justice to all. Every young man sor voman who participates will receive a share of the proceeds, even if successful in securing but one subscription. The Tribune takes this means of securing new subscribers in lieu of the old-fashioned way of employing regular canvassers and solicitors and neither the price nor the quality of the paper has been cheapened in any way. We will continue to charge the same rate for subscriptions during the course of this Educational Contest as we have in the past. The special rewards will represent remuneration for services performed, and those who can show the best results for their work will be entitled to the most pay.

Educational Rewards. Of the ten special rewards for the ten highest competitors in this contest, there is not one in the selection of which discrimination and judgment has not been exercised. The aim has been kept steadily in view to give rewards that will be of lasting benefit. The special rewards of an educational nature, of which there are five, are of the very highest class, and the young man or woman who is successful in carning any one of these five educational rewards will have just cause for elation at his success, for independent of the feeling of victory worthily indulged in by the first of those who compete in a contest so great and so widely and favorably known as The Scranton Tribune's Educational Contest will be, the substantial fruits of victory will be well worth garnering.

RULES OF THE CONTEST

The special rewards will be given to the persons securing the largest number of points. Points will be credited to contestants securing new subscribers to the Scranton Tribune as follows:
