends departed Yocob showed his appreciation of their kindness towards him by giving them all the money he had, thirty-five cents.

If the man dies the boarding boss will be charged with criminal negli-

OBITUARY.

W. B. Swick, a prominent resident of Jersey, entered into eternal rest yesterday, his death being caused by paralysis. He was born in Bath, N. Y., June 20, 1828, July 21, 1848, he married Elizabeth A. Power, and in 1854 became a resident of Bethlehem, Pa. He became one of the representatives of the town and for eleven years held the office of justice of the peace. During the civil war he was deputy marshal and was always active in all matters concerning the public welfare. In 1872 he became a resident of Jersey, having charge of the flour and feed mill of John Jennings. This position he held for eleven years, when he became one of the proprietors of the business. At the time of his death he held the position of justice of the peace and in that capacity he had been charged his duties most ably and conscientiously.

Mr. Swick united with the Baptist church forty-three years ago and has always lived a consistent Christian life and was respected by the people of all denominations. He was a man of extensive reading, careful thinking and of a decidedly positive character and influence. In his death the town loses one of its most public spirited citizens.

He is survived by his widow, his son, H. D. Swick, of Jersey, his daughter, Mrs. C. W. North, of Scranton, and several grandchildren; also by two brothers, David Swick, of Niles, N. Y., and Roy John Swick, of East Stroudsburg, N. Y. He is also survived by other relatives and a large number of friends.

BRANCH OF PENNSYLVANIA.

Corps of Civil Engineers Are Now at Work Making Surveys.

The civil engineer corps of the Pennsylvania railroad began work this week on an important new branch of the Pennsylvania railroad. The corps consists of seven members, under C. E. Beam as chief.

The survey began on the S. H. & W. branch of the Pennsylvania railroad at the ten-mile post, which is just below the brick works at the lower end of Riverside, above Sunbury, where the proposed branch will intersect with the main line. From this point a line was run across the river for a bridge to carry the track over the Pennsylvania canal, the tow-path of which will be utilized as a roadbed from Danville to Berwick.

The construction of a branch of the Pennsylvania railroad on the other side of the river, which would give Danville proper a station, has formed the subject of considerable talk for several years past. The actual work of surveying now, however, would indicate that such a project is receiving the serious consideration of the company.

CENSUS ENUMERATORS' PAY.

Uncle Sam's Pay Master Is Giving Out the Long Looked for Orders.

Many of the census enumerators who assisted Supervisor John H. Edwards in taking the facts and figures pertaining to the population are now receiving the orders from the government for their pay, and it is expected by the end of the present week that all for ascending to the second floor of a building, and no higher. Some of the firemen refused to go any higher on them. This was evidenced at Thursday afternoon's fire at Dr. Wentz's residence on Madison avenue, when the firemen refused to use the hook's ladder to go from the roof of the veranda to the roof of the main building, a height of only twenty-five feet. The aerial ladder cannot be used at all, as it sways so badly that it would take a circus acrobat to keep his equilibrium on it. Not only this, but there is every danger of it snapping off, the wood being so old and dry.

Trains leave Erie depot as follows: 8:30 a. m., 1:15, 2:25 p. m. Tickets good on all trains. Last train 2:25 p. m.

those who participated in the work will have received their pay. The compensation ranged from $15 to $150, according to the number of names written, 25 cents being allowed for each living person at the time of taking the census, and 6 cents for each death during the year prior to June 1, 1900.

Supervisor Edwards is still at work compiling the industrial statistics for Lackawanna county, and expects to complete the work by Aug. 1.
