City Solicitor Vosburg was called upon a week ago by select council to furnish a written opinion as to whether Mayor Moir had any legal right to refuse to reinstate Lieutenant Spellhave a decided majority of the deleman and Patrolman Jones on the pogates. The Dauphin county court has lice force, select council having failed to concur in their removal. This opinion was read last night and reiterates all Mr. Vosburg's former views on the question.

He announces that the mayor can't tell councils what to do and that councils can't tell the mayor what to do and that therefore the only course the officers have is to go to law. He once more emphatically announces that the mayor can't remove police officers without consent of councils and states that both Spellman and Jones are entitled to full salary until select concurs, even if they don't work.

It was rumored last night that the emoved officers, through their attorneys, will apply to the court for a mandamus to compel the mayor to reinstale them on the force. The opinion was merely read and ordered filed by select council. Its full text is as fol treet, North Scranton, yesterday re- lows:

SOLICITOR'S OPINION.

Scranton, Pa., July 16, 1900.

To the Honorable, the Members of the Select Council of the City of Scranton.
Gentlemen: Your resolution requesting an epinion as to the legal right of the mayor to refuse to restore officers to active service when their removal by him has not been con urred face to the enemy, doing a brave man's work. He was a corporal in the company, and while kneeling and taking aim was shot through the left arm and left side. He died shortly after while being moved to the hospital. work. He was a corporal in the comwith this question, as a "history of the case," Several months ago I furnished an opinion to the councils of the city of Scranton, in which I ticularly, he spending the greater part helds

He would have been First-that public officers, within the meaning of the constitution of the state of Pennsylvania, Article 6, Section 4, may be removed by the power by which they were appointed. Second-That police officers are not such offiers as are embraced within the constitutional rovisions to which I have just referred. See Com. vs. Stokley, 20 W. N. C., 315. Russell vs. Williamsport, 9 C. C. Rep., 529. Third—That under the provisions of the act of 1889, Article 7, Section 4, appointments, suspen sions or dismissals of policemen must be con-curred in by the select council in order to be

The language of the section to which I have referred, applicable to this subject, is as follows: "The mayor shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the select council, ap-It is my painful duty to inform you of the death of Henry F. Hart, corporal company F, and all of them, and in like manner all vacancies shall be filled."

An examination of the act to which I have just referred plainly shows that the concurrence of the select council is required for all appoint ments, suspensions or dismissals of a policeman. favorably by the select council. In other words, it takes both the mayor and select council to make effectual the appointment of a police officer, as well as his suspension or repinion to which I have just referred, was submently held to be correct by Judge Archbald an opinion filed by him in the case of James Saul vs. City of Scranton. The necessary effect of this opinion was to also decide, in addition to the points already enumerated, that any officer removed or suspended by the mayor, con-tinues to be a member of the police force, and entitled to draw his salary as such from the city, until the select council has concurred in the action of the mayor. Hearing in mind these legal principles, it is not difficult to determine the legal status of the executive and legislative branches of this government, so far as this mat ter is concerned, as well as that of the police

The mayor is essentially the appointing power, and has the primary right of removal, but in order that his removal or appointments may become effectual, it must be concurred in by the select council, and until that is done, it does not become effective. Any officer removed by the mayor still continues to be a member of the police force of the city of Scranton until the ction of the mayor has been concurred in by the select council, and whether he works or not, he is entitled to compensation from the city of Scranton. This, as I have already stated, has been decided by our court, and it is only necessary for me to cite that decision.

ARE INDEPENDENT. As the executive and legislative branches of the ity government are so far independent of each other that one branch cannot compel the other branch to take any action, I do not see that any municipal legislation upon the part of the councils would be of much avail to remove the omplication which now exists in regard to Offi cers Spellman and Jones. As I have already said, under the decision of the court of this county, they are entitled to their pay, even though they are not performing their regular futles as police officers, and in case they should see fit to take the necessary legal steps to place themselves in active service, their attorneys uld undoubtedly tell them what was necessary

I do not feel that it would be proper for me to advise them what steps to take in this mat-ter, but leave that to their own counsel. Knowing nothing of the merits of this controversy, I express no opinion upon it, but have

In addition to the changes previously mentioned in these columns they decided to recommend that Miss Maud Estelle be appointed to fill the vacancy at No. 33 school caused by the resignation of Miss Miller. It is probable that Miss Estelle will go to No. 31 school and that Miss Prendergast will be transferred to No. 33.

The committee also decided to recom mend the appointment of Prof. W. S. Rogers, of Jermyn, to the principalship of No. 2s school. The committee announced that Professor W. R. Graves was not a candidate for reappointment.
