THE SCRANTON TRIBUNE-WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1900.

TRIBUNE'S EDUCATIONAL CONTEST

This Is the Last Day of Its Third Week.

BEWARE OF INDIFFERENCE

Such an Opportunity as The Tribune Offers Is Not Likely to Occur Again-For the Effort of a Few Weeks Some Young Persons Will Receive Benefits to the Value of Hundreds of Dollars-The Special Rewards-Rules of the Contest.

The Tribune's Educational Contest Anishes its third week today. In this short time it has gained rapid headway, and the fame of it has become spread over all this section of the state. This contest has attracted great and increasing interest and has met with universal commendation and approbation. The value of the special rewards has been noted, and their especial adaptability to the young and ambitious has been the prevailing theme of all discussions in regard to it. There now remain but a little over nine weeks before the competition will end, and as the time grows shorter there will in all probability be more activity discerned among those who have entered it.

Beware of Indifference.

should be constantly on the lookout for a chance to improve his chances of succeeding in the future. A great opportunity is offered to a number of young men and women to fit themselves for a career of usefulness, and in this contest there is more than a living chance for them to place their feet securely on the ladder of success. giving them an advantage over their less fortunate brothers and sisters, who cannot or will not avail themselves of this help to progress. To win success, however, it is necessary to go into your work, whatever it may be, with enthusiasm and devote your whole mind to what you undertake. Indifference never leads armies that conquer, never moulds statues that live, nor breathes sublime music, nor harnesses the forces of nature, nor rears impressive architecture, nor moves the soul with noetry.

Opportunity for the Ambitious,

To those young persons of this section of the state who have not yet taken the trouble to enroll their names In this contest, we earnestly advise them to study the character of the special rewards, to scan closely their own desires for personal advancement and inquire into the nature of the work they will have to do to stand among the leaders of the competition. To those who will examine this opportunity and hold it clearly in their view the conclusion must come that they are wasting precious moments which might be utilized to lasting benefit. Though man by thought may not add a cubit to his stature it nevertheless rests with him whether he will allow his intelligence
